DEWEY BLASTS 4-POWER PLAN OF WORLD RULE

Rips Proposals for Coming Parley.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 16.—Gov. Dewey, Republican candidate for President, this afternoon attacked Churchill-Stalin-Chiang Kai-shek-Roosevelt plans to rule the world by military might. In his most significant statement since his nomination he denounced proposals scheduled for discussion at a conference of representatives of the four big powers in Washington, D. C., next week. These proposals are designed to create a continuing alliance to dominate all nations, with respective spheres of influence outlined by individual agreements.

Dewey let it be known at a press conference he held when he issued his statement that he had consulted with other Republican leaders and that he considered his statement a declaration of party policy on foreign affairs after the war. The declaration favored a world organization of coöperating sovereign nations to maintain freedom and peace for the weak countries as well as for the strong.

"If we get off on the wrong foot of cynical power politics," Dewey commented later, referring to the forthcoming diplomatic conference, "we will have lost the war before it has been won."

Text of Statement.

The formal statement of approximately 1,000 words charged that diplomacy of the four powers, including China, was violating the objectives of America's participation in this world war. Dewey at some length told his understanding of America's objectives.

His statement follows:

"Simultaneously with smashing military victories which bring the day of peace ever nearer, it is good that representatives of the British, Russian, and Chinese governments will meet shortly with our state department for preliminary discussion of a permanent international organization to maintain the peace. Partial proposed plans have already been made public by the American, British, and Russian governments. The American people are agreed upon the need for world organization. It is a bipartisan objective. It has been repeatedly urged by the Republican party and its leaders. The future of the world will depend upon the ideals, the sound thinking and the justice of the results achieved at these conferences.

Disturbed by Reports.

"I have been deeply disturbed by some of the recent reports concerning the forthcoming conference. These indicate that it is planned to subject the nations of the world, great and small, permanently to the coercive power of the four nations holding this conference.

"In order that there may be no misapprehension, I should like to make clear some fundamentals as I see them. The problem of future peace has two aspects. One relates to Germany and Japan. They must, of course, be wholly and conclusively defeated. More than that, they must be rendered permanently powerless to renew tyranny and attack. Their defeat will be achieved primarily by the united power of Britain, Russia, China, and the United States. To insure that Germany and Japan shall never again be able to disrupt

Report 'Point' System to Rule Army Release

Washington, D. C., Aug. 16 [Special].—President Roosevelt, it was reported today, has evolved with the joint chief of staff a priority "points" system governing the order of release of service men and women after the war.

Under the reported proposal, a certain number of points would be given for service abroad, additional points for the length of service and number of campaigns, and others for marital status and dependents at home, etc. Those with the greatest number of points would be given first priority for release.

Hint Given by Byrnes.

Some hint of the plans and studies as carried on by the President and his military advisers was given by War Mobilization Director Byrnes in his testimony June 12 at a joint session of senate committees considering the Murray-George post-war bill. Byrnes said at the time that "fair standards" already had been established for as orderly a discharge of fighting men "as Hitler's defeat will permit."

Mr. Roosevelt, it was reported, has been giving increasing attention to the disposition of military forces and facilities following the tapering off period of the war, and his studies are said to have included not only ways and means of mustering out the men and women and reducing the military establishments, but also means to be followed in maintaining armies of occupation to which this country may be committed under peace terms.

Studied on Trip.

The President is understood to have taken considerable data on the subject along with him on his recent trip.

He is also understood to have decided to recommend to congress as to the disposal of camps and training facilities, some of them to be set aside for vocational training and rehabilitation for returning service men and women, and others modernized for future defense forces.

BRITISH CAPTURE 10 YEAR OLD BOY IN GERMAN ARMY

ON THE BRITISH FRONT, France, Aug. 16 (AP).—British troops captured their youngest prisoner in the battle of France today, a 10 year old youth in a German uniform. He confessed his age between sobs and said he "never shot any one."

He said he was a stepson of a Russian fighting with the Germans, and that his name was Stanlius. He was found hiding in a dugout with six Nazi troops.

Tells Plans to Radio 25 Pictures a Second

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 16.—John Baird, television inventor, today told of plans to set up wireless photo-telegraphy stations capable of flashing complete typewritten pages or pages of newspapers around the world at a rate of 25 each second. The present rate—used largely in pictures—is one page every six minutes. Photo-telegraphy, Baird says, can be speeded up 15,000 times.

CIO ASKS FIRMS FOR VOTE CASH

Solicit Contract Holders to Aid 4th Term.

New York, Aug. 16 [Special].—Two employer groups which have labor contracts with the CIO were disclosed today to have been solicited for financial contributions to the national citizens political action committee, a fund raising organization headed by Sidney Hillman who is in charge of the CIO's campaign to maintain President Roosevelt in power.

The solicitation took place at recent meetings called by Hillman's Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America for the purpose of discussing matters arising in the employers' agreements with that union.

The NCPAC is a recent offshoot of the CIO's political action committee, also headed by Hillman, which is striving to raise a six million dollar slush fund to elect favorites of the Communist dominated CIO. Hillman said the NCPAC has set a goal of 1½ million dollars to be raised for backing the fourth term election of Roosevelt and "a progressive" congress.

Ask Laundry Owners.

Richard Rohman, publicity director of the Amalgamated union, confirmed that the appeals for funds had been made. He said one was directed to laundry owners, whose Amalgamated contracts are supervised by the laundry workers joint board, and the other was made to makers of men's and boys' apparel.

When asked about the matter, Rohman also agreed the solicitations took place at meetings called to consider changes in the employers' contracts with the union.

The appeal to the laundry owners was made by Jacob Potofsky, secretary-treasurer of Amalgamated, and Hyman N. Blumberg, an Amalgamated vice president and campaign manager for the Communist controled American Labor party in New York state. The identity of the union officials making the appeal to the clothing makers was not disclosed.

"Purely Voluntary," They Say.

Rohman contended the union officials made it clear to the employers that the campaign contributions were being solicited on "a purely voluntary basis," that no attempt was being made to high pressure them, and that they could contribute or not as they saw fit.

The solicitors carefully pointed out, it was said, that any donations the employers might desire to make must be made as individuals. Federal and state corrupt practices acts forbid corporations making political contributions.

Trapped Nazis Loot French Town and Massacre Civilians

BY DONALD MACKENZIE.
[Staff Correspondent of New York News and Chicago Tribune.]

WITH AMERICAN FORCES OUTSIDE BREST, Aug. 11 [by Courier] —[Delayed].

Arrow locates Plouvien.

No chronicle of German savagery in this war is more horrible than the story of Plouvien during the last 48 hours. I escaped from the town while the Germans were closing in on it after the passage of our units. By mid-morning some 1,500 Germans had made it a focal point for all eastern Brittany from which to make a last attempt to pass thru our troops fanned out in front of Brest.

Without communications or observation, they did not know either how close to us they were or in what numbers we were disposed.

Germans Loot Homes.

They found the town decked in flags in celebration of its liberation, and the sight maddened them. They attacked it with sadistic vigor. Their 88 mm. guns tore buildings and roads asunder, carpeted the streets with glass and crushed roof tiles, and sent the people streaming into fields or the air raid shelters.

When the town was battered into silence and the streets were dead, the blue-green conquerors stormed in. They looted wine shops and homes. Many became drunk.

Then they commenced a systematic campaign of murder. They visited the air raid shelters one by one and shouted for the men to come out. Behind those giving the orders were firing squads which shot down every man in his tracks as he emerged from the shelters. Not one man was spared. Twenty-three persons, including Msgr. Dupres, 63 year old rector of the Church of SS. Peter and Paul, were slain.

Attacked by Yanks.

Wives and mothers in the shelters screamed in terror. The Germans endeavored to quiet them by throwing phosphorous fire bombs into the tunnels. One of these burned to death a baby. The earth inside and outside two of these death pits, which I visited today, were baked and blackened, but the women seemed to have escaped.

Wednesday our general moved tanks and armor against the Germans from a point five miles behind Plouvien. Infantry parties deployed behind them. It was a twin headed attack along the main Plouvien road.

The attack caught 1,000 Germans in position around a concentration of vehicles and farmhouses. A frontal attack on this strong post wrought appalling destruction. Vehicles were reduced to scrap metal by 75 mm. guns. Mounds of German dead lay among the wreckage of smoking automobiles and farmers' two wheeled carts. By sundown we had taken more than 700 prisoners.

Dead Litter the Road.

The road was dotted with dead Germans and their effects. Germans who had left the column to flee into the fields were caught by shrapnel bursts and fell dead in the act of running.

All this time the French farmers were going about their work in the fields unheeding. Nobody shoots at them, and none ever seems to be killed.

But when the din faded they left their reaping and went into the road to glean the harvest of battle. They captured and led off the loose horses to replace those the Germans had stolen from them.

In 40 Fiery Seconds, Six Forts Lost

A U. S. BOMBER BASE IN ENGLAND, Aug. 16 (AP).—Solemnly, Lt. Edward Witty, 19, of route 1, Walbridge, O., told of "the worst 40 seconds I ever spent in my whole life"—40 seconds in which his Fortress squadron was ripped to bits in a suicidal attack by German fighter planes, his buddy lost, and six of the 11 planes in his squadron shot down over Leipzig.

Let him tell how it happened to the Fortresses:

"One peeled up to the right and exploded. Another turned down to the left and exploded—he was a buddy of mine.

"A third went down in flames and blew all to hell. They had a dead bead on another. He went straight up in the air and exploded.

"The fifth had three engines afire. He rolled over on his back and exploded. The sixth peeled down and exploded."

Only the lead ship—it's called the Fearless Fosdick—and Witty's were still there.

The rest of the story was pieced together at the base. Two of the three others had joined up with other formations.

The third, piloted by Flight Officer Louis Marpil, Brooklyn, N. Y., had been raked by fighter plane fire and then by flak at 15,000 feet, over Bremen. The last engine of Marpil's crippled Fort suddenly went dead over a Marauder bomber base, but Marpil glided down to a neat deadstick landing.

"And they talk about things getting easier," said Witty. "Baloney."

REPORT NEW DRIVE TO TRAP GERMANS; CANADIANS FIGHT IN FALAISE STREETS

Link Up Positions; Americans Take 700 Prisoners.

ROME, Aug. 16 (AP).—American and French troops crashed farther inland tonight after linking up newly won beachheads, and headquarters announced that the bulk of the leading infantry divisions already were ashore in southern France.

As troops continued to move ashore without interruption, an official announcement said 700 prisoners had been counted up to midnight last night.

Invaders swarming ashore were supported by the United States 6th corps, which made up the principal assault force, and by reinforced air borne units.

7th Army Established.

The United States 7th army of Maj. Gen. Alexander M. Patch, reconstituted after its victorious campaign in Sicily, now has established itself firmly in southern France. Allied headquarters said the penetration inland was as much as eight miles in some places after the smashing of German coastal defenses.

[A dispatch from Bern quoted the Geneva newspaper La Suisse as saying French Partisans, coöperating with thousands of allied paratroops, were about to take Marseille, from which the Germans are moving eastward toward Toulon. The paper also reported Cannes and Nice were already occupied and that advance guards of the French were moving toward the Italian border. The Algiers radio said Cannes is in allied hands. The British radio said the allies had captured five towns.

[Berlin dispatches to Stockholm said the front had been extended from Toulon to San Remo, Italian resort 8½ miles southwest of Genoa. Tank battles were reported in progress between Toulon and Cannes.]

Capture Tanker's Crew.

Among the prisoners taken were men from an enemy tanker and corvette which fell before the attack of a United States destroyer six hours before the principal landings.

The tanker was sunk by the warship's shellfire and the other vessel was captured. The destroyer was in a protecting screen landing French troops on an island off Cape Benat, five miles southwest of Cape Negre.

A force of French commandos which landed some miles from the main assault units made contact with an American infantry division, it was announced tonight. These commandos had cut off roads leading to the beachheads.

More Troops Pour In.

The allies tonight were pouring ashore by sea and air a steady stream of new fighters and equipment.

Air borne forces were landed from towed gliders which formed a train 50 miles long and several miles wide, and by parachute from transports which kept more than 1,000 men swinging in the air at a time.

Paratroopers yesterday took the large coastal town of St. Tropez on the Gulf of St. Tropez, midway between Nice and Marseille.

PATRIOT REVOLT PERILS NAZI GRIP IN SOUTH FRANCE

Indications that the Germans are losing their hold on many sectors of France were seen last night in reports of a widespread uprising by French patriot forces.

A dispatch from an Associated Press correspondent on the Swiss border reported open revolt in the Haute-Savoie department in southeast France. This dispatch said:

Frenchmen from 16 to 60 in unoccupied villages had turned out about 100 per cent. Women organized makeshift canteens and started a supply service to provide beds and blankets.

100,000 in One Army.

The battle began yesterday after each member of the resistance army, at least 100,000 men in the Upper Savoie alone, slipped into his post. By signal, attacks were begun simultaneously.

Just after midnight today, big fires could be seen on Mount Saleve just outside Geneva. Germans were driven out of the school buildings at Ville la Grande where they had held out all day.

The region was completely under Partisan control. Just before midnight allied planes dropped new supplies to feed the battle. It was reported reliably that a series of supply gliders landed in the French Juras just after dusk yesterday.

Village after village was liberated during the afternoon. Fighting French appeared at customs posts.

Germans Fight Nazis.

German army troops at Thonon-les-Bains fought all day with machine guns, rifles, and hand to hand against their own Gestapo and S. S. [Nazi elite guard] units. Between Evian and Thonon, Partisans carried out a heavy offensive against occupation troops.

Four officers surrendered to Partisans at Belleveaux. Czech and Austrian troops laid down their arms. Regular German soldiers surrendered in the Douvaing region.

While a Partisan division of 13,000 surrounded Annecy, 400 men captured the bridge of Caille on the highway to Geneva and established control of the route.

From Irun, Spain, came reports that French Partisans have occupied the Pyrenees railway towns of Oloron and Mauleon and surrounded the German bastion of Toulouse, where street fighting had broken out.

Fighting also was reported at Mont-de-Marsan. Partisans were said to have taken Lisle-Jourdain, 20 miles west of Toulouse.

Heavy fighting was reported around Pau and Tarbes, between Oloron and Toulouse. Both towns were said to have fallen to the Partisans.

Frontier officials at Canfranc, Spain, confirmed the fall of Oloron and Mauleon, and a neutral from Toulouse said the German Gestapo and Vichy collaborationists fought night long battles with the underground.

Nearly 10,000 Partisans from the Mediterranean foothills of the Pyrenees were reported moving east toward the Riviera battleground.

Supreme headquarters of the allied expeditionary force disclosed that the twin allied drives into France from the north and south were linked by powerful operations of the French forces of the interior, who now are fighting with armor.

Roll of Achievements.

An announcement of an official roll of achievements during the last few weeks included:

1. Capture by storm of four Brittany towns.

2. Entry into six other towns in collaboration with the American clean-up of the peninsula.

3. Trapping of 1,500 Germans around Paimpol, Brittany.

4. Annihilation of Nazi garrisons at Moutiers and Bourg St. Maurice, in the Savoy mountains.

5. Hammering of Tarantaise garrison in Savoy into surrender against the "anvil" of collaborating Italian Maquis.

6. Destruction of 400,000 gallons of German gasoline in north France.

Patton Near Seine in Swift Advance, Berlin Says.

100,000 Nazis Fall

SUPREME HDQ. ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Aug. 16 (AP).—Dispatches from the front today said it was estimated Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's United States 3d army had inflicted nearly 100,000 casualties on the Germans—capturing 39,000 prisoners, wounding 46,000 men, and killing 11,000. The Canadians have taken 2,000 prisoners in the last three days. Thus the Germans' estimated Normandy casualties were brought to between 250,000 and 300,000 since D day. The estimate on Aug. 8 was 190,000.

SUPREME HDQ., ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Aug. 17 [Thursday].—Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's United States 3d army was reported last night to have suddenly flung its weight towards the Seine river in an attempt to cut off the Germans who escaped from the Falaise-Argentan pocket.

According to the German war bulletin American forces were "pushing eastwards from the Alencon area and have reached the sector of Chartres-Dreux in embittered fighting with German forces."

The area is little more than 40 miles west of Paris and is within 22 miles of the Seine. It is assumed they are trying to reach the river and cut up to the left towards Le Havre.

Push Toward Estuary.

Gen. Patton's sweep around the German flank, said Capt. Ludwig Sertorius, German commentator, possibly was planned to isolate the German armies in Normandy from Paris and push them back into the estuary of the Seine. The estuary is some 60 miles down river from the point nearest Dreux.

If the German reports of a new battle in the Chartres-Dreux area are correct, it means that the Americans have thrust suddenly 50 miles to the east from Alencon, where they were last officially reported.

Allied sources offered no confirmation of these reports. One dispatch from Normandy said that operations had become so fluid that the allied high command had imposed a ban on the mention of places outside the Falaise-Argentan area so as to deny information to the enemy. This dispatch asserted that German communications were so disrupted that many formations were cut off from their headquarters and were without information as to the progress of the battle.

Considerable Number Escape.

Supreme headquarters reports indicated that a considerable number of the 100,000 Germans earlier reported in the Falaise pocket had been able to slip thru the allied pincers. The German reports, if true, seem to indicate that a bigger trap is being prepared by the American Gen. Patton, according to the Germans, had received reënforcements and proceeded toward the area of Nogent Le Retrou and La Loupe on the roads leading thru Dreux and Chartres to Paris.

"Armored reconnaissance forces are now battling from these areas along roads leading to the northwest and south into Chartres," a Berlin radio report stated.

[Another report, without allied confirmation, said that other American columns were on the move, one driving southward to Tours, aiming at linking up with the Riviera front, and another to the Orleans area, 66 miles south of Paris.]

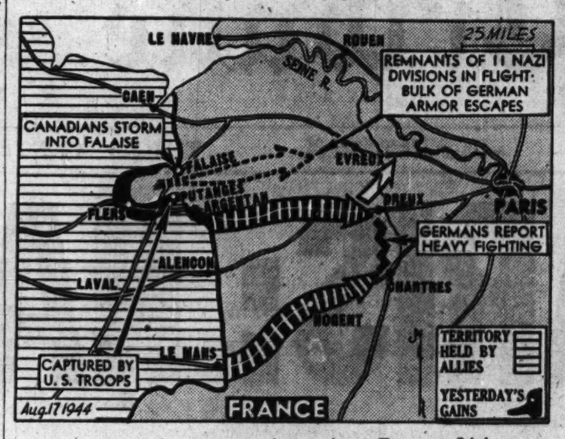

Canadians Enter Falaise.

On the Normandy front, Canadian troops were reported last night fighting in the streets of Falaise, after storming into the city from two sides, and front line reports said the Falaise-Argentan gap has been narrowed to eight miles.

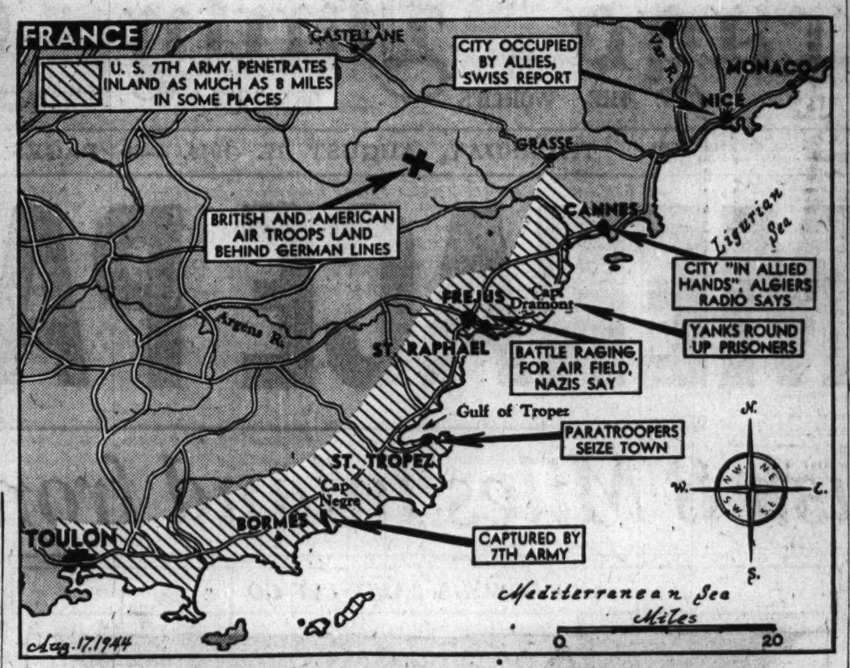

The Canadians, storming into the center of the town where William

Veterans of Anzio.

The headquarters of Gen. Henry Maitland Wilson, commander in chief of the allied Mediterranean forces, disclosed that the attacking ground force is paced by the veteran 6th corps of Anzio fame, Gen. Patch, its leader, is a veteran of Guadalcanal and successor last spring to Lt. Gen. George S. Patton Jr. as chief of the 7th army.

The invading French forces are under the command of Maj. Gen. de Lattre de Tassigny, who left France less than a year ago after escaping from prison.

Vice Adm. H. K. Hewitt is in command of naval operations, and Brig. Gen. Gordon P. Saville, chief of the 12th tactical air command, heads the air units.

Hold 70 Mile Front.

Headquarters stated flatly in tonight's bulletin that "our troops have established themselves firmly on the south coast of France between Cannes and Toulon." This 70 mile shore includes most of the points of assault previously mentioned by correspondents.

Inland, American and British air borne troops, after blocking whatever routes of enemy reinforcements still were open, pushed on against "predetermined objectives," tonight's bulletin related.

Past Monaco, Report.

BERN, Switzerland, Aug. 16 (AP).—Frontier reports to La Suisse of Geneva said today that French advance guards passed the principality of Monaco on their way to the Italian frontier at Ventimiglia.

A dispatch from the Italian border said the Germans had ordered immediate evacuation of residents along the Ligurian coast line from Ventimiglia to the naval base of La Spezia, 110 miles to the east across the Gulf of Genoa, in the expectation of new allied landings.

GERMAN BULLETIN.

Wednesday's German war bulletin as broadcast by Berlin and recorded in New York by the Associated Press said of operations in southern France:

"On the south French coast, several enemy landing attempts between Toulon and Cannes were warded off. The enemy succeeded, however, in gaining a foothold at some places on the coast. Violent fighting is in progress here. Enemy air borne troops dropped in the rear of our defense zone are being attacked by our reserves."

YANKS WIN PUTANGES

BY JOHN THOMPSON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HDQ. 1ST U. S. ARMY IN FRANCE, Aug. 16.—Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley's tanks today spurted into the eastern end of the Falaise-Argentan pocket, capturing Putanges, eight miles north of Ranes, and nine and a half miles west of Argentan. Our armored columns on either side pushed on up two roads, one to Ecouche and the other toward Fromental.

The capture of Putanges on the Orne river sealed off the last important road junction left to the Germans within the eastern end of the pocket and brought American field guns into position to shell the rear of the strong German forces which have been holding back the British and Canadian advance from the north.

Fighting was reported still going on in Argentan, reached by 3d army tanks, altho their reconnaissance vehicles were traveling all the roads around the town.

Clip Off 3½ Miles.

Doughboys of the 1st army also clipped 3½ miles off the western end of the pocket. Reporting that the enemy seemed to be withdrawing hurriedly they rolled on thru fields east of Tinchebray, captured yesterday, to the little town of Landisach 3½ miles west of Flers. Flers had been one of the most important road centers on the west.

Gains in the east and west shortened the pocket so that its length, as the crow flies, is less than 20 miles running from Putanges back to Landisach. However, the actual American front along the southern side of the pocket stretches for about 35 miles from Argentan to Landisach. The Americans in the Putanges area were reported meeting little resistance in their advance but prisoners were reported beginning to come in by the thousands.

Prisoners From 11 Divisions.

The 1st army tonight permitted identification of the following German divisions from which prisoners have been taken. They were the 21st panzer [armored], the 9th and 12th SS [elite guard], and the 85th, 89th, 271st, 272d, 276th, 277th, 326th, and the 977th infantry divisions.

Meanwhile, back on the Brittany peninsula German troops were reported still holding out in Brest, St. Nazaire, and Lorient. However, St. Malo finally was occupied and Americans completed the mop-up of the Dinard peninsula.

CHURCHILL, U. S. LEADERS WATCH RIVIERA LANDING

ROME, Aug. 16 (AP).—Prime Minister Churchill visited Corsica and then went by destroyer to watch landing operations on the French coast, allied headquarters announced tonight.

With the prime minister as guests on the warship were United States Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson and Lt. Gen. Brehon B. Somervell, commander of the American army services of supply.

Earlier Patterson had decorated two infantrymen and joined an American artillery battery pumping shells into German positions across the Arno river during a tour of the 5th army front.

NIMITZ' FLYERS HURL 57 TONS OF BOMBS ON TRUK

PACIFIC FLEET HDQ., Pearl Harbor, Aug. 16 (AP).—A 57 ton bombing by 7th army air force Liberators on Japan's by-passed naval stronghold of Truk in the Carolines was reported tonight by Adm. Chester W. Nimitz.

The raiders encountered nine interceptors in the strike, made Sunday, shooting down one. Several Liberators were damaged, but all got back to base, Nimitz said.

Truk has been under steady neutralization since the first carrier strikes there last February. The naval base now is nearly isolated by conquest of the Marianas, more than 600 miles west.

"Sure, why not?" the officer said, when Joe dismounted and asked for his autograph. Upon seeing three stars on the officer's helmet, Joe got flustered and dropped his bike. While the general picked up the bike, Joe fumbled thru his deck for the most important card he had left—the ace of diamonds.

The officer borrowed Joe's pen, scribbled his name, and walked on.

A U. S. FIGHTER BASE IN ENGLAND, Aug. 16 (AP).—Eleven German fighter planes were downed by 16 United States Mustangs today in a 20 minute battle that raged from treetop level to heights of more than three miles near Magdeburg.

Double kills were scored by Lt. Harold Spencer, 3616 N. Francisco av., Chicago, and Lt. William Cullerton, 1719 New England av., Chicago. Pilots scoring singles included Lt. Jack Crandell, 907 Garfield av., Aurora, Ill.

Brig. Gen. Brown Made Allied Chief in Rome

ROME, Aug. 16 (AP).—Brig. Gen. Thoburn K. Brown of Morristown, Tenn., was named allied commander for the Rome area today, succeeding Maj. Gen. Harry H. Johnson, who left for a combat assignment. Brown, a West Pointer, was formerly assistant commander of the 88th infantry division.

ITALIAN FRONT STATIC AS AMG FEEDS FLORENCE

ROME, Aug. 16 (AP).—Relative quiet reigned on the Italian front today as sniping abated and the allied military government [AMG] moved in food for the civilian population in liberated areas of Florence.

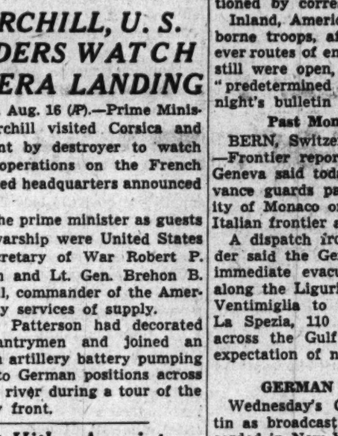

The allied bulletin said there was "no change in the situation" on the 5th and 8th army fronts. Eighth army troops, however, have finished mopping up an enemy pocket in Empoli, 25 miles west of Florence on the south bank of the Arno river.

YANKS REFUSE TO BE FOOLED BY EASE OF LANDING

Veterans Remember Their Anzio Losses.

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.
[Chicago Tribune war correspondent.]
[Representing combined U. S. press.]

WITH U. S. GROUND FORCES NEAR STE. MAXIME, Aug. 16 (AP).—Our beachhead on the French Riviera is now a day old, but from the steady movement of personnel and equipment ashore with only spasmodic enemy harassing fire it looks as if our military colony had been here for weeks.

Certainly this beachhead has progressed much faster than Anzio did in a similar period.

The bay is a busy American harbor. All varieties of troop transports and landing craft are plying the blue waters toward this strand, and our position grows stronger every moment.

Fan Out Into Interior.

Infantrymen are coming ashore already loaded on trucks as they move down the ship ramps, and are regrouping and moving inland to the hills. They are fanning out in the interior sectors, expanding the beachhead in several directions and joining up with units landing at other points. Jeeps, command cars, and supply trucks are pouring in all along the line. Tanks and field guns also are being unloaded.

"This has been almost too easy," said an infantry captain who has been in previous American amphibious operations in this theater. "But none of us are going to make the mistake some did at Anzio, when they thought the war was over because the initial landings were unopposed."

That feeling of caution against writing off German defensive stands and counterthrusts is prevalent among our veteran soldiers, who remember Anzio and the south coast of Sicily and how much power the enemy hurled at us there after our arrival had been comparatively unmolested.

Pillboxes Knocked Out.

The beach frontage and area just back of it in the Ste. Maxime vicinity were not nearly so badly banged up as we had expected in view of the terrific naval and air bombardment. But the shelling and bombing had been remarkably precise and pillboxes, strongpoints, and gun positions had been knocked out as ordered.

German 88s, mortars, and snipers were still active from the hills this morning, but there was no continuity in their fire and movement of American soldiers and equipment seems as normal and efficient on the beach as it might have been during a peace time maneuver.

Farther east some of our other units had a tough time of it yesterday afternoon. H-hour for that force was several hours after that for the infantry which came in near Ste. Maxime.

Some of the landing craft bearing in on a beach ran into heavy shellfire from German positions which had survived the preliminary bombardments. So more naval attacks were called for in that region, and wave after wave of our heavy and light bombers came over. Dust and smoke and flame rose and there was a constant thunder of destruction in the target sector. Thereafter the G. I.'s had an easier time getting ashore.

CHICAGO KID, 15, STUBS TOE; SENT HOME FROM WAR

LONDON, Aug. 16 (AP).—The Chicago kid was sent back to the United States today. He is Gerald W. Haddon, 4150 Harrison st., Chicago.

The kid metaphorically stubbed his toe some 40 days after D-day during which period he made 13 landings on the Normandy invasion coast as a crew member of a Coast Guard manned landing craft for tanks. When he reported "too tired to get up," an investigation disclosed he was only 15.

SEES ONLY FOUR YANKS WOUNDED IN TAKING BEACH

Troops Don't Even Get Their Feet Wet.

BY SID FEDER.
[Representing Combined U. S. Press.]

WITH AMERICAN FORCES ON THE SOUTHERN FRANCE BEACHHEAD, Aug. 15 [Delayed] — (AP). — American doughboys ripped into southern France today and within four hours some elements had penetrated more than three miles inland with little opposition.

Lt. Martin Tully.

On the right flank portion of the beachhead, in a sector only eight miles from the rich Riviera resort of Cannes, the doughboys came ashore without getting their feet wet and with little resistance.

Hitting on a pair of small narrow beaches covering a sector three miles wide in this area, they had expected to tangle with all kinds of hell. Instead the troops under officers who included Lt. Martin Tully, 9344 Pleasant av., Chicago, encountered only scattered small arms fire.

Sees Only 4 Wounded.

I counted only four wounded men across the entire beach, which is virtually the same spot as that on which Napoleon landed on his return from exile in Elba.

The minor resistance was overcome in a hurry and within an hour the American troops had overrun the tiny seaside town of Dramont. On the way to the village, troops cleaned out the supposedly heavily defended left peninsula, surrounding Dagay cove. They found only one pillbox, housing a coastal defense gun, which was easily overcome.

In Dramont, which was a Nazi billet, and in the neighborhood around it, these soldiers rounded up 82 prisoners by 11 a. m. Most prisoners were wide-eyed with shock and fear.

Flamethrowers Used.

Flamethrowers were used to clean out 12-foot thick casements guarding one end of the beach. This and the fact that amphibious tanks landed at almost the same instant as the assault infantry made it easy to herd in these scared Jerries.

Some mortar shells greeted the first of the larger ships to snuggle into the harbor. As they progressed farther inland the troops ran into more resistance. But between the assaulting infantrymen and flame throwers no strong point was able to hold out long.

It was three hours before the first enemy counter-battery artillery was hurled in from the mountain range near Cannes. By this time some of our artillery was already ashore and tanks were barging along.

Natives said the Nazis have been evacuating this right flank area during the last five or six days. Some seemingly impenetrable concrete casements were unmanned when the infantry reached them.

Other forces hit out toward the larger towns of St. Raphael and Frejus to the west.

BRITONS CRASH GATES TO BEACHES, BRAVE ROBOTS AND ACK-ACK

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 16.—Hundreds of bathers and picnickers who had crashed the gate at a southeast coast resort today, refused to budge this evening when the Germans launched a series of sharp robot attacks against the London area. They continued to bathe or have tea on the beach while witnessing a flaming battle between the defense and streams of flying bombs. Bursting ack-ack shells sprayed the sea for a mile offshore.

The anti-aircraft gunners and other defenses claimed considerable success in bringing down the robots into the sea or in open country.

One robot, which eluded the defenses, burst in a shopping district recently and gave the people nearby a double shock. Apart from the unnerving effect of the bomb itself, people emerging from doorways of shelters were horrified to see the roadway littered with torn and twisted bodies. A hurry call was sent out for ambulances but before they reached the spot a civil defense rescue squad ascertained the "bodies" were merely tailors' dummies hurled by the blast from the windows of a near-by department store.

DOOM GERMAN TO DIE FOR TALK OF ROBOT BOMBS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 16.—Careless talkers giving away flying bomb secrets have been condemned by an army tribunal to sentences including death, the German radio today reported. A soldier was sentenced to 10 years' forced labor for telling his girl friend that the main plant for V-1 manufacture had been bombed out, but was working again.

A sergeant, who had to fetch secret apparatus from a military post, told employees that it was for V-1, and then proceeded to give details of the new weapon and inform his listeners of the various stages reached by other retaliatory weapons. He was sentenced to death.

The broadcaster added that "times are too serious for vital military secrets to be given away in this stupid fashion," and the public was warned to report any careless talkers to authorities.

HOW MACARTHUR WON TO BE TOLD IN THE TRIBUNE

The first full story of how Gen. MacArthur saved Australia and all the western Pacific from domination by Japan, and the first shocking exposition of how MacArthur was forced to fight on a shoestring for two critical years are to be told in THE TRIBUNE, beginning in the Graphic section next Sunday and continuing daily for a week.

The story, written by Frazier Hunt, war correspondent and intimate friend of Gen. MacArthur since World War I., is from Hunt's forthcoming book, "MacArthur and the War Against Japan."

Story Never Told Before.

Never before have Americans been told how MacArthur's forces were deliberately and unnecessarily abandoned in the Philippines. Never before has the nation heard how MacArthur was kept on a pittance of supplies in Australia while endless streams of airplanes, guns, and equipment flowed across the Atlantic.

For two years, when he was fighting against incredible odds, MacArthur never got more than 10 per cent of our war production. Never in the history of American arms has so much been accomplished with so little.

The series of articles begins with the hopeless delaying action fought on Bataan, and refutes crushingly the detractors of MacArthur who have sought to blame the general for the destruction of most of his tiny air force in the first few hours of the war. Then the author tells how MacArthur felt when he learned no effort would be made to send him help, and how he made a thrilling escape to Australia after being ordered there.

Develops New Techniques.

Then Hunt explains how MacArthur's shortages of men and equipment forced him to develop new techniques of warfare, combining air power with amphibious action in a series of by-passing movements that cleared the Solomon and Bismarck seas, leaving 150,000 Japanese soldiers stranded without supplies.

Brig. Gen. C. A. Willoughby, chief of the military intelligence section, general staff, at MacArthur's headquarters, says of the author:

"He has had access to the historical data available at this headquarters. His analyses of the campaigns are accurate."

Watch for Hunt's story in THE TRIBUNE, beginning in the Graphic section next Sunday and continuing in daily instalments next week. The series will be concluded in the Graphic section of Sunday, Aug. 27.

BOMBERS BLAST BERLIN, KIEL, AND STETTIN TARGETS

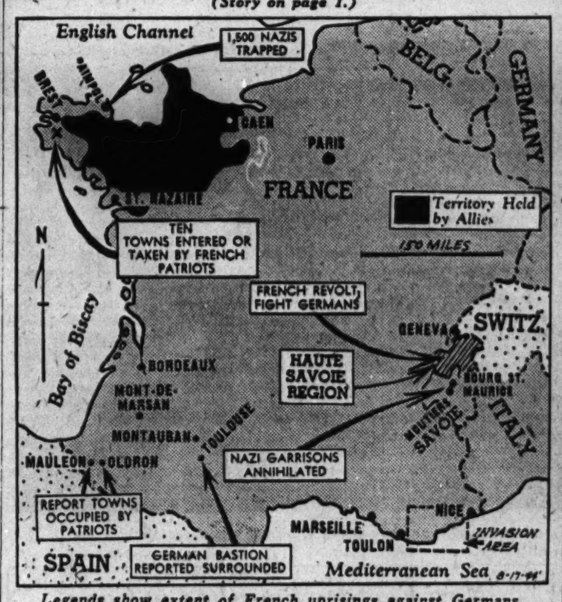

LONDON, Aug. 17 [Thursday]—(AP).—A fleet of possibly 1,000 R. A. F. heavy bombers blasted the German cities of Stettin and Kiel last night, while a force of Mosquitos carried out their third successive night assault upon Berlin, the air ministry announced today.

Stettin is the chief Baltic port used by the Germans for supplying troops in Finland and is on the upper flank of the Russian front. The city, which had a pre-war population of about 270,000, is the site of oil refineries and chemical industries. Kiel, some 200 miles west of Stettin, is a naval base and shipbuilding center. Both have been frequent bombing targets.

Yesterday Britain based American heavy bombers hit aircraft and synthetic oil plants inside Germany and Liberators from Italy bombed the Friedrichshafen chemical works.

YANKS CAPTURE TOWN BY ERROR BUT CLING TO IT

Plane Drops Troopers but Too Soon.

BY HERBERT L. MATTHEWS.
[New York Times war correspondent.]
[Representing combined U. S. press.]

ON THE FRENCH RIVIERA, Aug. 16 (AP).—Mistakes will happen in amphibious landings, so American paratroopers took the famous resort of St. Tropez when they should have been somewhere inland.

It was cloudy night before last, and navigators went by their so-called precision instruments. At a given time they were supposed to be over the target, so they sent the paratroopers out. That was at 4 a. m., and three planes full of men landed on the St. Tropez peninsula, realizing immediately that something was wrong. However, paratroopers have to be resourceful.

So They Take the Town.

The Germans attacked with small arms fire as they came down and several were killed. Other Nazis blew up the little port where fashionable yachts used to anchor. So the paratroopers pitched in and took St. Tropez.

The landing has succeeded beyond the wildest hopes of its leaders.

The beaches themselves swarm with men and vehicles. The water around us is filled with craft of every kind, coming and going with impunity.

Resistance has been amazingly slight—not one German plane, not a single cannon shot from shore, and those landing met only a little light arms and mortar fire.

Like an Anti-climax.

The reality has been almost an anti-climax.

The timing on the beach was near perfection. With all the complexities and intricacies of the landing operation, American troops set foot on the French Riviera at H-hour plus two minutes.

Before we debarked Naval Lt. Joseph Finley of Pontiac, Ill., who had been close to shore in an LCI, reported there were no underwater obstacles and amazingly little opposition ashore.

COLORED NURSES REACH ENGLAND; CHICAGOAN 1ST

LONDON, Aug. 16 (AP).—The first contingent of Negro nurses to be assigned to the European theater as members of the army nurse corps has arrived in England for active duty, it was disclosed today.

The units' 63 young women were selected from various army hospitals in the United States and are headed by Capt. Mary L. Petty of 5310 Prairie av., Chicago, who was chief nurse at Station Hospital No. 1, Fort Huachuca, Ariz., before coming overseas. Fifteen have had previous foreign service in the African campaign.

The group was greeted by Brig. Gen. Benjamin O. Davis, the ranking United States Negro officer.

TRIBUNE'S MAP IS KEY TO NEW INVASION AREA

Natural Routes, Types of Terrain Shown.

France's Mediterranean coastal area, where the allies have established a fourth major front against the Germans, is charted in detail on the full page color map on the back page of today's Tribune. The general location of the broad front created by the allied invaders is described as lying within the 125 mile strip between Nice and Marseille.

Principal prizes in the new invasion area are the great port city of Marseille, second largest city of the nation [population 915,000], and Toulon, famous for many years as France's leading naval base. It was there in November, 1942, that the French scuttled a large part of their fleet to keep it from falling into the hands of the Germans.

Northern Union Implied.

Yesterday's dispatches from Rome, describing the landings in southern France, said the invasion forces proposed to drive northward with the intention of joining allied forces now operating on the Normandy-Brittany front.

A study of the map will make clear the route that the invaders will have to take if they push toward Paris and northern France. Yellow, orange, and red areas on the map indicate highlands and mountains. Green areas signify relatively level country of low elevation.

Northeast of Marseille and Toulon lie the Maritime Alps, the most westerly of the Alps mountains. Northwest are the Cevennes mountains, with the Auvergne mountains still farther north. Between the Alps on the east and the Cevennes and Auvergne on the west is the wide valley of the Rhone river, the route that the invaders necessarily would have to travel to avoid difficult terrain.

Up the Rhone, from the sea, northward, lying actually on its banks or near it, are the important cities of Arles, Avignon, and Montelimar. Still farther north on the river, at its confluence with the Saone, is Lyon [not shown], the third largest city of France [population 570,000]. Lyon, 315 miles from Paris, would provide a valuable prize for the invaders.

Once they reach Lyon the allies would have the choice of cutting thru westerly to the valley of the Loire river, pushing northwesterly to the Seine and Paris, or advancing northeasterly to strike directly at the German frontier thru the famous Belfort gap, a narrow corridor between the Swiss Alps and the Vosges mountains.

Rhone Valley Natural Route.

Altho some of the landings that were made in the new invasion of France were at points east of the areas shown on the map, it is presumed that the allies, if they intend to make a deep penetration of France, will advance first up the Rhone valley. This valley provides a wide thorofare to the north, crossed here and there by angling water courses, but in the main fairly free of natural obstructions. It was by this valley that various earlier civilizations penetrated from the Mediterranean to Lyon, the capital of Gaul in the days of the Roman empire.

The name of Napoleon is associated with the area involved in the new landings. On March 1, 1815, the exiled emperor landed near Cannes, to begin the famous 100 days that led to his defeat at Waterloo.

City Backs Veterans' Aid Group; Drops Own Plan

A veterans' service committee, representing a group of public and private agencies was officially recognized yesterday by the city council, which canceled its action of June 28 to create a Chicago's Own Veterans commission. Mayor Kelly said the new committee didn't have "political leanings or implications."

NAZIS WILL FIGHT RIVIERA BATTLE INLAND–BERLIN

Seek to Avoid Fire of Battleships.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 16.—Commenting on the tactics employed by Col. Gen. Blaskowitz, commanding German forces opposing the allies in southern France, the German news agency over the radio said it is evident he has given up the idea of "fighting within range of allied naval guns," as was done in Normandy, it was reported by listening posts here tonight.

"The allied landings, therefore, have not met their point of crisis within the immediate coastal reaches and presumably have it coming farther inland," the German broadcaster said. "Blowing up of harbor installations at Nice, Cannes, and St. Tropez was part of these German tactics. On inland heights, however, the Germans are offering fierce resistance. Many points of the coast are still being heavily shelled by allied warships and new landings therefore must be expected."

Form New Beachhead.

The radio also said the allies formed a new beachhead at Ste. Maxime [on the coast north of St. Tropez] and are strengthening the beachhead at Cavaliere and Le Lavandou. Cavaliere is nine miles southwest of St. Tropez and 23 miles east of Toulon. Lavandou is a small coastal resort two miles from Bormes.

The battle of France will reach its climax in the next few days or weeks, said Dr. Joseph Saal, German radio commentator.

Admits Seriousness.

"We must admit the seriousness and the widespread consequences of the situation as it is now and will be in the near future," he continued. He warned the Germans against allowing the lull on the eastern front to deceive them, adding: "We must reckon with new massed soviet attacks."

Capt. Ludwig Sertorius, German military commentator, said that now the beachheads have been reenforced by the first wave of the invasion, second, third, and fourth waves can be expected to land shortly. "There can be no doubt at least one allied army is taking part in this new invasion," he said.

REPORT OF MONTY'S DEMOTION STIRS UP REBUKE FOR SHAEF

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 17 [Thursday].—The Daily Mirror, this morning, criticizing allied supreme headquarters for "official assertion and contradiction," says it feels it "our duty to demand that Gen. Montgomery be offered an apology." The reference was to a Reuter announcement that "it is officially stated" Gen. Eisenhower in taking over supreme command of the allied expeditionary force in the field meant that Montgomery and Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley, commander of the United States 12th army group, would have an equal footing under him. This would have meant that Montgomery was demoted, which supreme headquarters last night denied categorically.

The Mirror says, "Reuter's explanation of this strange procedure—an explanation with which we as a newspaper are satisfied—was this: Reuter received a message from the office of supreme headquarters. It was confirmed at SHAEF, passed the censor at SHAEF, and afterward was denied at SHAEF. Later a similar story reached this country as true from Washington but SHAEF stuck to its denial.

"In general the handling of war news has been amateurish and inconsistent and confusing. One day official optimism runs high, the next some one cautiously 'plays it down.' It is time efficiency was established in this vital matter."

JAP BIKE SOLVES TRIBUNE MAN'S GUAM PROBLEM

BY STAFF SGT. WARD WALKER.

[Marine corps combat correspondent on military leave from The Chicago Tribune.]

GUAM [Delayed].—Harold Smith, Chicago Tribune war correspondent, returned from the junction patrol of the north and south forces on Guam with his transportation problem solved. He was wheeling a dilapidated bicycle and carrying an armful of spare parts—all Japanese.

A placard on the bike, a translator said, proclaimed that it was the property of a Jap construction battalion. Smitty spent a day installing new tires and tubes, obtained at a Jap warehouse, riveting loose parts together with 10 penny nails, and solving the mystery of the quaint hand brakes on the velocipede. He had found the bicycle parked near a blasted enemy truck with its late owner lying beside it.

After his first ride on the bike, Smitty pronounced it a success.

U. S. TROOPS OUT AGAIN, IN AGAIN; JAPS GONE AGAIN

BY ARTHUR VEYSEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

AITAPE, New Guinea [Delayed].—The band played "Deep in the Heart of Texas" today and the boys came home from Afua, the little village of nine native shacks for which they had been fighting 44 days.

It was around Afua that the Driniumor river campaign reached its bloody climax and of more than 8,000 Japs who died attempting to smash the Aitape defenses, between 2,000 and 3,000 lie within a few hundred yards of Afua.

Village on Stilts.

Afua's clump of shacks rose on stilts on the bank of the Driniumor about seven miles inland. When, in late June, patrols began encountering Japs moving toward the Driniumor river, the Texas boys cut thru the jungle from Aitape to Afua. From the coast to Afua was a flat, swampy jungle plain. Inland from Afua were steep, forested hills.

One infantry unit was to form a front on the Driniumor and another was to keep the Japs from turning our flank. With sudden fury the Japs struck one midnight, crossing the Driniumor, a lazy tropical river a hundred yards wide and knee deep, midway between Afua and the coast.

Afua Cut Off.

Wave upon wave of Japs came on, overpowering the thinly held line. Artillery from the beach laid down a barrage on the river but still the Japs came and by morning a large force was behind our lines. Several hundred Japs lay dead in the river.

Afua was cut off. Then the Japs came running down out of the hills straight onto Afua. Troopers were scattered for a mile on the coastal side of the village and to save themselves and form a tighter circle of defense they fled Afua, leaving food and packs behind.

Once, Joe Sloboday of Lorain, O., held off the Japs while the troops shifted. Another time Pvt. V. G. Baker of Oakland, Cal., adopted the hold-off job. He was overrun and spent a night amid the Japs, but escaped in the morning.

Silence Jap Gun.

Once, a Jap machine gun cut into the troops from across the Driniumor and Pvt. Harvey Garrison Jr. of Dallas, Tex., got together a few men, crossed the river and silenced it. In another troop shift four men fell injured.

Pvt. Kenneth Metatall of Mineral, Tex., a first aid man, saw the wounded men, stayed with them until the Japs passed, and then brought them out.

By the end of the first week biscuit bombers were dropping supplies and the troops fought back into Afua. But that night more Japs came down out of the hills and the soldiers moved out.

Back Into Afua.

More supplies came in by air and again the troopers battled into Afua. They stayed there that night and the next day and then, when patrols found the Japs massing on all sides, they again withdrew. This time they waited a week and by then infantrymen had closed on the Japs on the Driniumor river and with their backing the others battled back into Afua.

From Afua the infantry swept across the river and up into the hills and backtracked into the jungle behind Afua. They broke the Jap encirclement into bits and eliminated the enemy man by man. With the eradication of the Jap forces Afua is securely American. You probably will never hear of it again.

YANK WHO ELUDED JAPS ON GUAM 31 MONTHS, DIVORCED

San Diego, Cal., Aug. 16 (AP).—Chief Radioman George Ray Tweed, 42, who was rescued from Guam after 31 months of eluding the Japanese, has been granted an interlocutory decree of divorce from Mary Frances Tweed, 27. The surprising development was disclosed as Tweed prepared to return to active duty after a 30 day furlough.

Tweed filed the divorce complaint July 26, nine days after arriving here for a reunion with his family. Mrs. Tweed and her children—Ronal Cross, 9, a son by a first marriage, and Robert, 3—were evacuated from Guam in October, 1941. She filed a waiver of contest to the complaint.

The Tweeds were married in Yuma, Ariz., in December, 1938. Tweed told the court that altho they separated this year, they had agreed to part in 1941, while they were on Guam. He alleged she insulted wives of other service men on Guam, virtually leading to his social ostracism.

GERMANS HURL RUSSIANS FROM WARSAW SUBURB

Reds Capture 70 Towns on Estonia Front.

LONDON, Aug. 16 (AP).—The Germans went all out today to hold Warsaw, throwing gigantic tank and infantry forces into counter-attacks northeast of the old Polish capital and forcing the Russians out of the town of Ossow, seven miles from Warsaw's contiguous suburb of Praga.

Loss of Ossow was acknowledged in the midnight soviet bulletin, the first announced loss of any importance since the vast victory parade of the Russian summer offensive began June 23.

Closest to Moscow.

The Russians never had announced capture of Ossow, marking their closest approach to Warsaw since they began the suburban siege of the capital July 31 after seizing Wolomin, 10 miles northeast.

Elsewhere on the 1,000-mile active front the Russians reported continuing successes.

On the Estonian front they announced advances that swept up 70 more towns, and in Lithuania, where the Russians have been bearing down toward Memel, they announced repulse of German counter-attacks.

On the southern Polish front, soviet troops broke into the city of Sandomierz and engaged the Germans in street fighting.

Would Aid Spearhead.

The capture of Sandomierz would greatly strengthen the Russian advanced spearhead position and possibly permit soviet forces there to strike sharply northward in an outflanking movement against Warsaw, as well as easing the way for a re drive southwestward on Krakow.

Farther north, on the fringes of East Prussia, the Russians were reported to have pushed to within 10 miles of the East Prussian border northwest of Vilkaviskis.

The German radio acknowledged that Russian tanks had broken thru near the Latvian-Lithuanian border north of Birji and said there was fierce fighting north of Biebrza on the southeastern approaches to East Prussia.

GERMAN WAR REPORT.

Yesterday's German bulletin dealing with the Russian front, as recorded by the Associated Press, said:

"In the Carpathian forefield, formations of the army and Waffen SS in three days of stubborn fighting against seven enemy rifle divisions west of Sanok succeeded in improving their front. The soviets suffered heavy casualties and lost 55 tanks, 98 guns, and numerous other arms and a large number of prisoners.

"In the big Vistula bend west of Baranow, panzer and panzer grenadier formations captured several localities despite stiff enemy resistance and closed a gap in the front.

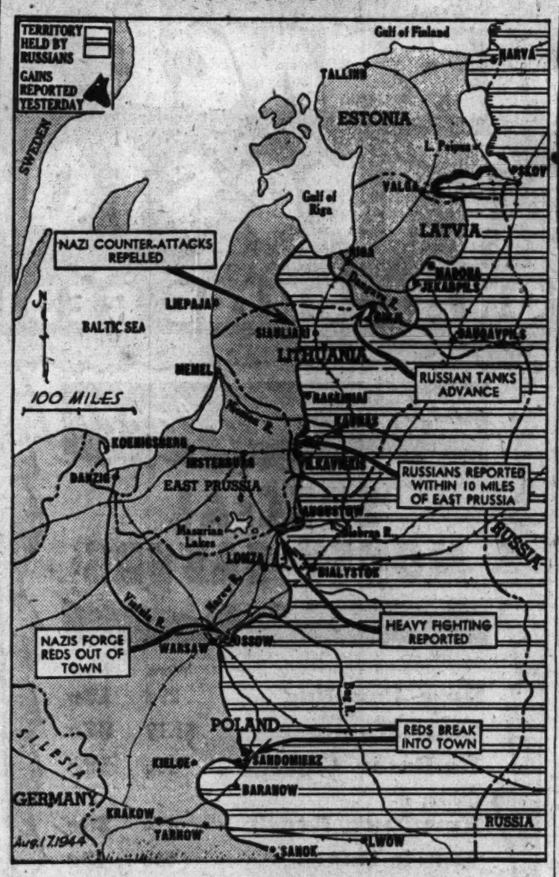

"Soviet Attacks Foiled."

"Southeast of Warka as well as between the Vistula and the upper Narew, numerous soviet attacks were foiled. On both sides of the Memel river, the soviets attacked in the area of Vilkaviskis and Raseiniai with massed forces, strongly supported from the air. Only at Vilkaviskis did they make insignificant progress.

"On the Latvian front north of Birsen, renewed enemy attacks carried out with strong forces were smashed. The enemy lost 40 tanks."

STALIN'S POLICY ON POLAND HIT BY CATHOLICS

BY WILLIAM STRAND.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

LONDON, Aug. 16.—Present Russian dealings with the Poles were denounced today by the Catholic hierarchy as an attempt by Josef Stalin to set up a communist system of government in liberated parts of Poland. Members of parliament received by mail, it was learned, copies of a manifesto signed by six Catholic bishops accusing soviet officials of "cynical defiance of international law."

Meanwhile, the fight for Warsaw by the Polish underground army is continuing, according to a bulletin from Gen. Bor's headquarters, with the Germans unable to use the main road thru the old part of the town.

The Polish Telegraph agency said some supplies are being received but more are urgently needed.

Bishops Issue Manifesto.

The denunciation by Catholic bishops of Russian-Polish relations came in the form of a manifesto plus a letter calling upon M. P.'s to stand by Britain's guarantee of a "free and independent Poland." A specific pledge from each member was invited.

Signatories to the manifesto are the archbishop of St. Andrew's and Edinburgh, the bishops of Dunkeld, Aberdeen, Argyle, Galloway, and the vicar capitular of the archdiocese of Glasgow.

Meanwhile a British spokesman declared that Russian proposals for post-war security are similar in principle to those made by the United States and Great Britain. It was denied that the Russians did not believe in a league or a world police force, but proposed instead to vest all power in the big four.

The similarity in views was said to be good grounds for belief that the conference which will open at Dumbarton Oaks next week will make rapid progress.

Decrees Authorized.

LONDON, Aug. 16 [Reuter].—The Moscow radio reported tonight that a joint meeting of the Polish national council and the Committee of National Liberation in Lublin had passed a law authorizing the liberation committee to issue emergency decrees.

One decree was approved which provides for the registration and mobilization of people in liberated territory for war service. Four age groups will be called up this year.

Another decree provides for the establishment of land offices in Poland to put into effect land reforms for the Polish peasantry.

AMERICANS RAID JAP NAVAL BASE IN PESCADORES

CHUNGKING, China, Aug. 16 (AP).—Liberator bombers of Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault's United States 14th air force last night raided the Japanese naval base of Mako in the tiny but strategically important Pescadores Islands, it was announced today. No details were given. The attack was the first allied blow against the islands, which lie in the China sea between Formosa and China. Mako is approximately 1,700 miles southwest of Tokyo and 400 miles north of the Philippines.

Liberators also made a night attack on Takao harbor in southwestern Formosa.

President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill in the Cairo pronouncement said the Pescadores would be returned to China, from which Japan seized them, after the Nipponese are defeated.

Chinese Open Drive.

Chinese forces have begun an offensive near the Yangtze river port of Ichang, westernmost Japanese stronghold in central China, the Chinese high command announced today.

A war bulletin disclosed that Chinese troops attacked on both the north and south banks of the river Monday evening and by yesterday morning had broken thru the enemy's lines at several points and were pressing forward steadily.

The high command also reported unremitting Chinese attempts to recapture Hengyang on the Hankow-Canton railroad. Chinese attacking from the east recaptured several strategic points and cleared the vicinity of Lienhuachen of enemy remnants.

Jap Attack Stopped.

A Japanese attack south of Hengyang was stopped in its tracks. Enemy units driving southward from the area of Hengshan were checked 12 miles west of Hengyang. Heavy fighting was in progress there as well as in the outskirts of Leiyang, south of Hengyang, where reënforced Japanese units made renewed assaults.

AMERICAN PLANES AID CHINESE DRIVE TO CLEAR BURMA RD.

CHUNGKING, China, Aug. 16 (AP).—Almost the entire Salween river front was active today as the Chinese pressed their campaign to clear the Burma road. The high command said American planes supported large scale attacks which were begun Monday against Tengchung and the last major Japanese positions east and south of Lungling near the Burma border.

Allies Gain in Burma.

SOUTHEAST ASIA COMMAND HDQ., Kandy, Ceylon, Aug. 16 (AP).—Allied troops on the road to Mandalay continued to advance southeast of Taungni and reached the village of Thaiwagon, two miles north of Pinbaw, a war bulletin said today. Other troops on the Tiddim road advanced south.

[A Tokyo broadcast recorded in London by the Associated Press acknowledged yesterday that Japanese forces have retired from northeastern India into Burma. "Japanese forces engaged in the India-Burma frontier region have been transferred into Burmese territory where they are prepared for further battles," said the broadcast.]

THREE LIABLE TO PROSECUTION IN DORSEY FIGHT

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 16 [Special].—District Atty. Fred N. Howser announced today his investigation of the brawl in which Screen Actor Jon Hall was badly beaten in the apartment of Trombonist Tommy Dorsey Aug. 5, showed that criminal complaints could be issued against three persons.

The prosecutor said he had asked Hall if he wanted to sign complaints and the actor had replied he first would talk with his attorney. Howser added, however, that if Hall doesn't make complaints the matter will be submitted to the grand jury when it reconvenes Sept. 5.

Howser said any complaints signed probably would allege assault with a deadly weapon. Knives, flowerpots, rings, and fists allegedly were used in the row which some witnesses said started over Hall's undue familiarity with Dorsey's actress wife, Pat Dane.

Miss Langford "Ignores" Case.

SYDNEY, Australia, Aug. 16 (AP).—Actress Frances Langford, now on tour of Southwest Pacific military camps, tonight appeared to treat lightly the report of a Hollywood melee between her husband, Actor Jon Hall, and Tommy Dorsey, band leader.

She said, "Jon and I are so much in love that neither the brawl, if it took place, nor anything else, could separate us."

WAUKEGAN SON KILLED, BROTHER WOUNDED IN WAR

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. McCleod, 130 S. Elmwood av., Waukegan, were advised by the navy department yesterday that their son, 2d Lt. Willis John McCleod, 25, a marine flyer, had been killed earlier in the day in an air crash near Congaree field, Columbia, S. C.

A few minutes later, they received a letter containing a Purple Heart decoration awarded to another son, Walter, 20, an army private, who was wounded in Italy May 20.

Lt. McCleod entered the navy in November, 1942, and received his wings at Corpus Christi, Tex., Christmas eve, 1943. That same night he married Janet Virginia Whitehead, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Whitehead, 210 4th st., Wilmette, who is now in South Carolina. He also is survived by another brother, Robert, 18, and two sisters.

MOTHER PLACED ON PROBATION FOR TYING CHILD

Mrs. Anna Lukasik, 29, of 5106 Massasoit av., accused of tying her daughter, Barbara Diane, 3, to a tree and whipping her, was placed under court supervision for one year yesterday by Judge N. J. Bonelli in Boys' court.

Mrs. Bernice Tassie, 23, of 7814 Stewart av., charged with leaving her three children, John, 4, Patricia, 3, and Shirley Ann, 6 months, alone in her apartment Tuesday night while she attended a movie, was placed under court supervision until June 1, 1945, by Judge Irwin B. Clorfene in Women's court. Her husband, William, is a soldier in France.

11 PARKED JAP PLANES BLASTED ON HALMAHERA

GENERAL HDQ., SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Aug. 17 [Thursday] (AP).—Eleven parked Japanese airplanes were destroyed in a bombing raid upon Halmahera Island west of New Guinea, headquarters announced today.

The planes blasted Lolobata airdrome on Halmahera Tuesday and also attacked coastal installations and small shipping.

Supporting Gen. Douglas MacArthur's claim that Halmahera has been virtually neutralized, there was no interception.

Another raid on the Philippines Sunday night also was announced. Liberators bombed the wharf area of Davao, capital of Mindanao, largest island in the southern Philippines.

Another Liberator knocked out a 3,000 ton Japanese freighter near Boeroe Island, south of Halmahera.

JAPS' PRISONER WRITES PARENTS: 'SEE YOU SOON!'

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice H. Needham, 942 Lake Shore drive, took heart from the optimistic wording of a new type of Japanese prisoners' postcard received yesterday from their son, Ensign John Collier Needham, 28, who has been a Japanese prisoner in the Philippines since the fall of Corregidor. The card was addressed to the Needhams' former address, 219 Lake Shore dr. The card, which allows the writer a 50 word message in his own phraseology, says in part: "Everything is just fine. Not a scratch on me. Best wishes and love to you all, with highest hopes of dining with you soon." The word "soon" caught the Needhams' attention.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Lev, 5023 N. Lawndale av., also received a postcard yesterday from their son, Pvt. Norman J. Lev, who is a prisoner of war in Camp No. 1, near Manila. The card was the second received by his parents since he was captured by the Japs after the fall of the Philippines. It reported that he was "safe and well."

Bolivia Mine Owner Back Home; Missing 17 Days

LA PAZ, Bolivia, Aug. 16 (AP).—Mauricio Hochschild, Bolivian mine owner, and Adolpho Blum, his La Paz manager, returned home last night after a 17 day disappearance that they declined to explain except to say they had been thru a harrowing experience. Unshaven, hungry, and dirty, both men said only that they had spent the time since July 30 the day they disappeared from La Paz—in a room about 10 feet square, sleeping on mats on the floor.

DROUTH STILL PERILS CORN AND MEATPROSPECTS

Showers Called Mere 'Dust Settlers.'

BY GAIL COMPTON.

Chicagoans enjoying the cooler weather yesterday and the fresh glint of green which thundershowers brought to wilted lawns and dusty parkways, found it hard to believe that severe drouth still grips most of the corn belt.

The showers, which gave Chicago only .25 of an inch of moisture, were termed "very disappointing and mere dust settlers" by Forecaster H. A. Downs. There is a good chance that additional showers may develop in this area today. Temperatures will remain in the 80's, Downes said.

Showers Miss Many Places.

Sweeping in from Iowa, where Burlington reported 2.16 inches of rain, the showers moved east in a thin belt. They ranged from Peoria on the south with 1.15 inches of moisture, to La Crosse, Wis., with 2.01 inches, and southern Michigan, with from .25 to .50 inches, on the north. Within the rain belt, the showers alternated between light and heavy, missing many localities completely.

Meanwhile the Ohio valley, central and southern Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, and Tennessee continued to burn up in one of the severest summer drouths on record, the weather bureau reported.

Meat Prospects Dim.

Proof of the seriousness of the situation could be found at the Union stock yards yesterday where cattlemen expressed a gloomy view of meat prospects for the coming year.

With reports of damage to the corn crop ranging from 10 per cent to 75 per cent in many counties, farmers now are holding back on their purchases of stockers and feeders. Some have declared they will quit completely because they will have no assurance of getting the feed they need.

Calf Slaughter Booms.

Last week in 32 federally inspected slaughtering plants in the nation packers killed 233,036 head of cattle, a 33 per cent increase over the same week a year ago. The calf slaughter boomed to an amazing 90 per cent over the same week last year to total 124,727 head.

If the drouth continues the liquidation of live stock will increase rapidly, experts predicted. This will result in an even shorter supply of beef an diamb than now is expected, they said.

MULLANEY ASKS EXTRA CAUTION TO AVERT FIRES

Property owners and public were warned by Chief Fire Marshal Anthony Mullaney yesterday to turn fire watchers and help Chicago avoid a major blaze resulting from crowded conditions and carelessness. His caution was inspired by a large increase in fire alarms in July and in August to date.

Chicago can retain first honors in the nation, won last year by its Fire Prevention week program, only by extra vigilance, Chief Mullaney declared. He pointed out that there were 3,393 fires in July, an increase of 766 over the same 1943 month. In the first 15 days of August there were 1,838 fires, compared with 2,206 for the entire month of August, 1943.

Carelessness in the handling of smoking materials is the most frequent cause of fires, Mullaney warned. Burning of leaves in dry weather should be only in approved incinerators, he said.

NORTH AMERICAN AVIATION TO CUT 17,000 OFF ROLLS

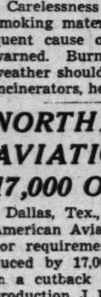

Dallas, Tex., Aug. 16 (AP).—North American Aviation corporation's labor requirements here will be reduced by 17,000 by mid-November in a cutback of Liberator bomber production, J. H. Kindelberger, president, announced today.

Sudden production curtailment orders on B-24 bombers, as well as the normal turnover in employes, will force the terminations, Kindelberger said. Final deliveries on all bombers will be made in November.

The gradual decline in employment, already started with a layoff of 3,687 employees, will whittle the labor force to approximately 17,500 by Nov. 15, he said.

Representatives of plants engaged in B-29 Super-Fortress production are now in Dallas to secure workers for the program. The Seattle plant of Boeing Aircraft company is seeking local terminated employees.

Taft Sees Peril in Army Blitz to Get Out the Soldiers' Votes

Washington, D. C., Aug. 16 [Special].—A get-out-the-vote organization that would be the envy of any political machine in the country has been created by the war department in carrying out the soldier voting law, Sen. Taft [R., O.] declared today as the house completed congressional action on an amendment to the act to modify restrictions on political propaganda.

Taft said war department instructions direct that company or unit voting officers be appointed to personally "assist" troops in obtaining federal or state ballots for the November election by supplying information and ballot application forms.

"They do say in the instructions," Taft told reporters, that 'no soldier shall be ordered to vote or marched to the voting place,' but it seems to me this business of personal solicitation is going a little too far. Full instructions posted where soldiers could see them would be proper."

Could Control Thinking.

The senator asserted the government so completely controls channels of information to troops overseas that it could exercise "a control of the thinking of soldiers such as Hitler himself would envy."

The amendment to the soldier vote law, which was approved yesterday by the senate and now will be sent to the White House, was introduced after a furof was whipped up for the army's strict interpretation of the act's provisions governing the circulation of newspapers, films, books, and other publications among troops.

Taft had denounced army restrictions as ridiculously absurd interpretations of the law and part of an army publicity campaign to compel relaxation of the act.

Many Books Curbed.

Circulation of a long list of controversial books and files among service men had been curbed by the army and navy under their interpretation of the original law's restrictions and their contention such circulation might violate the act's anti-propaganda section.

The amendment permits service men to choose their own reading material as long as the army and navy can supply it, and relaxes restrictions on films and broadcasts.

In making available to service men anywhere the reading matter of general circulation among civilians, the amendment requires only that partisan discussions in publications, radio programs, movies, and educational courses must give equal treatment to both sides of issues.

Army Begins Work

LONDON, Aug. 16 (AP).—The army has begun circulating cards for soldiers to fill out if they want absentee ballots for the Presidential election, Col. Thomas R. Kerschner, army voting officer, announced today. He said the cards will be given to every member of the military forces, right up to the front lines in France.

"Every one will be given an opportunity to vote," he said. "The army is merely providing facilities. It is making no campaign to get soldiers to vote."

A voting officer has been assigned to every company. There is a strict ban on commissioned or noncommissioned officers attempting to influence any other soldier on how to vote, but Kerschner said there is no restriction on "private and informal discussion of political matters."

PROMISE INQUIRY INTO ALLEGED MISUSE OF VETS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 16 (AP).—Full investigation of reports of inconsiderate treatment of war veterans returned from overseas was promised Sen. Cordon [R., Ore.] by the war and navy departments in letters the senator made public today.

Cordon asked for the investigation when he received reports that service men upon return to this country had been assigned menial tasks at camps and had not been granted furloughs or treatment their war records warranted.

Acting Secretary of War Patterson said investigation of the charges had failed to substantiate them and only one instance was found where soldiers were asked to assist in menial tasks. This, he said, was in a port where a shortage of personnel caused the returned veterans to be asked to assist with the work for a short time to expedite their assignments to reception stations.

Navy Secretary Forrestal said the only sepcific place where reports of harsh treatment of returned naval men could be traced was at the naval construction battalion replacement depot, Camp Parks, Shoemaker, Cal. He said the commander of the 12th naval district had been directed to conduct an investigation.

Bataan Mother Receives Medal for Japs' Captive

Mrs. Lelia Templin, 135 S. Schwab rd., Thornton, received the army air medal in behalf of her son, Sgt. Fred Templin, a prisoner of the Japs, in a ceremony last night before the Bataan Relief organization, at 155 N. Clark st. She is vice president of the group. The medal was presented by Lt. Jay Schatz, an air veteran of the European war. Sgt. Templin was captured in the Philippines in May, 1942.

AFL MACHINISTS FACE BUREAUS' WRATH IN STRIKE

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 16 (AP).—The navy today invoked the "severest sanctions" in efforts to force machinists to resume full war production in five San Francisco machine shops.

The sanctions included immediate selective service induction of all employes refusing to comply with reterurn to work order, "denial of further employment," and withdrawal of all supplemental gasoline privileges. The navy did not say whether the men could be employed in nonessential industries.

"These are probably the severest sanctions invoked, and altho similar to those used during the transit strike in Philadelphia, are slightly more severe," Rear Adm. H. G. Bowen, who took over the five machine shops on a Presidential order, said.

Officials of Lodge 68 of the Machinists' union [AFL], were not immediately available for comment.

Can't Speak for Men.

However, E. F. Dillon, business agent, commented yesterday, after the navy had seized five of the 104 "uptown" shops: "I don't know of any law that can make the men go back to work. I have no way of knowing whether the men will return to their jobs.

"We are law abiding citizens, but we think we understand our rights. I am not prepared to make any statement regarding what the individual workers will do."

The controversy, involving overtime work, started last March. The union, negotiating a new contract with the employers, banned overtime, contending it was not necessary to fulfill government orders, and that sufficient man power was available for the 48 hour week.

Both the regional and national war labor boards ordered the union to rescind the ban.

Union Disobeys WLB Order.

The union refused and ordered its members not to work at the Federal Mogul corporation, which supplies bearings to other plants in this vicinity. It was the only plant actually struck, but workers remained away from the other four shops.

Several members of the union refused to comply with orders of the business agents, Dillon and Harry Hook, and reported for work.

In the last few days more machinists have gone back on the job, but Adm. Bowen's report today showed that many still remained out.

GARDEN OUTLOOK MORE BULLISH WITHOUT BULLS!

Two peace loving bulls, fresh from the country, but with a taste for war gardens, were the object of a police search yesterday in the Morgan Park district until captured in a prairie at 111th st. and Pulaski rd.

Several squads of police were kept busy during the day runing down reports from irate residents that the bulls were devouring their carefully nutured gardens, and were eating what little the drouth had left.

The complaints poured in faster after Tuesday's night's rain which, the gardeners said, might have given their vegetables a new lease on life had there been no bulls around.

FESTIVAL'S WIDE OPEN SPACES TO CALL OKLAHOMA

Musical Show Audience to be 60 Times Normal.

Once in a while along comes a show no theater seems big enough to house. Take the Hammerstein-Rodgers "Oklahoma!" for instance. It moved into the reasonably capacious Erlanger last November and so far has played about 360 performances for about 480,000 persons, but the demand still is so great that those who have made almost a career out of chasing down tickets for "Oklahoma!" must often wish that there were 60 Erlangers available.

There will be, in effect, Saturday night. For the first time, probably, in Chicago theater history, the entire cast of a musical show is to move into giant Soldiers' field. The occasion is the 15th Chicago Music Festival, sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., and an audience 60 times as large as the Erlanger can accommodate will have the chance to enjoy a fast moving 30 minute condensation of "Oklahoma's!" best liked tunes.

Cast to Arrive Early.

The "Oklahoma!" cast will arrive early—about 7:25—for they must finish their presentation by 8 in order to get back to the Erlanger for the regular evening performance. The singers will be drawn into the arena in hayracks, and 30 cowboys will ride around the cinder track to lend the proceedings a proper western atmosphere. Some of these cowboys will be Chicago policemen in disguise; others will be habitués of the Flying V. F. Ranch, which has offices at 2434 Berwyn av. Tom Aumann, veteran rodeo performer and producer, who is said to be as bowlegged as any Texas cowboy, is to be in charge.

To the sound of a war whoop welcome from the spectators the "Oklahoma!" cast will proceed to the stage and, with Dave Burns, comedian, as announcer, will sing some of the high spirited songs which give "Oklahoma!" its unique character. There will be "Oh, What a Beautiful Mornin'," "People Will Say We're in Love," "The Surrey with the Fringe on Top," "I Cain't Say No," and "Oklahoma!"

Joel Gerhardt Will Conduct.

The singers to be heard include John Ralit, Betty Jane Watson, Dorothea Freed, and Mary Mario. Joel Gerhardt, the show's musical director, will conduct.

The 15th Chicago Music Festival will run from 7 p. m. to about 10:20. It will include great pageants and spectacles, some of them military; the music of huge instrumental and vocal ensembles, and a variety of other features.

OUT-OF-COUNTY CONTEST

BY PHILIP MAXWELL.

One hundred thirty-six singers from outside Cook county will participate in the preliminary Chicago Music Festival vocal contests at 4 and 7 p. m. tomorrow in the Grand ballroom of the Drake hotel. The public will be admitted. Admission is 35 cents.

At 4 o'clock the judges will be Richard De Young, Harry Walsh, and Hannah Butler. Dramatic sopranos, mezzos, contraltos, lyric and tenors, and baritones will compete.

At 7 o'clock the judges will be Thomas MacBurney, Mrs. Harriett Case Merner, and Mrs. Herman De Vries. Competing will be lyric and coloratura sopranos and bass-baritones. The only classification not represented is bass. Mrs. Edmund J. Tyler will have charge of the competitions.

"Sweet Adelines" Entertained.

Ten finalists in the "Sweet Adeline" contest, a feature of the festival this summer, were guests last night of the Cleveland Buffalo Steamship company on a moonlight cruise on the City of Grand Rapids. Several of the Adelines brought along their boy friends; a few arrived at the Michigan av. dock unaccompanied, saying their husbands or sweethearts were in the services. A barber shop quartet, the Elastic Four, went along for the ride and the chance to sing "Sweet Adeline." The queen of "Sweet Adelines" will be selected tomorrow noon at the festival luncheon in the Terrace casino of the Morrison hotel.

A rehearsal of the children's choir of Lutheran Summer school students, which will sing "The Nation's Prayer" at the festival concert in Soldiers' field Saturday night, will be held at 10 a. m. today in St. Stephen's Parish house, 6453 S. Peoria st. John G. Reick will direct.

Carpenters Return for Fete.

John Alden Carpenter, eminent Chicago composer, who will be the guest of honor both at the festival luncheon and at the Soldiers' field show, and Mrs. Carpenter have returned from their summer residence at Beverly, Mass., to prepare for the festival activities. Mr. Carpenter's "Song of Faith" will be played and sung Saturday night as the opening for the festival's radio show on Mutual Broadcasting system and on W-G-N.

Conferring with Mr. Carpenter yesterday were Henry Weber and Dr. Edgar Nelson, general musical director and general choral director, respectively, of the festival.

WOMAN RESCUES BABY AS BLAZE MENACES HOME

Mrs. Mary Fiumefreddo, 22, ran into the burning building in which she lives at 510 Hobbie st., yesterday to rescue her 8 month old son, Isadore, from their third floor apartment. She collapsed as she emerged with the baby in her arms, but was revived by firemen. Six families were driven to the street by the blaze, which was believed to have originated in rubbish in the basement.

Damage to two two-story buildings housing the Erie Vehicle company, an automotive repair business at 4529 S. State st., was estimated by Chief Fire Marshal Anthony Mullaney at $50,000. The blaze, which spread rapidly, fed by lacquers and gasoline, also destroyed equipment and several truck trailers.

Spontaneous combustion in paint supplies was blamed for a fire which destroyed the screen and several rows of seats in the Gaelic theater, 2425 W. 47th st., with damage estimated at $1,000. Three frame buildings at 9015-17-19 S. Mackinaw av. suffered an estimated $2,000 damage when fire originating under a back porch swept the rear of the structures.

OPA WILL NOT TAKE SIDES IN EVICTION CASES

The rent control office of the area office of price administration yesterday announced that it will not intercede for either landlord or tenant in eviction actions. John F. Mcarthy, director, said. "Evictions are decided by local courts and not by this office." He said the only connection OPA has with such actions is to note them in its files by means of a copy of any notice served on a tenant. Landlords under OPA regulations are required to file such copies within 24 hours of the time they are served.

McCarthy's deputy director, C. L. Perkins, said he plans to start "several" suits in the next few days against landlords accused of overcharging tenants.

Under regulations effective last month the OPA is empowered to sue for treble damages on behalf of the government if the tenant does not file such a suit in his own interest within 30 days after the overcharge is made.

SEVEN WARD CO. WORKERS FREED IN TWO COURTS

Seven employes of Montgomery Ward & Co., arrested for disturbances in the April strike when the army seized the Ward property, were discharged yesterday. Judge Irwin B. Clorfene in Women's court freed Miss Roselle Manino, 18, of 836 N. Oakley av.; Eric Stainer, 31, of 4030 Sheridan rd., and Joseph Saracco, 29, of 703 Taylor st.

Judge William V. Daly in South State st. court dismissed charges of disorderly conduct against Norman G. Twist, 32, of 3141 S. Kedvale av.; James Wilson, 41, of 6033 Nassau av.; David Cooper, of 2021 W. 62d st., and Charles Hellig of 3441 Ellis av.

SAVES 5 BUDDIES BY SITTING DOWN; WINS TOP MEDAL

Pvt. Richard Keith Sorenson, 20, of Anoka, Minn., who saved the lives of five marine comrades when he threw himself upon a Japanese hand grenade during the Marshall Islands invasion last February, proudly displayed his new congressional medal of honor in Chicago yesterday.

Sorenson was serving with an assault battalion during the battle of Namur atoll, Kwajalein, on Feb. 2. He and five other marines who had taken up a position in a shell hole were defending it against the Japanese when a hand grenade came over and landed in the hole.

Only Seconds to Live.

Sorenson and his buddies had watched as the Japanese slowly pulled the grenade pin in order to make certain it would explode in the shell hole and not be tossed back by the marines. When it thudded into the shell hole, Sorenson knew that death hovered a split second away. So he quickly sat down upon the grenade.

Sorenson took the full impact of the explosion but his quick action, officers agreed, saved his comrades' lives.

Badly injured, Sorenson spent six months in a Seattle [Wash.] naval hospital where, on July 19, the medal was presented to him by Maj. Gen. Joseph C. Fegan, commanding the corps' Pacific department. Sorenson's heroic act also merited him a citation from Adm. Nimitz as well as the Purple Heart.

Joined Marines at 17.

Sorenson, who was only 17 when he joined the marines, arrived in Chicago yesterday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl S. Sorenson of Anoka, where the marine has been spending a furlough which ends Aug. 31 when he reports back for duty. Last night he appeared on a radio program which dramatized his story.

The only one other living enlisted marine who wears the congressional medal of honor, the nation's highest award, is Gunnery Sgt. John Basilone of Raritan, N. J., who distinguished himself on Guadalcanal.

CONFIDENCE MAN GETS $10.

ICKES PICTURES POST-WAR WORLD FULL OF VILLAINS

Wants Senate to Detail Him to Foil 'Em.

BY WILLIAM MOORE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 16.—Interior Secretary Ickes painted congress a black picture of American business men today.

He warned against "cheats and chiselers," "inspired looters," and "scoundrels," who may attempt, as he portrayed it, to profit from the war in the post-war period.

Ickes said he knows how to foil some of the villains, at least: Put his department in charge of government real estate that is to be sold.

Vengeance Proposed.

In addition to foiling the villains he conjured up, Ickes proposed vengeance against some of the real estate owners who have had to sell the government their property for war purposes. If they made the government "pay thru the nose," Ickes said, they shouldn't have first opportunity to buy their places back. He didn't explain how to settle questions of the fairness of the price paid.

The secretary was a witness before the senate military affairs committee which is considering legislation for the disposition of surplus government property after the war.

Ickes lectured the committee on "sound public policy," and explained that benefits of the property disposal should be widely distributed.

No Super-Raffle Intended.

"But," he said, "this does not mean merely an equal opportunity to every one for a cut of the pie, a sort of super-raffle in which both the corporation and the veteran have a ticket entitling them to an equal opportunity to purchase a government plant or facility."

The aging secretary, telling the senators how to manage the government's billions, said:

"The tremendous volume of surpluses that will become available will constitute an equally great temptation to cheats and chiselers. The inspired looters of the past have thought out ways and means to tap the treasury, which have been both original and astounding.

Wants Scoundrels Blocked.

"They will do so again, unless tight controls on the disposal of surplus property are put into effect and unwaveringly maintained. One sound method of checkmating the scoundrels would be to place, insofar as possible, the administration of each type of surplus property in the hands of an agency which had had wide and long experience in the management, protection, and disposition of that type of property."

Ickes then said that his department has had such experience with public lands and recommended that the disposal of real property, other than industrial plants, be centralized in his department.

Otherwise, he said, Jesse Jones' Reconstruction Finance corporation will get the job.

Maury Maverick, chairman of the smaller war plants corporation, was another who asked a share in disposing of the surplus. He said his organization should be continued in the post-war period to help sell surplus machinery. He emphasized, however, that putting the government in business is farthest from his thoughts.

THE QUESTION.

What is the best cure for breaking a husband of wanting to sleep all day Sunday?

WHERE ASKED.

Dearborn and Randolph sts.

THE ANSWERS.

Mrs. Victor Kristen, housewife, 1922 N. Kostner av.—The method I use has proved quite successful. I keep talking to him and as long as he answers I know he is awake. When he starts to mumble I grab his sensitive big toe, which brings him to his feet. If he has a book to read he'll stay up all day and half the night.

Mrs. P. Usavage, housewife, 3307 W. 62d pl.—I think a woman can get a man to do anything if she knows how. On Sunday, instead of sleeping, my husband takes me out or helps me around the house. If I keep him busy he won't take a nap. But the minute things get dull and peaceful he heads for bed and his Sunday snooze.

Mrs. Stanley Griggs, housewife, 4058 S. Maplewood av.—If we have company my husband will stay awake and do his share of the entertaining. If I can keep him up during the early part of the afternoon chances are he'll stay up the rest of the day. But if he has enough time to get in a good nap that's exactly what he'll do.

Mrs. William Hermann, pay roll clerk, 5058 Parker av.—My husband likes to take a nap on Sunday and I've discovered it's best to let him sleep. If I didn't approve of his spending most of Sunday in bed I'd sprinkle water on his head, throw pillows at him or make a lot of noise. I'd make it so disagreeable he'd rather be awake.

Mrs. C. Huss, inspector, 441 Oakdale av.—When I see him edging off towards the bedroom for his Sunday afternoon nap I know the perfect remedy. I give him about 15 minutes of quiet — just long enough to start dozing—then I tickle the bottoms of his feet. I let him rest 15 minutes and repeat. He gives up—and gets up.

Mrs. Tom McLaughlin, 11443 Forrestville av.—Plan a schedule for Sunday so he will have to be up and around. Of course if you keep him out late on Saturday night and he works all week long you can't expect the impossible from him. If it's a matter of necessity that he get up on Sunday—run the vacuum sweeper over the bed.

3 DIE AS TRAIN HITS GAS TRUCK.

Towner, N. D., Aug. 16 [AP].—Three men were dead today of burns and injuries suffered last night when the first section of the westbound Great Northern railroad's Empire Builder struck a gasoline truck which caught fire. They were Charles Setterland, train engineer, and Ross Moore, fireman, both of Grand Banks, and Alfred Kelly of Minot, driver of the truck.

Fish Blasts Red Control of 'Labor' Party; Replies to 'Field Marshal' Ickes—in Verse

BY LAURENCE BURD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 16.—Rep. Fish [R., N. Y.] told the house today candidates who accept support from the American Labor party, which recently indorsed President Roosevelt for a fourth term, "must take the responsibility of being affiliated politically with the Communists."

The New Yorker in a floor speech also issued a blast in verse at Interior Secretary Ickes, whom he termed a spokesman for Earl Browder, Communist leader; Sidney Hillman, head of the Communist CIO political action committee, and President Roosevelt.

He recalled that Ickes in a recent speech at the ALP convention in New York City joined with the Communist-dominated party in an unsuccessful attempt to defeat Fish in the Republican congressional primary.

Red Rule Charged.

"The ALP in New York state is dominated and controled by the Communists," Fish said. "I recognize no possible compromise between communism and Americanism and shall not give or ask any quarter from Communists. Any one who asks for ALP support is playing into their hands and is a pawn for the Reds. The ALP in no way represents American labor."

Recalling that Ickes in "throwing his handful of mud" during the ALP convention referred to "frying Fish not only on one side but on both," the congressman drew applause and laughs from the house with this reply in verse:

American Labor party, here we are,
Browder, Hillman, and F. D. R.;
We've come to give you the government's keys,
And I'm their spokesman, Harold Ickes.

Fellow Communists, we have got the tin,
And are all out to do Tom Dewey in;

We'll dish it out against Curran and Fish,
For we are the united Communists.

I'm your spokesman, aged, aging Ickes;
Field Marshal Harry Hopkins and I agree—
Up with the hammer, sickle, and Red flag,
And a Communist victory will be in the bag.

I want you Reds all to know, however fickle,
That the Communist labor party is my selection

To assure the fourth termer's re-election;
Forward to victory, under the hammer and sickle!

Now, Field Marshal Ickes, let me say
That Communist, Red, and left wing condemnation,
In my district is the very best possible commendation;
So, lay on you Reds, I'll never give way.

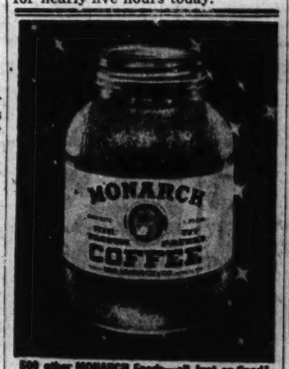

Field Marshal Ickes, you are on the way out;
Invincible in peace, and invisible in war;
After the election, you'll be given the door;
This is the end of your 12 years pout.

Burglars Tuesday night looted the home of Henry Tatian, 1018 N. Campbell av., of a set of silver valued at $200, several bottles of liquor valued at $35, and a briefcase valued at $40 and $33 in currency, he reported to police yesterday.

LT. O'CONNOR, PALERMO HERO, SLAIN IN FRANCE

Lt. James J. O'Connor, 26, of 4126 Wilcox st., a member of the Black Horse troop before induction into the army in 1941 and a veteran of Gen. Patton's tank corps, was killed in action in France on July 29, his family has been notified. He had fought previously in North Africa and in Sicily, winning the silver star at Palermo.

A letter from him telling how the troops had passed Cherbourg and Caen and were in the open on the way to Paris was received one day, and a telegram announcing his death came the next, his father, William J. O'Connor said yesterday.

Lt. O'Connor was born in Glasgow, Mont., and lived in Seattle until the family moved to Chicago in 1930. He was married, and his survivors include his widow, Jeanne, two children, Roger Coy, 4, and Dale, 20 months; two brothers, Coxswain Bernard L. and Apprentice Seaman Robert T., a recent graduate of Senn High school where he was a lieutenant in command of the R. O. T. C., and three sisters, Mrs. Patricia Layke, Betty, and Mrs. Marie Moshier of Seattle.

DEWEY BLASTS TALK OF 4-POWER RULE OF WORLD

Assails Proposals Before Coming Conference.

the peace of the world, these four allies must maintain their present unity.

"I have consistently advocated the maintenance for some time after the war of close military coöperation among the four powers so that if the Germans or the Japanese hereafter seek to evade their disarmament, we may strike quickly, together and with overwhelming might. That is a specific responsibility of the victors. It is an essential part of the winning of the war. This responsibility to keep Germany and Japan disarmed should be shared with liberated peoples, but it cannot immediately be delegated to a world-wide organization while such organization is yet new and untried.

"In organizing permanent peace among the rest of the world, after the difficult post-war period, a very different attitude must be taken. In some of these proposals there appears to be a cynical intention that the four great allied powers shall continue for all time to dominate the world by force and thru individual agreements as to spheres of influence. I hope and pray that no such reactionary purpose will be allowed to dominate the conferences, else the peace of the world will as surely as night follows day again be destroyed.

Fears "Rank Imperialism."

"The fact that we four have developed overwhelming power as against our enemies does not give us the right to organize the world so that we four will always be free to do what we please while the rest of the world is made subject to our coercion. That would be the rankest form of imperialism. Such a proposal would be rejected by the American people.

"Within the area of peace-loving nations, peace is a task of cooperation among equal and sovereign nations. Force is essential in any realistic program for the permanent maintenance of peace. But in the long term solution of international problems, peace and security cannot be left to the sanction of force alone. To leave them exclusively in the hands of a permanent military alliance of four victorious powers would be immoral. It would be a denial of the ideals for which we are fighting.

"The millions of Americans are not fighting and dying to dominate the world or impose our will upon freedom loving people. We are fighting for our own freedom and to establish once and for all the rights of people everywhere to live in peace and freedom, safeguarded from the coercion of more powerful nations.

Believe in Equality.

As Americans we believe with all our hearts in the equality and rights of small nations and minorities. We believe in the essential equality and dignity of the individual wherever he lives. We believe in his right to freedom as well as our own. We do not believe that we or any other power has the inherent right to control his destiny. We are fighting this war to a victorious conclusion for these very principles. They must not be lost in a cynical peace by which any four powers dominate the earth by force.

"We must not sink into the abyss of power politics. We must rise to a new high level of coöperation and joint effort among respected and sovereign nations to work for and to preserve the peace of the world thru all the years to come, based on freedom, equality, and justice.

"The kind of world organization we seek must concern itself with the basic causes of world disorder. It must promote a world opinion that will influence the nations to right conduct. It must develop international law. It must create an international tribunal to deal with international disputes.

All Must Have Rights.

"In the kind of permanent world organization we seek, all nations, great and small, must be assured of their full rights. For such an organization, military force must be the servant not the master. Only thus can we achieve the fellowship of peoples which is the essence of lasting peace. It would be a tragedy if the coming conference among the British, Russians, Chinese, and ourselves should be distracted from the task of planning for a genuine world organization for peace by proposals which amount merely to a permanent four power military alliance to control the world."

Dewey's statement indicated his concern over the forthcoming conference was so great he broke a self-imposed silence that was to remain in effect until he began his stump tour soon after Labor day. The statement was regarded as a warning to America's allies that the November elections may change the United States foreign policy.

Pvt. Wilfred A. Pratscher Dies of Wounds on Saipan

Pvt. Wilfred A. Pratscher, 21, of 4612 Shakespeare av., died July 8 on Saipan of wounds received two days previously, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pratscher, have been notified by the war department. A brother, Elmer, is in the marines.

HOFFMAN WANTS G. O. P. CONTROL OF HOUSE NOW

Criticizes Leadership as Lacking Push.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 16.—Criticizing Republican leadership in the house as lacking push and aggressiveness, Rep. Hoffman [R., Mich.], today asserted there was no need to wait until November elections to put thru congress a legislative program aimed at the correction of New Deal evils.

Symbolizing dissatisfaction among house Republicans, particularly those from the middle west, with the "play it safe" policy of the minority leaders, most of whom come from eastern states, Hoffman's voice was the second to be raised this week in behalf of immediate action against administrative inefficiency on the domestic front.

Rep. Rowe [R., O.], on Monday sent letters and telegrams to all Republicans, announcing his intention to present a privileged motion for reorganization of the house under Republican auspices. He expressed the view that the 212 Republicans could enlist the aid of a number of conservatives among the 216 Democrats and take control away from the New Dealers.

Hoffman Praises Plan.

Rowe was persuaded to postpone offering his motion by Minority Leader Martin [R., Mass.], who thought the move "untimely and unwise." Martin has long operated under a policy of "co-operation" with Speaker Rayburn [D., Tex.], which has irritated a large group among his followers.

Hoffman, just released from naval hospital where he spent 10 days recovering from an abdominal operation, in an interview praised Rowe's proposal and demanded:

"Why wait until after the election in November for Republican control of the house? I am going on the floor to demand action now. There is a substantial majority in the house right now, composed of Republicans and anti-New Deal Democrats, who will support constructive proposals for elimination of administrative graft, waste, extravagance, and inefficiency.

Claims Much Support.

"I have talked to scores of members who are sick and tired of the mild and spiritless attitude of the Republican leadership. They consider it smart politics to sit tight and wait for the national trend against the New Deal to return the Republicans to power next January. Why waste the five month interval? Why this do-nothing policy?

"Already we hear talk of compromise on the unemployment compensation bill. The New Dealers are ready to cut the scale of payments for the jobless from $35 to $20 a week if they can get control of the army of unemployed after the war.

"Why, for example, can't we pass right now a bill making it a criminal offense for a political labor organization like the CIO to force returning soldiers to contribute to the fourth term campaign of Mr. Roosevelt as a condition for obtaining employment?

Wants to Rout Reds.

"Why shouldn't we put thru legislation to fire from the federal pay rolls all Communists with foreign ideals and replace them with Americans? Why not an act to give all those oppressed by burocratic agencies a chance for a day in court?

"We have the votes right now to pass these and other important measures. The conservative Democrats are eager to assist Republicans in a constructive program. Let us give the nation a sample now of what an American congress can do in contrast to the flood of golden promises which Mr. Roosevelt and his followers trot out in each election year, only to be forgotten after the votes are safely garnered."

MARITAL SLEUTH'S CASE DEFERRED.

Charges of malicious mischief against David Karlstrand, 23, of 221 Clifton av., Minneapolis, Minn., a guitar player and singer who fell thru a transom at 160 W. 6,000 in Service Apply for Ballots Here Daily

Applications for ballots for men and women in the army and navy have been received at the rate of 6,000 a day since Monday, John S. Rusch, chief clerk for the election commissioners, said yesterday. He has assigned 50 clerks to examine the applications and to determine the ward and precinct from the home address. Envelopes which will contain the ballots and return envelopes are being prepared so they can be mailed as soon as the ballots are printed.

Corp. O. A. Kemp, Marine, Killed in Saipan Battle

Corp. Otis A. Kemp, 22, a marine, was killed in action on Saipan June 18, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Reno Kemp, 9241 Essex av., were informed by the navy yesterday. A graduate of Hyde Park High school, Corp. Kemp was employed, prior to his enlistment two years ago, in the disburser's office of the Illinois Central railroad at the Roosevelt rd. station. A brother, Virgil, is in the navy.

MAYOR'S CHARGE SMASHES AMITY OF DEMOCRATS

Efforts to cement relations between downstate and Cook county Democrats have received a setback, it was disclosed yesterday, because of Mayor Kelly's recent attack upon a proposed amendment to the state constitution.

Adoption of the amendment in the Nov. 7 election would permit sheriffs and county treasurers to be reëlected to succeed themselves.

Kelly announced last month he would oppose the amendment, stating in part: "I am against lengthening the term of these offices, because it will perpetuate the political machine that has grown up downstate."

About two-thirds of the sheriffs and county treasurers in the 101 downstate counties are Republicans. However, Sheriff Frank Trapp Jr., of Christian county, president of the Illinois Sheriffs' association, is a leading downstate Democrat.

Trapp termed Kelly's criticism "ill advised and misinformed."

"By attempting to inject partisan politics into this purely nonpartisan measure," Trapp said, "Mayor Kelly has unfortunately done a great injustice and disservice to all the downstate Democratic leaders and officeholders."

LIST BOND SALES 17 MILLION AHEAD OF REDEMPTIONS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 16 (AP).—War bond redemptions in the first 14 days of August totaled $129,622,063, compared with sales of $147,292,098, the treasury disclosed today.

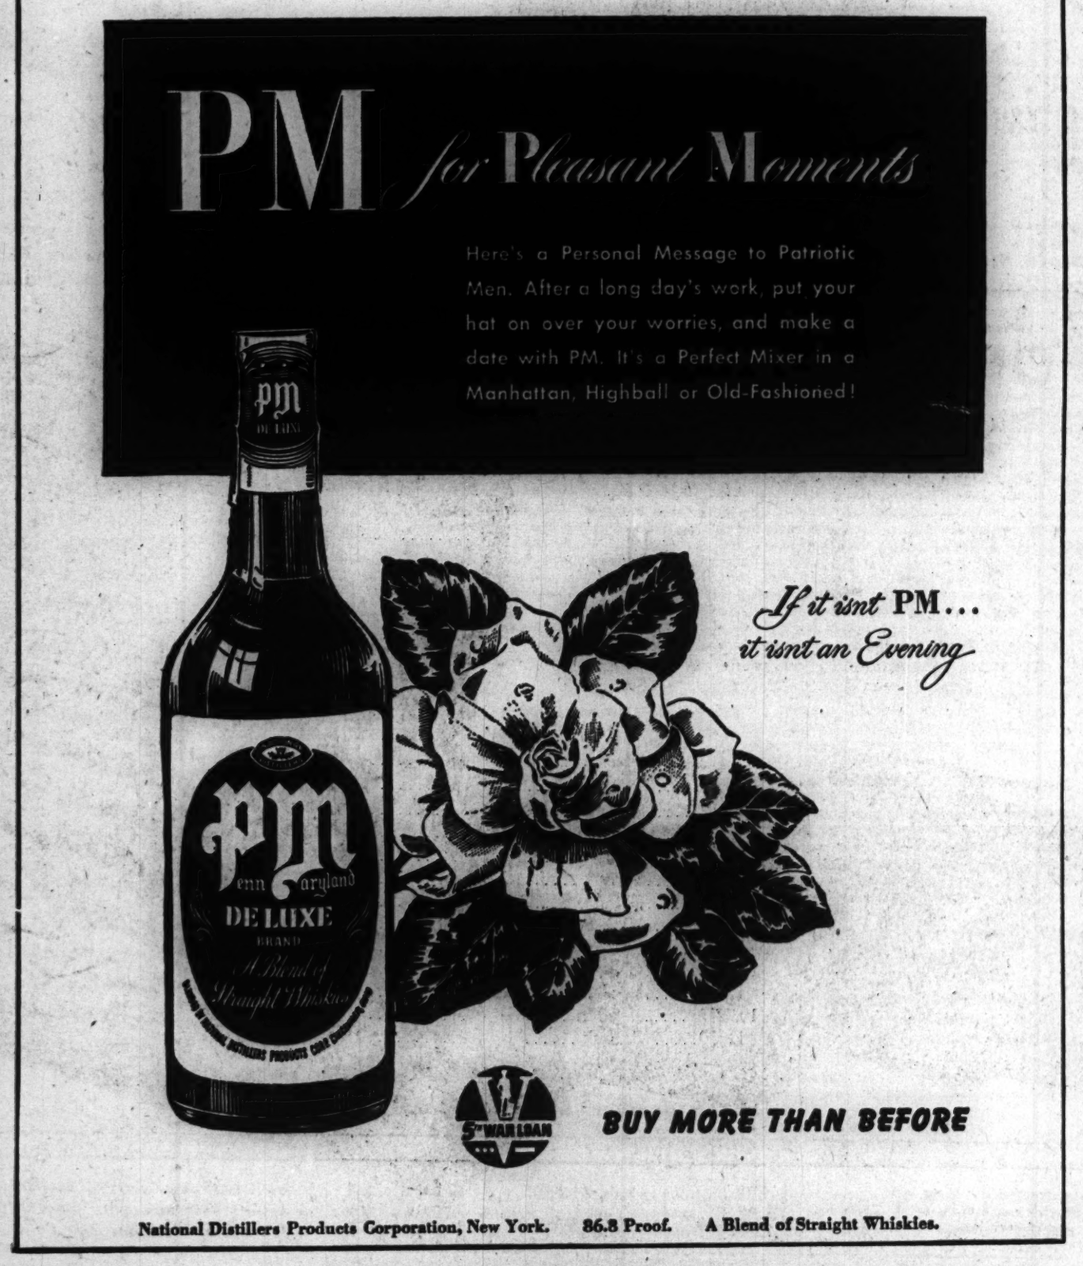

The only apparent explanation for the heavy redemptions was that the cashing of war bonds usually is heavy following the conclusion of a bond drive. For the current fiscal year, beginning July 1, war bond sales totaled $2,272,347,694 and redemptions $356,653,536.

WISCONSIN G.O.P. GETS 70 PCT. OF PRIMARY VOTES

Wiley Nomination Rebuke to Internationalists.

BY MAXWELL MURPHY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 16 [Special].—The outstanding feature of yesterday's Wisconsin primary in which Acting Gov. Goodland, and United States Sen. Wiley, were overwhelmingly renominated, was the strength of the Republican vote. Next in order comes the near extinction of the Progressive party. Two other significant features of the election were Sen. Wiley's defeat of internationalists' charges and the public rebuke of the CIO political action committee.

Thomas E. Coleman, Republican chairman, had predicted that the G. O. P. would get two-tthirds of all votes cast. Actually a projection of returns in 2,560 of 3,078 precincts, which is not expected to change much as the tabulation is completed, shows that the Republicans received 70 per cent of the vote, the Democrats, 24 per cent, and the Progressives, approximately 7 per cent.

It had been predicted that only about 350,000 votes would be cast in the primary, but, with 512 precincts still incomplete, 373,308 had been counted.

"Presages Dewey Victory."

In a statement today, Coleman said he was "overjoyed"; that the vote "presages an overwhelming Dewey-Bricker victory" in Wisconsin in November.

Altho it is not yet definitely decided, state candidates of the Progressive party appear to have polled just enough votes to get on the ballot in November, without having to file as independents.

To this end they need 23,602 votes. Wisconsin statutes provides that if all of the candidates for any one office voted for on any party ballot poll less than 3 per cent of the party vote for governor in the last two general elections, the candidate getting the highest vote can not go on the general election ballot under his party designation but must be called an "independent."

This bodes ill for the chances of United States Sen. Robert M. LaFollette who must seek reelection in 1946.

Nationalist Stand Vindicated.

Sen. Wiley, a nationalist, who was attacked by Wisconsin's few internationalist newspapers, and by some of his opponents for his pro-American stand on foreign and domestic issues, was completely vindicated by the voters, showing that the state still stands where it stood on April 4, when the Presidential candidacy of internationalist Wendell L. Willkie was crushed.

Sen. Wiley, Chippewa Falls, defeated three opponents: Capt. Joseph R. McCarthy, Appleton Circuit judge on leave with the United States marine corps; Leathem D. Smith, Sturgeon Bay ship builder, and Perry J. Stearns, Milwaukee lawyer.

With 2,622 precincts of 3,078 reporting, the totals were: Wiley, 131,548; McCarthy, 66,994; Smith, 32,507, and Stearns, 11,940.

Goodland Polls 123,165.

With 2,560 of 3,078 precincts reporting, Goodland had 123,165 votes to 65,390 for Delbert J. Kenny, West Bend; 33,351 for State Sen. Milton T. Murray, Milwaukee; 22,456 for Col. C. J. Otjen, Milwaukee, and 12,843 for Roland E. Kannenberg, Wausau.

Daniel Hoan, former Socialist mayor of Milwaukee, won the Democratic nomination for governor over John Zimmermann.

In the Republican race for lieutenant governor, 2,762 precincts gave Oscar Rennebohm, Madison druggist, 73,558 votes to 45,780 for State Sen. Taylor Brown, Oshkosh; 40,408 for Dr. Charles A. Dawson, River Falls; 34,283 for James E. Finnegan, Milwaukee, former attorney general of the state; 22,369 for Willis E. Donley, Menomonie, former pardon counsel to Gov. Goodland; 16,920 for Dr. Leon Nowak, Milwaukee; 14,149 for Otto R. Werkmeister, Milwaukee, and 13,674 for Arnold Fraedrich, Nekoosa.

The nomination of Rep. Lewis D. Thill in Milwaukee's 5th district was also a triumph for nationalist sentiment.

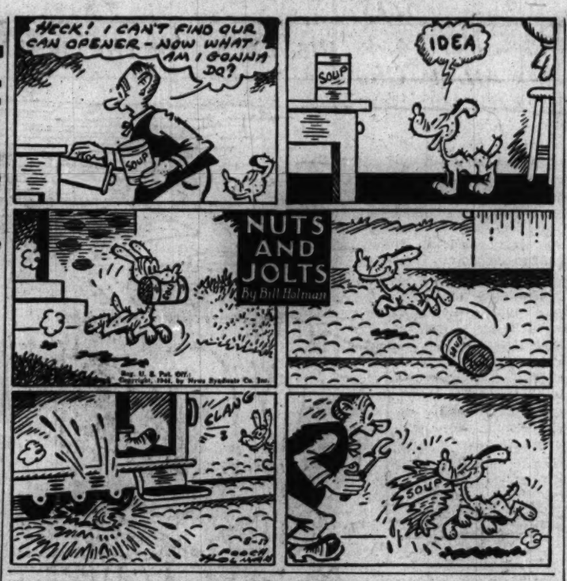

Thill was defeated two years ago by Rep. Howard J. McMurray, an internationalist.

Thill Faces Hard Fight.

However, Thill faces a hard fight at the election. Col. Frederick C. T. John, who ran second for the nomination, said today he would file as an independent candidate.

The drubbing of the political action committee of the CIO was administered in the 4th and 5th Milwaukee congressional districts. In the 5th the PAC supported Clem Kalvelage, Democrat, was defeated by Andrew J. Biemiller. In the 4th it supported State Sen. Anthony P. Gawronski, defeated by Rep. Thad. F. B. Wasielewski, Democrat. McMurray, unopposed for U. S. senator on the Democratic ticket, had PAC blessing.

No accurate count is available on the number of ballots cast by Wisconsin's 250,000 service men and women under the new state soldier voting law. It is estimated, however, that about 25 per cent of the service men who got ballots returned votes in time to be counted.

NEW DEAL VOIDS NEGROES' RIGHTS, SAYS BROWNELL

New York, Aug. 16 (AP).—Declaring the New Deal had "slapped down" the legitimate claims of Negroes, Herbert Brownell Jr., Republican national chairman, said today he had taken action to sue for the restoration of a slate of Georgia Republican electors selected by both Negroes and whites.

Brownell said that Democratic Gov. Ellis Arnall had upheld Georgia's Democratic secretary of state, John B. Wilson, in certifying a rival group of Georgia Republican electors selected without any voice by Negroes.

"This is one more evidence," Brownell said in a press conference, "that New Deal leaders who slapped down legitimate claims of the Negroes of this country at the New Deal convention in Chicago are maintaining that same attitude at the present time."

Brownell said the action would be filed in Georgia against the state secretary and that it would be carried to high courts if necessary.

Asserting the state secretary had disregarded the electors chosen by the Negro-white faction and certified by the Republican national committee, the national chairman said the group recognized by the state official consisted of "bogus Republicans." Both groups had announced for the Dewey-Bricker ticket.

BAULER, COUNCIL LAME DUCK, GETS $6,000 CITY POST

Mathias P. Bauler, Democratic committeeman of the 43d ward, was sworn in as city collector yesterday after the city council confirmed his appointment by Mayor Kelly. He will hold the $6,000 a year job, left vacant by the death of Louis Rixmann last June 20, until the term expires in 1947.

Bauler was alderman of the 43d ward for 10 years prior to April, 1943, when he was defeated for reelection.

Mayor Kelly also announced the appointment of Raymond W. Moore as acting deputy vehicle license commissioner. Moore, Democratic committeeman of the 44th ward, resigned Monday as chief clerk in charge of the Chicago office of the secretary of state. He takes the place of Edward J. Gorman, named acting vehicle license commissioner when John Szumnarski, the commissioner, was appointed to fill a vacancy on the sanitary district board.

FORECASTING BALDNESS

This young man has a good head of hair and doesn't feel that he will ever be bald. Yet his scalp is laden with dandruff, itches constantly, and he doses a great deal of hair each day. In a few years later it will be too late, and his appearance will be permanently marred, a serious handicap to anyone. Don't let baldness come to you, since scientific Warner treatment and proper care afterward can prevent it in most cases.

There is no charge or obligation for a scalp examination and consultation. Examination and treatment are given in strictest privacy. FEES FOR TREATMENT ARE VERY MODERATE AND ARE PAYABLE AS THE TREATMENTS ARE TAKEN—NOT IN ADVANCE. There is a separate department for women.

DEWEY-BRICKER CLUB, CARAVANS TO BOOST G.O.P.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

Early action was promised yesterday for the Republican campaign, with formation of a Dewey-Bricker club having a goal of a million members in Cook county and announcement that three G. O. P. caravans will start downstate tours Sept. 5.

At a meeting in the La Salle hotel 80 ward and township committeemen were asked to get busy enrolling members in the Dewey-Bricker clubs. Captains of the 4,579 precincts here will be given enrollment cards bearing pictures of the national candidates. The plan also was indorsed by the 23 Republican county nominees.

Opportunity for Independents.

"The independent voter knows that the sole hope of continuing freedom at home lies in the election of Dewey and Bricker," said George M. Fisher, county chairman. "This opportunity affords the independent the chance to work effectively."

Headquarters of the Dewey-Bricker club will be in the La Salle hotel. A 42d ward Dewey-Bricker club organized by Committeeman Paul C. Ross last week reported early success. B. J. Glaser of the Modern Bookkeeping System company wrote Ross that he had voted for Roosevelt three times but now is behind Dewey and Bricker, and will do all in his power to help elect them.

John L. Killian of the American Democratic National committee, anti-fourth term organization, wrote that he is giving from 12 to 14 hours daily to help the Republicans win.

John F. Tyrrell, state G. O. P. chairman, announced the caravan plans. Gov. Green and Earle Benjamin Searcy, nominee for Supreme court clerk, will travel together to meetings in central Illinois.

Lyons in Western Area.

Richard J. Lyons, nominee for United States senator, will hold meetings in western Illinois, accompanied by Arnold P. Benson, candidate for secretary of state, and Conrad F. Becker, candidate for state treasurer.

Lt. Gov. Cross will head the third group, to cover eastern counties, and including Atty. Gen. Barrett and State Auditor Lueder. Sen. Brooks will aid the candidates when his duties permit. The caravans will work five days a week. After Oct. 1, the candidates will move into Cook county.

THIEVES ABANDON LIQUOR LOOT.

Thieves who removed several cases of liquor from a tavern at 5555 S. Kedzie av., Tuesday night apparently had been frightened away before completing their mission, Phil Cuniglí, owner, told police yesterday. Twenty-three more cases had been piled by the thieves preparatory to removal.

AMERICA AND ISLAND BASES.

Introduction of a resolution proposing that the United States demand as a post-war security settlement all of the Japanese and Japanese mandated islands between the equator and the 30th parallel north, and acquire Bermuda and other West Indies islands owned by European nations, precipitated a debate in the senate Tuesday that is of vital interest to all Americans.

The resolution, introduced by Sen. McKellar, the Tennessee Democrat, carefully avoided any security claims against Pacific islands and bases owned by the British, Dutch, and French before the war, altho these islands were left undefended by them and had to be reconquered from the enemy or strengthened and occupied by American arms alone.

Sen. Chandler [D., Ky.] and some other members who have concern for their country's welfare perceived at once that the McKellar resolution did not go half far enough. Sen. Chandler told of the money spent for lend-lease and for military installations on islands owned by our allies and said that "we must have every island in every ocean that is a threat to the United States." He said that it is just as foolish to leave strategic islands in the hands of allies unable to defend them as it is to turn them over to our enemies. "We must say that we are going to have possession of every island in every ocean which, if in the possession of an enemy, or a weak friend, would be a direct menace to the people of the United States," he declared.

Sen. Reynolds, chairman of the military affairs committee, suggested that we ought to acquire all the British and French bases we need in the Pacific, the Dutch West Indies, and the French islands off Newfoundland as part payment of the debt of those nations to us in the first World war and in this war, and in payment for the expected American rescue of the Dutch East Indies. There is sound realism in all of these proposals and any American who opposes such demands is obviously an enemy of this country.

Col. Conrad H. Lanza, the military critic, listed in THE TRIBUNE some time ago the minimum number of Pacific bases America must control. He named the Aleutians, Hawaii, the Japanese mandated islands, Wake, Samoa, the New Hebrides, the Galapagos, the Philippines, and New Caledonia. We held pre-war title to the Aleutians, Hawaii, Wake, Guam, Samoa, and the Philippines. Control of the Japanese mandated islands, or as many of them as we want, belongs to us because we are conquering them. Ecuador, which owns the Galapagos, should not object if we take over defense of them for mutual security.

We now have military bases in the New Hebrides and New Caledonia, and we must keep what we need there, regardless of French and British pre-war title and post-war colonial aspirations. The British and French were powerless to defend these places from the Japs and we will have the job from now on. As for the islands in the Atlantic and the Gulf of Mexico, America must demand title to all of them. They are of no value to any nation which does not intend to attack us in some future war.

We may not want to put military installations on all of the Japanese mandated islands. Some of the Pacific islands, such as Saipan and Tinian in the Marianas, together with Guam, form a natural defensive group. Each of them has air fields for the ready protection of the others in case of attack. It would be difficult for an enemy to surprise all of them in a sneak attack and they are close enough to each other for easy communication. In defensive strength they are similar to the Hawaiian Islands.

Americans probably will want to hold Guadalcanal in memory of the heroism of its captors, but this tenure will have to be forced on the Roosevelt administration which will give away any island, or group of them, for an embassy dinner or an invitation to a court party.

War is the master teacher of military strategy. Our admirals and generals who are using the Pacific bases to whip the Japs will be in a much better position to know what bases we must hold for the defense of that ocean than any of the social planners Mr. Roosevelt would be likely to take with him to the peace table. If an American administration is seated in Washington in November it will follow the advice of men like Gen. MacArthur and Adm. Nimitz on the question of bases.

THE NEW DEAL ADOPTS THE BLACK LIST.

Thomas A. Quigley, a motorman who refused to obey the army's back-to-work order in the Philadelphia traction strike, has been fired, ordered to take an examination for army induction, and black-listed by the war man power commission for employment in any establishment subject to its orders for the duration of the war.

The black list was one of the most hated weapons used against organized labor. It has long been forbidden by various statutes, including the Wagner act. It is revived by an administration that pretends to be a friend of labor.

Organized labor has received numerous favors from the Roosevelt administration, both in the way of statutory assistance and of official tolerance of acts of violence. In return for these favors it has had to submit to the most comprehensive arrangement of shackles that government has ever placed on labor organizations in this country. The partisanship of New Deal labor agencies in favor of their friends and against their opponents in the labor movement has been open and notorious.

The objective of the Roosevelt administration in the labor field is the same that it is in every other field, that is, to make labor unions, along with business men, farmers, and the general population, completely dependent upon the fiats of the New Dealers. The self-proclaimed champions of labor will adopt any oppressive measure that they can find to accomplish this end.

CHICAGO LEADS AGAIN.

Careful organization, adequate publicity, and the patriotic zeal of its citizens have again demonstrated, in the waste paper drive, that Chicago leads the nation when there is a war job to be done. The paper campaign culminated in a curb pickup last Saturday in Chicago and suburban towns that far exceeded the most optimistic predictions. The quota of 5,000 tons for Chicago and 3,600 tons for the suburbs was exceeded by more than 1,000 tons. Full credit should be given to all of the volunteer and civic organizations participating in the drive. No little share is due John R. Robinson, chairman of the salvage committee of the Chicago Newspaper Publishers' association, who handled the publicity printed in Chicago newspapers and supervised in a large measure the coordination of the various interests participating.

A LITTLE PINK JUDGE.

George L. Quilici, a judge of the Municipal court, dismissed on Tuesday charges of disorderly conduct against Norman Zuckowsky of New York, a vice president of an AFL union of leather goods workers, and Artell Shelton, Zuckowsky's bodyguard.

When the men were arrested last Friday, Quilici went to the detective bureau with Alfred Kamin, attorney for the prisoners, ordered them booked, signed their bonds himself, and assigned their case for hearing to his own court, where it would not have been sent in the ordinary procedure of the Municipal court.

"We don't want Gestapo methods here; taking people from their homes and hiding them from their loved ones," said Quilici in discussing the charges. "Atty. Kamin is an old friend of mine and when he explained what happened I left my home to see that these men were not pushed around."

Quilici also ordered that the finger prints of the two men taken at the detective bureau be destroyed. "These men shouldn't have been finger printed unless they were known felons," he said.

Before accepting Quilici as a paladin of the 4th amendment, it would be well to go into the facts of the cases. Zuckowsky came to Chicago because of a dispute between the international union of which he is an officer and the Chicago local of that union. Employes in the office of the Chicago local summoned police, charging that he had entered the office, saying: "I'm taking over. Now get out or we'll be back to bust some heads."

Zuckowsky and his bodyguard then went to three war plants, where they attempted to interrupt production by calling strike vote meetings. Plant guards barred him from two of the plants and threw him out of the third. He and Shelton then returned to the local union office, where Zuckowsky entered, shouting: "We're back to bust them heads. Clear out, all of you, I'm taking over."

Two members of the police labor detail, who had been summoned by employes, were sitting in the office. When they arose Shelton swung on them and was knocked down. He and Zuckowsky were then locked up.

The pair thus weren't taken from their homes and hidden from their loved ones. They were a pair of labor goons attempting to settle a union dispute by violence and they were locked up after one of them had made threats of violence and the other had attacked the police. Quilici's dictum that the police should not have taken their finger prints without knowing that they were felons overlooked the fact that the way police find out whether prisoners are felons is to compare their finger prints with identification files.

Quilici, by his own actions and his remarks from the bench, is shown to have gone to the detective bureau, ordered the release of two goons who were willing to interrupt war production in the course of their violent prosecution of a dispute, and to have assigned their cases to his own court, all as a favor to a friend. The reason given for the dismissal of the disorderly charges was that the attorneys for the two contending union factions had agreed to it. Criminal charges are not private disputes. The charge of disorderly conduct was placed in the name of the people of the city of Chicago and the aggrieved union faction's agreement had no weight, a fact that Quilici should have recognized had he been a better lawyer. His conduct thruout the case demonstrates a serious lack of the impartiality and integrity that are essential in a judge.

Editorial of the Day

BANKS AND SMALL BUSINESS.

[Memphis Commercial Appeal.]

One of the most refreshing and encouraging notes we have heard struck in a long time came when Vance Alexander, president of the Union Planters National bank, and Norfleet Turner, president of the First National bank, outlined plans for bank credit for small business after the war. Mr. Alexander and Mr. Turner, just returned from attending meetings of the American Bankers' association's committees on credit for small business, indicate clearly that the so-called little fellow who has a sound proposition will be able to get bank credit and at a reasonable cost.

It is as it should be that the banks not only see the need of helping small business, but also propose to render such aid themselves. It will mean a very great deal for the perpetuation of private enterprise for the little man to be able to obtain credit without any necessity for visiting the federal agencies. It will be a favor for the taxpayers, too, for those engaged in private undertakings supply the stores without which the governmental cupboards would eventually be bare.

Above all, the small business breeds men of independent mind, with a stake in the country, who cannot be pulled and pushed about by every demagog who shows up with some pie-in-the-sky scheme.

This is remarkably like the army we remember, except that the latter got one ribbon to wear, and that when it was all over.—Detroit News.

ARMCHAIR PARATROOPER.

The invasion of France's Côte d'Azur is moving so rapidly that we are tempted to take a paratrooper's jump ahead of the news. A glance at the map shows that the principal objectives are Toulon and Marseille, and so, shouting "Geronimo," this armchair observer leaps into the harbor of the latter city and lands smack on the Ile Ste. Marguerite, a small, high rock crowned with a grim old structure of no architectural appeal. But millions of readers of historical romance have spent many thrilling hours there in imagination, for it is the Chateau D'If, the state prison from which the Count of Monte Cristo escaped and the Man in the Iron Mask didn't.

* * *

The books by Alexandre Dumas in which these two characters figured are among the all-time all-stars of romantic novels. Plays based on these tales have lived thru generations of barnstorming melodrama, and lively old citizens who were gallery gods in boyhood have vivid memories of the scene in which James O'Neill, father of the contemporary Eugene O'Neill, acting Edmond Dantès, the future Count of Monte Cristo, was flung from the walls of the Chateau D'If into the sea, tied up in a gunny sack. He arose, of course, and shouted "The world is mine!" to bring down the first act curtain.

* * *

The feet of D'Artagnan, a fictitious character as much alive to his admirers as Sherlock Holmes is to the Baker Street Irregulars, have trod the corridors of the Chateau D'If, for it was his unpleasant duty to conduct the Man in the Iron Mask to his dungeon. The Mask's crime was the treasonable impersonation of Louis XIV., his identical twin brother.

* * *

The last important incarceration at the Chateau D'If was fact, not fiction. Marshal Bazaine, the goat of the French military collapse in 1871, was sentenced to 20 years in the island prison. He escaped within a year, almost as romantically as a Dumas character.

* * *

Before the war, pilgrims could visit the island by excursion steamer from Marseille. It was a two-hour expedition that worked up a sharp appetite for a dish of the famous chowder called bouillabaisse on the Quai de la Fraternité.

SONG OF THE BACK PORCH.

I sing the good back porches of the city!
The railings gray-painted, the stairs up and down,
Somnolent and quiet, in summer's meridian;
The galvanized washtub, on the wall resting,
The cotton clothes hanging, motley and patient,
Defying the sun's bleach, day long and day long.

In the night hours, a grateful oasis!
The hot bedrooms stifling, the walls pressing in,
Heat in waves shimmering from the street asphalt,
Barring the prairie breeze, night long and night long.
The dark falls, caressing
The family resting, the working day ended;
Silent and peaceful, a pipe's fitful glowing
Marks the time passing till drowsiness conquers;
One, then another, the screen door soft opens;
The back porch, deserted, waits a new dawn.

Quizzicuss.

The Breeks of a Highlander.

[By mail from Edinburgh.]

The old Scottish saying, "Ye canna tak' the breeks off a Highlander," has been blown sky high by Pvt. Donald Lassen, U. S. army, my American relation from Chicago who spent a few days of well earned rest among my family circle in the capital of Scotland and at Pitlochy, the gateway to the Highlands. When I introduced him to one of our family acquaintances, a captain who was wearing the King's Own Scottish Borderers kilt [Leslie tartan], the dress evidently captured Donald's imagination. He immediately expressed a fervent desire to be the proud possessor of a pair of trousers, or breeks, of similar tartan. To his amazement the captain readily promised to present him with a pair of Leslie tartan trousers, which were duly handed over the following evening. After the ceremony Donald appeared in public for a few brief moments, wearing the trousers. Therefore he is the only person known to me who has succeeded in takin' the breeks off a Highlander. Alex Davidson.

[When Pvt. Lassen, a Line O' Type fan, returns from the wars, he will be invited to take a look at the Linemaster's MacArthur tartan waistcoat.]

SOLDIER'S DOG.

Little white dog waiting under the sink,
I wonder so often what you must think,
Waiting and watching for steps that don't come—
His feet step now to the war's far-off drum.
Little white dog, do you dream of the day
When he came home in his army array,
And you barked at first, till you caught his scent?
Then how you expressed all the longing pent
In your faithful heart for many a week!
Dumb indeed are we humans who only speak.

J. D. A. asks: "Does the 90 days active service called for in the G. I. law have to have been served after Sept. 16, 1940? I entered service Dec. 8, 1939, and received a medical discharge Nov. 27, 1940, which would only amount to two months and a few days active service after Sept. 16. I wonder if I qualify?"

Instructions issued by the veterans' administration state that the 90 days, or less service need not all be within the period Sept. 16, 1940, to the end of the war, but may include service extending into or beyond such period." It appears from this statement that any person whose period of active service extends even to single day beyond Sept. 16, 1940, would qualify if his total service exceeded 90 days or he was discharged on a C. D. D.

CURB ACTIVITY ON DOG DAYS.

THERE seems to be no question that some of us take outlandish chances with heat. We fail to realize that an overdose of the direct rays of Old Sol may be deadly. True, the system is provided with an automatic mechanism, by means of which we can throw off excessive caloric. This bit of machinery, however, can be put out of commission by disease. Furthermore, it may fail to operate if it is overloaded.

Our tissues have been set to function at about 98.6 degrees F. That level establishes activity and the rate at which we burn up our food. Under violent exercise, the fires which are kindled must be vented. In other words, an exit flue must be supplied, otherwise internal combustion will mount too high. Thus we perspire in an effort to cool the skin and to carry away waste. The one who discovers on a torrid day that evaporation is not taking place from the cuticle, that he is not wringing with sweat, may assume that something is wrong. The very panting of the household pup is an effort to get rid of the products of metabolism.

It has been said that if man's body were only regulated to operate at 90 degrees instead of 98, he could live several hundred years. Such a pace would be pretty sluggish and we would probably get less fun and enjoyment out of life. We can be content with our lot but not foolhardy, when it comes to exposure. Sunburn may be as serious as the destruction caused by flame. It all depends upon the amount of tissue which has been lost or that requires replacement. Whenever the temperature of the air is 100 degrees or thereabouts, we can look out for sunstroke or heat exhaustion. At such a time, we must practice deliberation and avoid mental conflicts.

Just the other day, one of my colleagues had a patient in the hospital who had a narrow escape. His elimination was not up to par. Nevertheless, he declined to desert his companions and participated in a long hike at a near-by summer resort. He was rushed to the city because of a typical case of heatstroke with delirium, high fever, and well nigh complete suppression of urine. He recovered, but he will sense the effects of his experience for several months to come.

There is something about heat that retards mental acumen. We can read Kipling and understand the abysmal depression which comes to the inhabitants of India, where a sizzling wave will last for weeks. We are fortunate that prolonged hot spells are not the rule in many parts of our country. They may persist for a day or two but rarely longer.

At any rate, there are compensations. We can indulge in frequent, tepid to cool baths and we can sleep in our birthday suits—avoiding drafts. We can cover the forehead with a wet towel and sponge the epidermis at intervals, even sprinkle the sheets with water. But, best of all, is not to hurry, race, or run to figurative fires when the sun is in its zenith. Those who lose large volumes of fluid must replace minerals as well as liquids. Thus it is that ten grain salt tablets will be demanded from two to a dozen times a day, depending upon the quantity of perspiration. Yes, let's acquire a healthy tan, but achieve it gradually.

REPLY.

Weakened channels, possibly associated with an elevation in blood pressure. Hardening of the arteries must be considered.

TOO MUCH SUN.

V. L. writes: After a sunburn, is it better to let nature heal, or should lotions or other preparations be applied?

REPLY.

A bland ointment, for the purpose of allaying irritation, is advised.

REPLY.

Probably not. At any rate, have your vision checked by an expert.

DECREASED SECRETIONS.

REPLY.

Poor circulation, or a deficient nerve supply to the factories [glands] which produce saliva. Chewing gum may stimulate the flow.

HIS BACK TO THE WALL

Of Human Nature.

Once, 2,000 years ago, there was a country whose name, broken down to its Latin roots, meant the country of warlike men.

Its people devoted themselves from childhood to fatigue and handships and gave their life to hunting and the pursuits of the military art. To commit robberies beyond their borders was no infamy, for this tended to discipline their youth and prevent sloth, and they considered this the real evidence of their prowess: that their neighbors should be driven out of their lands and abandon them and that no one dare settle near them.

They were men born amid war and depredations, and neither morass nor forest obstructed them as, allured by booty, they advanced always further into the territory of their neighbors. They were men of huge stature and incredible valor and practice in arms, and oftentimes their fearful neighbors on encountering them could not bear even their countenances and the fierceness of their eyes.

So events were when their leader, a mighty king, led them across the Rhine. He settled in the territories of two other peoples and seized a third of their land, which was the best in the whole of that land we now call France, and ordered them to depart from another third because 24,000 of his followers had come to him and required room and settlements. The consequence was that in a few years all the peoples native to this fair land would be driven from it.

The invading leader was a demanding man, and no sooner did he defeat these peoples in battle than he began to lord it haughtily and cruelly, to demand as hostages the children of all the principal nobles and wreak upon them every kind of cruelty if everything was not done at his nod and pleasure. He was a savage, passionate, and reckless man, and his commands could no longer be borne.

Thus it was that the conquered peoples petitioned the aid of another great warrior come from afar. In talking with them the latter noticed that one group was silent and did not speak, but gazed at the earth in sadness, their heads bowed. What of these, he asked, and was told that the lot of these people was more wretched and grievous than that of the rest because they alone did not even in secret complain or supplicate aid; and shuddered at the cruelty of their conqueror even when absent, just as if he were present; for the others could flee, but all torture must be endured by this tribe, who had admitted the conqueror within their territories, and whose towns were all in his power.

So the warrior from afar sought audience with the conqueror from beyond the Rhine and threatened him with attack if he did not withdraw his warriors from this land.

The conqueror replied that the right of war was that they who had conquered should govern those whom they had conquered in what manner as they pleased. As for threats, no one had ever entered into a contest with him without utter ruin to himself, that any attacker would feel what his invincible men, well trained beyond all others in arms, who for 14 years had not been beneath a roof, could achieve by their valor.

Moreover, he said haughtily, he had not crossed the Rhine of his own accord, but on being invited and sent for; that he had settlements there granted by the tribes themselves; that the hostages had been given of their own good will; that he had not made war upon these peoples, but the peoples upon him; that he was a man who sought friendship, not war.

As he uttered these unctuous words, his men cunningly began to attack the men of the great warrior come from afar. In time it developed into a battle that raged up and down the land. And in time he, and all his mighty army, were either dead or fleeing back across the Rhine in humiliation and defeat.

The land of the warlike men was that known as Germania, the conqueror was Ariovistus, the warrior from afar was Julius Caesar, and you may find it all soberly chronicled in Caesar's commentaries on the Gallic wars.

THE COMMANDER IN CHIEF'S BROADCAST.

Greensboro, N. C., Aug. 14.—Last Saturday evening my colleagues and I were treated to a most unusual feature thru our radios. Who would have believed that the commander in chief would use the art of telling bed time stories as a means to garner votes? What a gripping saga of the sea—"The Tale of the Flounder and the Halibut," or "How to Get Suntanned in the Aleutians!"

What was the purpose of that broadcast? What new information did it convey to the American people which was not already known? If it were meant to be a travelog for the purpose of entertainment, then I would much rather have listened to Burton Holmes. If it were for the purpose of describing the geographical aspects of the Pacific with a few tactical scenes thrown in, then I would have referred myself and the other listeners to the various newspapers, news services, the movies, and the illustrated magazines.

If this new technique is what Mr. Roosevelt meant when he said he wouldn't campaign in the usual political sense, then I am certain that the American people will agree with my colleagues and I that Mr. Roosevelt will lose more votes following such a broadcast than he will gain, and that he is "a tired old man" whose longing for a return to Hyde Park permanently must be fulfilled by a sympathetic voting public in November.

A TIRED SERVICE MAN.

THE FOURTH TERM'S HELPERS.

Warsaw, Ind., Aug. 12.—It has been hard for us, the young fathers of today not to develop a pessimistic attitude toward the future of our families and ourselves. Most of us came out of school into the midst of the depression of the '30s. It was practically impossible for us to get a start into our chosen field. Many of us fought hard to hold onto our self-respect and ambitions for which we had worked, struggled, and studied long weary hours. Most of us have come thru with our heads high and the sparks of these desires still alive and only waiting for the opportunity to kindle them into a flame. We were able to do this only because we had deep faith in this republic into which we were born. There were those, however, who did the same thing that they had done in high school or college, that is, grab the easiest thing that came along, sacrificing their respect and character to obtain financial success.

These are the individuals who now make up our many New Deal bureaus and are the so-called labor leaders. These fellows are the ones who have control of our government today. They want another term of New Dealism because each and every one of them knows that they could not possibly make a decent living on their own initiative. They have been easy picking for Messrs. Hillman, Browder, Kelly, and Pendergast. Almost without exception the men of this category are those with pleasing personalities, a flowery tongue, and no thinking capacity of their own. They are the ones who are now asking for another term in which to ruin the future of not only this generation, but, more important, that of our children. Sometimes I find myself looking at my two young daughters and wishing that they had not been born into this mess.

This, to me, is the most important thing facing the United States today, second only to the ending and complete winning of the war. C. E. F.

LIMITATION OF OUTPUT.

Chicago, Aug. 13.—In answer to Sgt. R. E., Pollocksville field, N. C., about the size of a paint brush—I don't know what his business or trade was before he went in the army, but I'll bet that he is not a painter. I'm a painter and like many thousands of other painters, I expect to be using a paint brush the rest of my life. The size limit for a paint brush in Chicago is 4½ inches in width. You try painting with one of these brushes 8 hours a day and at the end of a week or two you won't want an inch or two added to the brush. If there was no size limit it wouldn't be long before they would have us using 12 inch brushes.

Don't forget, Sgt. R. E., some day you and your "buddies," just like my son, are coming back to your jobs, and I'm sure you would like to come back and find working conditions at least as good as they were when you left. Remember, labor has been fighting for years for good working conditions, and I believe we should fight harder now, so you boys will have something to come back to after this war is over.

REDISCOVERY OF THE PACIFIC.

Barrington, Ill., Aug. 13.—A few weeks ago your paper stated that F. D. R. would soon rediscover the war in the Pacific. How right you were, but I'll bet you didn't figure on the colossal pearl of wisdom dropped by the military and naval genius: "We need more bases nearer Japan." I don't suppose MacArthur ever thought of such a thing while he was aimlessly capturing various Jap positions.

'Miss Lieutenant'

By Nina Wilcox Putnam

(Copyright: 1944: By Ines Eliot.)

SYNOPSIS: Lt. Carol Melton of Kansas, an army nurse in North Africa, overhears a military conference in which the need for maps and photographs of the crooked little towns along the Riviera is discussed. She tells Col. Barlow her identical twin, Lita, is married to a Frenchman, who has a collection of maps, drawings, and photographs of all the secret passageways along the coast, that she was educated at Nice, and knows every inch of the coastline. She persuades him to recommend her for the mission, and is transferred to intelligence. Two experienced Commandos will accompany her. Col. Barlow confides that information known only to trusted officials about the troops in Africa has been leaking out. The informer knows the Riviera well. Taken by ferry to a submarine, Carol finds one of the Commandos is Bright Stoner, a childhood sweetheart, who has always stood between her and other men. On the way to Le Bastion, the castle of Lita and Jacques Cassard, they come to the restaurant of Papa Brochard, husband of Carol's old nurse, Mme. Victorine, and learn Lita and Jacques are friendly with the German officials. Wearing clothing Lita had given to Victorine, and with Bright disguised as her porter, they are nearing the castle when a Gestapo car passes them. Jacques Cassard is in it. Bright hides in the tool shed while Carol enters the castle where she is greeted as Lita. From Victorine she learns Lita has been gone for three days, taking money and valuables with her, that Jacques had violent words with Karl Herman Janner that morning, and that the castle's secret passages are unknown to the Germans. Carol smuggles Bright up to the secret room under the roof. She will send the maps up to him and meet him at Brochards. At dinner, Maj. Fritz Uhlan is taken from the table in a drunken stupor. Carol is questioned about the maps but disclaims any knowledge of them. Locked in Lita's room, she hears quarreling below.

INSTALMENT XVI.

CACHE EMPTY.

Carol sat up and felt for her small flashlight and the gun which she now carried in a holster inside her blouse. Then she made her way cautiously toward the armoire, opened the door, and with sensitive fingers found the knothole in the panel. The panel slid back, and stepping into the huge wardrobe she shut the outer door of it behind her with some difficulty as there was no inner knob. Only then she turned on her flashlight. The secret stairway lay before her.

Carol's soft shoes made no sound as she descended into the blackness below, but she moved with infinite caution, pausing every few steps and listening. But here in the secret depths of the castle's thick walls nothing was audible but the beating of her own heart. At the bottom of the stairs she laid her ear against the panel leading into the drawing room. Nothing. If there was anybody in the room they were being almighty quiet. She snapped off her flashlight and opened the panel. It made a faint click as it fell back and her heart leaped to her throat as she stood rigid. But there was no responsive sound or movement and so after an age long second she stepped out into the velvety blackness.

Then she closed the panel to the staircase behind her. There was no escape that way. Once she had the maps she would attempt some other channel, one by which she could reach Mme. Victorine if the old bonne were still in the building, or perhaps try to go direct to Bright.

Altho the drawing room was deserted, there seemed no sense in risking a light. Presently she reached the fireplace and came within a hair's breadth of stumbling over the poker and tongs. Then she was safely past. One more turn and the draperies of the north window brushed her cheek. The piano would be close now. Just beyond here would be the place. She took three more steps and made sure. Yes, this was it, under the rug in front of the Manchurian cabinet.

She rolled the small throw rug aside carefully and knelt down, excitement enveloping her with such force that she could hardly go on with her task. Using infinite caution, for the parquet in which the cache was hidden was apt to swell, she got it open. But before she had time to turn on her flashlight she was frozen by a sudden sound from upstairs.

It was a weird sound, dull, quickly stilled and altogether puzzling. It might mean an alarm or nothing more than the banging of a distant shutter in the wind. But it was enough to make Carol close the opening she had just unearthed and roll the rug back into place.

There was no further sound from above. Indeed the castle seemed to have settled into a tomb-like stillness, but presently she became aware of something far harder to endure than any sound could have been. Without hearing or seeing anything to back up the evidence of her senses, she became aware that there was somebody in the room.

Panic seized her and a wild desire to escape. Moving with infinite caution and scarcely breathing, she felt her way past the piano and then stumbled into an armchair in which some one was sitting. There was a hand under her own—an icy, motionless hand, and with an unspeakable chill of horror Carol realized that she had touched a corpse.

The surprise of it threw her off her guard and she was barely able to strangle the cry of terror which rose to her lips. The sound she uttered was scarcely more than a faint moan, but the damage apparently was done. In the darkness of the entrance hall a shadow moved noiselessly. Then a flashlight swept first the doorway and then the ceiling. Suddenly it illuminated her own face and for an awful instant she stood blinded by it. Then the light was extinguished abruptly and in another second Bright was beside her. His strong arms held her fast and his warm mouth was against her ear.

"Victorine told me they had locked you up," he whispered. "I finished off that Jerry outside your door and when I found your room empty, I came looking for you, Kansas! Are you hurt?"

"No," she gasped, "but something awful has happened. Bright, there is a dead man in this room. Here, right beside us. Use your flash."

The small disk of white light was hideously revealing. Still slumped in the chair into which he had sunk in his drunken stupor was the body of Fritz Uhlan. Carol leaned over and examined the dead man.

"Bright!" she said excitedly, "This man has been murdered!"

"Murdered? Who is the guy?"

"It's Fritz Uhlan, that's all!"

"There'll be one heck of a fuss over this. What makes you believe it's murder?"

"Smell that fruity odor like peaches? That's cyanide. It's unmistakable. And you can be sure he never took it himself, he wasn't that kind."

"Who would have given it to him?"

"I'm not sure, but I have a guess, Janner."

Her brain was working like a trip-hammer now. Who but Janner had had the opportunity for doing such a thing? Janner could have done it when he led the drunkard from the dining room and gave him coffee. Or it must have happened later for the body was not yet stiff. Yes, she remembered now that from the secret stairwell she had heard Uhlan's maudlin tones and Janner's sharp retorts.

At any rate Uhlan's death was going to mean terrible trouble for all of them—Lita, Victorine and her connections. Herself and Bright, unless they could contrive to get away at once.

"Whoever did it, we are getting out of here pronto!" he told her. "You got the maps?"

"No. You startled me just as I was reaching for them."

"Rustle 'em up quick, Kansas!"

"This way!" she said.

He helped her roll back the rug and they both knelt beside the opening concealed beneath it. One flash of light, quickly extinguished, showed that the hiding place was empty.

"Well I'm a son of a longhorn!" Bright was savage. "You sure this is the spot?"

"Positive."

He got up and helped her to her feet, pushing the rug back. She had made a fool of herself and of Bright; she had endangered their lives for nothing. They might be somewhere else in the castle or, conceivably, in safe hands outside. Perhaps Lita had them! Taking the maps along was the sort of thing Lita would do. If Carol and Bright could get back to Brochard's, they might discover some way of reaching Lita. Victorine knew all the secrets of the castle. It was not impossible that she had removed Jacques' papers.

FCC REBUFFS CIO MOVE TO CANCEL RADIO LICENSE

Refuses to Subpena 3 in Program Inquiry.

BY PHILIP DODD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 16.—The federal communications commission today denied a petition of the CIO United Automobile Workers to subpena three top officials of the National Association of Manufacturers in connection with the union's effort to cancel the license of radio station WHKC, Columbus, O. The union, in asking the cancellation, charged that the station "slants" its programs against the CIO.

E. T. Frankensteen.

The N. A. M. officials for whom subpenas were sought were Alfred P. Sloan, chairman of the board of General Motors corporation, and James S. Adams, president of Standard Brands, Inc., both N. A. M. directors, and William S. Rainey, N. A. M. radio director.

Programs Called Biased.

The petition, prepared by Richard T. Frankensteen, vice president of the UAW charged that a series of programs offered by the N. A. M. to WHKC and other radio stations were biased and portrayed industry as solely responsible for the war production record. The petition was denied because none of the N. A. M. programs has been broadcast by WHKC.

The CIO effort to link the N. A. M. with the WHKC case came at the opening session of the FCC hearing on a UAW petition to cancel WHKC's license. In response to a subpena issued last week, scripts of talks made by Col. Robert R. McCormick, publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE; Fulton Lewis Jr., Boake Carter, and Sheelah Carter over the Mutual Broadcasting system and WHKC, were submitted to the FCC.

Censorship Charged.

Talks by Upton Close and Dewitt Emery, president of the National Small Business association, also subpenaed at the request of the CIO, will be presented later, Louis G. Caldwell, attorney representing W-G-N and Mutual, told Ray C. Wakefield, FCC commissioner presiding at the hearing.

The UAW had the scripts subpenaed to bolster their contention that WHKC broadcast anti-labor network speeches while deleting statements on similar subjects from speeches submitted to the station by the CIO.

Carl M. Everson, vice president and general manager of WHKC, testifying today, saying relations between his station and the CIO local had been harmonious until Frankensteen went to Columbus. The station had been broadcasting a weekly CIO program for two months, featuring talks and dramatic scripts by CIO workers, Everson said.

Antagonistic Script Altered.

On Aug. 5, 1943, a talk was submitted by the CIO, to be given by Frankensteen over WHKC Aug. 8, Everson said. He said the material in the script as submitted was controversial and antagonistic, making direct attacks on Senators Taft [R., O.], Wheeler [D., Mont.], and Nye [R., N. D.]. Everson said he ordered the script rewritten, acting under the code of the National Association of Broadcasters and the station's contract with the UAW-CIO permitting the station to make changes in scripts for sponsored programs.

The CIO protested to the FCC, alleging censorship of its programs, but made no effort to block the renewal of WHFC's license, which expired in February, 1943, Everson testified. The station's present license expires in November, 1946.

SEDITION TRIAL HEARS OF IDEA TO DROWN REDS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 16 (AP).—A letter advocating "burying the Jews here and driving the Communists into the Pacific and Atlantic oceans, thru civil war if necessary," and signed with the name of Frank W. Clark, a defendant in the mass sedition trial, was introduced in evidence today. Clark was chairman of the National Liberty party.

The letter was one of more than 160 exhibits finally admitted by Justice Edward C. Eicher after several days of argument. The defense had contended that their seizure, in a federal bureau of investigation raid on German American bund headquarters in Los Angeles, was illegal.

Another letter in Clark's name, under the date of July 28, 1938, to L. Fry, secretary of the anti-Communist federation, said the writer was trying to get "not less than 2,000,000 red blooded American fighters" to concentrate on the west coast to oppose a national transportation tie-up which he asserted "Red workers" were planning. That tie-up, the letter said, would be the "first move in the overthrow of the people of the United States and its government by force and violence."

GOV. GREEN'S TAX COMMITTEE WILL HOLD HEARINGS

The scope of the report to be submitted at the next legislative session and schedule for future hearings were discussed by Gov. Green's joint legislative committee to investigate tax problems at a meeting at 105 W. Madison st. yesterday.

State Sen. Walker Butler, chairman of the committee, said the members consulted with George Mitchell, Chicago tax expert. The committee will meet again in Chicago Sept. 8 and later in the year will hold open hearings at which representatives of various tax groups will be invited to submit oral or written reports.

Members of the commitee include Senators Martin B. Lohmann, Pekin; George D. Mills, Chicago; Wallace Thompson, Galesburg, and Representatives Reed F. Cutler, Lewistown; Homer B. Harris, Lincoln; Jesse Higgins, Oblong, and Charles H. Weber, Chicago.

YANK BUYS $1,000 BOND.

WITH AMERICAL DIVISION IN SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, July 31 [Delayed].—[AP].—Members of this division tripled their war bond quota in the drive ending July 31. Pvt. Richard F. Bretschneider of 5848 S. Elizabeth st., Chicago, bought a $1,000 bond.

MINE UNIONIST GETS YEAR FOR INCITING STRIKE

Lexington, Ky., Aug. 16 (AP).—James Thacker, former president of a United Mine Workers' local union in Middlesboro, Ky., was sentenced in federal District court here today to two concurrent one year terms in prison on charges of violating the war labor disputes act in connection with a coal strike at a government operated mine in Bell county last year.

Judge H. Church Ford dismissed similar charges against Robert L. Hodge, Harlan, secretary of district 19, UMW, and James A. Bates, Pineville, a union field worker in district 19. Trials for Hodge and Bates, heard by Judge Ford without a jury, were ended yesterday.

Thacker pleaded guilty July 5 of inciting miners to strike at the Premier Jellico company mine at Middlesboro last year.

Australian Wife

Mrs. Joan Papa, Melbourne, Australia, wife of Sgt. Leonard Papa, Ridgeway, Pa., with their daughter, Marlene, 8 months.

Fifty Australian wives of American service men, some of them with infants in arms, arrived in the Union station yesterday morning en route to points all over the United States where they will live with their husbands' parents or relatives.

Most of the 50 changed trains early in the day, but eight had to wait in the station, under the care of the Travelers Aid, which helped them to obtain accommodations for night travel. Social workers also found rooms for some of the mothers at the Vernon hotel, 750 W. Harrison st., and medical care for a sick infant, Barbara McKinny, at Wesley Memorial hospital.

The 50 wives are part of a contingent of approximately 300 Australian women and 75 babies which arrived this week in San Francisco, Cal., from Brisbane. The trip, on a troopship which also carried men on rotational furloughs, took two weeks.

CHARGES HAGUE MISUSE OF YANK VOTING ROSTER

Trenton, N. J., Aug. 16 [Special].—Mounting protests against New Deal propagandizing of troops overseas was climaxed today with the disclosure by Gov. Walter E. Edge that the Hague Democratic machine had acquired a confidential voting list of service men from Hudson county in direct violation of war department regulations.

Gov. Edge.

The governor also announced he had an affidavit alleging a similar violation had taken place in another county. He said he was having investigations made to "determine who is responsible for this breach of faith and violation of trust." He did not identify the other county.

The Hudson county Democratic organization of Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City, state Democratic leader, is using for political purposes the confidential voting list furnished it by some unidentified person or persons, the Republican governor declared in a statement.

Obtained in Canvass.

Names and addresses of service men and women were obtained by volunteer civilian defense workers in a house-to-house canvass ordered by Gov. Edge, who is head of the OCD in the state. The purpose of the survey was to insure that servicemen got ballots for the November election.

More than 300,000 names and addresses were obtained in the statewide canvass, about 50,000 in Hudson county. The lists were turned over to the Prudential Insurance company of Newark to arrange the names according to counties, that company being selected for the task because it had the facilities and staff and could save the state a considerable sum of money.

The sorted lists then were given to the state's 21 county clerks, who mailed out the ballots to soldiers. The clerk of Hudson county is William Gilfert, a member of the Hague Democratic machine. When the clerks were given the lists, Edge said, they were told the information must be held "absolutely secret and confidential" in the interest of national security.

The governor said he learned of the violation of this order when his attention was called to the "circularization, thru identical form letters, of Hudson county service men as far away as China, soliciting their political support and their votes against the revised [state] constitution."

Jeopardize Safety.

"These identical form letters sent out from Hudson county, together with an affidavit in my possession from another county," Edge said, "indicate that some politicians have stooped so low they are willing to jeopardize the safety of our brave fighting men in their frantic effort to solicit votes against the revised constitution."

The Hague machine is opposing ratification of a proposed new state constitution which Republican leaders have approved.

Gov. Edge said a Hudson county soldier serving overseas mailed one of the form letters to a friend in New Jersey and that it had been turned over to the governor's office. The letter, Edge said, was signed by former Sheriff John J. Coppinger, executive Democratic committeeman of the 4th ward in Jersey City.

Only yesterday the similar case of another service man was disclosed. Corp. Warren D. Jewart of Jersey City, who enlisted in the army 3½ years ago and has been overseas 1½ years, received on the stationery of City Clerk P. F. McGovern, Hague machine leader in the 9th ward, a vote soliciting letter identical with the one in the hands of the governor.

Jewart indignantly replied, in a letter to McGovern, that he would not be a "political stooge" and that because he and his comrades had a war on their hands they "haven't time to do any political campaigning."

CITE USE OF DOGS IN PERFECTING WONDER DRUGS

Physicians Fight Move to Curb Vivisection.

Plasma, sulfa drugs, and penicillin—all important in the care of wounded and ill soldiers—are among the medical developments made possible only by humane experimentation upon animals, Dr. G. E. Wakelin of the University of Illinois college of medicine said yesterday.

His statement coincided with another attempt to prevent universities and hospitals from getting unclaimed and unlicensed dogs from the city pound for research and teaching purposes thru the introduction in city council of an anti-vivisection ordinance.

Held Vital to Experiments.

"A great deal of medical and biological research, in which animal experimentation or vivisection is an essential part, is aimed directly at decreasing the morbidity and mortality of fighting men, both from wounds and disease," said Dr. Wakelin, professor and head of the university's physiology department.

"The lives of many military and naval aviators are being saved daily by knowledge, gained by use of dogs, concerning such subjects as oxygen supply and fatigue. This work is all done by trained scientists in reputable institutions, and much of it has the financial support of the federal government thru the office of scientific research and development."

Represents Medical Schools.

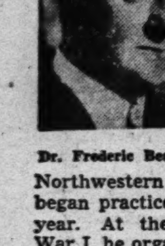

Dr. Wakelin is a member of an unofficial advisory committee representing the medical schools and hospital laboratories using impounded animals. Another member is Dr. A. J. Carlson, professor emeritus of physiology at the University of Chicago and president of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Ald. O'Hallaren [18th] sponsored the anti-vivisection resolution in city council, but council leaders forced its submission to the committee on health.

The resolution would have repealed an ordinance which permits "any reputable institution of learning, hospital or allied institute" to use unclaimed animals from the pound "for the good of mankind."

FORMS FOR NEW 'A' GAS BOOKS TO BE READY AUG. 28

Application forms for new books of A gasoline coupons will be available Aug. 28 at local ration boards, filling stations, and public service offices of newspapers, and thru plant transportation committees, it was announced yesterday by Marion Isbell, area director for the office of price administration. The books will become valid Sept. 22.

The applications, Isbell said, are in two parts. Both parts must be filled in completely, and then mailed or taken to the holders' local ration board with the back cover of the holder's present A book, on which he or she must write name and address. New books will be mailed out by the ration boards.

Isbell warned motorists to act as quickly as possible after the forms become available. Otherwise, he said, some may not get new coupons until after the validity date.

JUDGE REBUKES FOE OF LENIENCY FOR SWINDLERS

William C. Sullivan, druggist at 5759 Broadway, a complaining witness against two men accused of cashing on the north side, 300 worthless checks for a total of $7,000, yesterday was squelched by Judge Francis Borrelli in Felony court. When Sullivan ventured an objection to a reduction of the charge, he was called "a Shylock" by the court.

The defendants, arrested Saturday by Summerdale police, were William Hill, 29, of 6558 Stewart av., medically discharged from the army, and Arnold Benson, 31, formerly of 931 Leland av., said by police to be absent without leave since May from Camp Bowie, Tex.

They had been charged by police with operating a confidence game, a felony.

The court, however, agreed to accept a plea of guilty to a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses.

Sullivan arose and interposed a mild demurrer.

"These men have victimized an entire neighborhood," Sullivan said. "I think the court should take the extent of their operations into account."

Judge Borrelli silenced him. "I know the law," he said, "and you don't. Are you a Shylock demanding your pound of flesh? We want no Shylocks here."

Sullivan, who had accepted a worthless $10 check subsided. As he left the courtroom he heard sentence pronounced: Six months in the Bridewell.

FREE MEDICAL TUTORS FIRST, SERVICES URGED

Necessity of improving medical school curriculums, the early release during the demobilization period of physicians on medical school faculties, and provision of further education for discharged medical officers comprise the challenges facing the profession today, it was shown by a survey just completed by the Journal of the American Medical association.

"The medical schools and their faculties have met the challenge of war time conditions creditably, teaching more students in less time than formerly in the face of greatly depleted numbers of instructors," the Journal commented on the survey. It added that the former quality of medical instruction should be restored as soon as possible.

As of July 1, the 77 approved medical schools and schools of basic medical sciences in the United States had contributed 5,828 of their faculty members to the war effort.

Between July 1, 1942, when the accelerated educational program was instituted by most schools, and June 30, 1944, there were 10,357 medical graduates. By June 30, 1945, there will be 9,844 more—a total of 20,201 for the three year four session cycle.

This rate of physician production exceeds that of any previous time in the nation's history.

The largest student group comes from New York, 2,881; Pennsylvania is second with 1,857; Illinois third with 1,384.

RAID LOOP HOTEL BOOKIES AND BIG 'LAYOFF' JOINT

Detectives from Central station late yesterday found an alleged handbook in operation in a bar room adjoining the Grand ballroom on the 17th floor of the Majestic hotel, 29 Quincy st. Fifty customers, most of them elderly, began fleeing down a narrow stairway until told they were not to be arrested. The detectives seized Charles Iaculla, 57, who said he lives in the hotel, and Angelo Vetrana, 51, of 1552 N. La Salle st., as the alleged operators.

In another raid led by Capt. Thomas Duffy, policemen arrested Albert Berelson, 39, of 3130 Washington blvd., and Albert Fishman, 30, of 3208 Cortez st., in a wire "layoff" room on the 12th floor at 8 S. Dearborn st. There were four telephones in the room. The door to the office bore the name of the Madison Parkside Realty company and the building agent told policemen the place had been there since December, 1942.

U. S. Must Aid Schools, Says Union's New Head

The federal government must assist America's public school system in the post-war era, Joseph F. Landis, Cleveland educator, said last night after his reelection as president of the American Federation of Teachers. The federation, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, met in the La Salle hotel. Fifteen vice presidents also were elected.

Costume for College Classroom

Here's a bright new scotch plaid combination for the college classroom. The huge patterned authentic wool skirt, with soft unpressed fold-pleats, and a wide belt with covered buckle, is topped by a shirt-blouse of beige colored wool, with three quarter length sleeves. It is available in a Chicago store. [TRIBUNE Studio Photo.]

Jaunty Plaids to Brighten Up Fall Wardrobe

BY REA SEEGER.

The jigger of scotch in the smart college wardrobes this fall will be jaunty plaid wool outfits and accessories. Scotch plaids, with their suggestion of skirling bagpipes and swinging snap of kilts on parade, are the kind to enliven the dreariest scenes. Bold red and golds and highland greens, double crossed with white, blue, and bright yellow, provide a needed lift for all neutral clothes. Costumes of plaid wool are the most brilliant get-togethers ever assembled for the appreciative co-eds. And tho most all of this authentic Scotch stuff was primarily designed for the college crowd, all young shoppers fall for the giddy array.

The best buys are the clever skirts of plaid, some actually cut and fashioned like the Scottish originals, with shallow fringe down the side and around the lower hemline edge. Others feature soft unpressed pleats that are really folds of the material. Some are gored, and a very few are pleated. Such skirts are logical teammates to the smart jackets, braid trimmed in solid contrast colors, like oyster white, red, green, and yellow. The newest jackets are those copied from the dress parade dinner jackets of the masculine models, complete to rounded and curved lapels, seamed sleeves, the straight silhouette, and the vertical lines of braid accent to the cuffs. The white models are something to make fashion history this fall.

Cape costumes in bold plaids are the most dashing duets in the collections. Capes are short and circular, the skirts simple, to make the most of the size of the plaids and the vivid clash and contrast of color. The cape costumes are the newest models to be found, with the classics of fitted jacket and shallow pleated skirt team of strong plaids still the bright spots for any wardrobe collector.

Those Were the Days (1884) at Washington Pk.

BY ELEANOR PAGE.

The approach of the 34th running of the famed American Derby at the Washington Park race track Aug. 26 evokes memories of Chicago's early racing thrills. Nun's veiling was popular for summer dresses, terra cotta was being revived as a fashionable color, mousquetaire gloves were the newest thing, and fans made of white breasts of birds embroidered in silk were the rage when the Washington Park track was opened June 29, 1884.

The park had been in the planning for two years by a group of Chicago's most respected business men, among them Wirt Dexter, Lyman Blair, George M. Pullman, Potter Palmer, Martin Ryerson, Nathaniel K. Fairbank, and Byron L. Smith. Membership to the clubhouse was limited to 500, and the park was arranged to be "a gentleman's pleasure ground," in which the clubhouse would serve as a country club, to which members and their families could drive at the end of the day to enjoy all the pleasures of a country retreat [in the area bounded by 61st and 63d sts. and Cottage Grove and South Park avs.].

In the building were a billiard room, a cafe with serving and wine rooms, a ladies' waiting room, and a directors' parlor. Five thousand carriages could be accommodated in addition to the 500 stalls for the race horses. The grandstand had room for 10,000.

All available space was taken, too, on opening day, which marked the first running of the American Derby. Late that morning gaily clad crowds gathered at the Illinois Central to board trains to the track, the men in white plug hats and the ladies in broad brimmed straws and plumes. There weren't many women on the trains, however, for the gentler sex apparently preferred the more select method of reaching the course—by means of carriages and horses.

"The crowd was thirsty, noisy, and good natured," reads THE TRIBUNE'S account of the event. The day was perfect, with invigorating air, and the roads in prime order, no dust nor mud. Gay parasols, soft lace bonnets, bright flowers, and gorgeous raiments passed thru the gates in a variety of equipages ranging from the victoria, in which the central figure was Mrs. H. O. Stone in a suit of white broadcloth, to the T cart in which traveled Mrs. Carter H. Harrison and Carter Jr., the former in black Spanish lace, a small bonnet covered with crimson roses, a dolman of brocaded velvet over her shoulders, and a cut glass smelling bottle carried in one hand flashing brilliant lights whenever the sun struck it. [It came in handy later, too, as you will read.]

Mayor Harrison came galloping along on his Kentucky thorobred, "so busy raising his caballero hat that the cigar in his mouth went out and remained in that uninteresting condition until he reached the clubhouse."

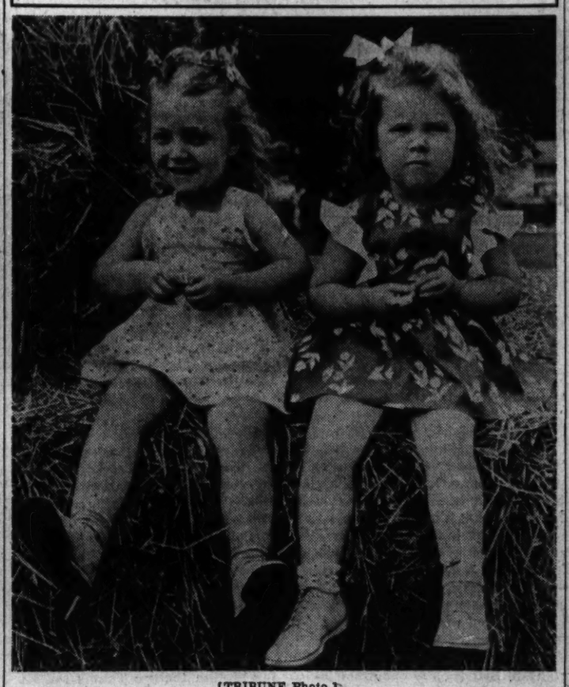

All was not honey and roses, however, for the waits between races were painfully long, and, as no refreshments were available in the public enclosures, the crowd soon tired and many left before the third race. An unfortunate happening in the hurdle race, when Baccarat threw his jockey, caused intense consternation among the women.

"Eyelids drooped, heads fell over on one side, and it required the utmost alacrity on the part of the men to prevent a universal faint," a faithful scribe noted. "Never were smelling bottles more in requisition, and the fumes of hartshorn that filled the air were the means of reviving the delicate little creatures."

The "delicate little creatures" who will go to watch the Derby Aug. 26 will arrive at the track's present location in Homewood by train. They will smoke, drink, and chew [gum], mark their own programs, and elbow their way to the betting windows with the best of the men. There will be plenty of excitement and thrills, but none of the glamor of that first Derby, when women who ordinarily wagered in bonbons or flowers startled their escorts by asking them to place bets with the bookies or "Paris Mutuels" in the clubhouse basement.

Among those who filled every chair in the clubhouse balconies that historic June day 60 years ago were the Potter Palmers, the Adrian Honorés, the Arthur Catons, the Franklin MacVeaghs, the Charles Dempsters, the John Wentworths, the Philip D. Armours, the John De Kovens, the Jesse Spaldings, and many other names that long have been known in Chicago's social world. Their children, grandchildren, and even great-grandchildren are today's racing enthusiasts.

Women in War Work

By Dorothy Johnson

Mrs. Amelia C. Kane of Pittsburgh, Pa., national president of the ladies auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, told a press conference yesterday in the Hotel Sherman that the women's 31st annual national encampment, to meet simultaneously with that of the men's organization next Tuesday thru Thursday, will devote the greater part of convention business to discussing expansion of the auxiliary's services to veterans.

Since 1914 the auxiliary has maintained a continuous program of rehabilitation and hospital work in behalf of all veterans, whether members of V. F. W. or not. The program includes a next-of-kin support service and help to veterans in adjusting to civilian life, finding employment, and obtaining government benefits. Mrs. Kane expects the auxiliary will assist 500,000 veterans in the next year.

At 9 a. m. today Mrs. Kane will open the convention's plasma drive by contributing the first pint of blood at the Red Cross blood donor center, 5 N. Wabash av. Two hundred women delegates who live in communities which have no blood banks will accompany her.

The auxiliary's national hospital committee, headed by Mrs. Bertha Jalbert of Providence, R. I., will distribute 2,000 writing portfolios at Hines hospital, Hines, at 2:30 p. m. next Wednesday. Mrs. Henry B. Warner of Maywood, Illinois hospital chairman, will participate.

Thru the Red Cross, the auxiliary soon will send 2,000 gift packages to men who are prisoners of the Germans and Japanese.

At 8 p. m. next Wednesday in the ballroom of the Sherman, the auxiliary's national war service committee, headed by Mrs. Bessie Hanken of Revere, Mass., will hold a rally at which $125,000 in war bonds for the purchase of an ambulance plane will be sold. WACs, WAVES, SPARS, and marine corps women will attend. Lucy Monroe, soprano, national soloist of V. F. W., will sing. A navy band will play.

Mrs. Hanken is the first woman president of the V. F. W. home and community center at Eaton Rapids, Mich., for widows and orphans of members. A nursery building, to be dedicated next spring, will benefit from a linen shower to continue thruout the auxiliary's encampment.

Fifteen WAVES, in uniform only two months, yesterday were the first women at the Great Lakes Naval Training center to fire 20 millimeter anti-aircraft guns. The WAVES are the first of 182 navy women who will receive training in firing in order to become instructors in the use of a new gunsight, the navy announced.

The 20 WAVES began training with light and heavy machine guns and are expected to try guns of larger caliber later. The gunsight, details of which still are secret, is said to figure automatically the "lead" of a fast enemy plane and make possible more accurate firing.

The navy's new barracks for enlisted WAVES at 3145 Sheridan rd. will be ready for occupancy next Monday, headquarters of the 9th naval district announced yesterday. Fifty-four WAVES stationed at 16 naval activities in Chicago will comprise the first residents of the new quarters. Within approximately six weeks, 110 WAVES will be "aboard" to give a housewarming party.

[This department reports on women's war activities and answers questions regarding such activities.]

Rapee Proves Inadequate for Our Orchestra

BY CLAUDIA CASSIDY.

Erno Rapee appeared at Grant park last night as guest conductor of the Chicago Symphony orchestra. Why? Mr. Rapee long has been the conductor of an orchestra in a New York movie theater, where he is credited with introducing his audiences to better music than had been their lot before. But what has that to do with conducting a major symphony orchestra which rejoices in a more fortunate public? The answer eludes me, but at this period in a long and not too lively musical summer I am ready to admit that far too many men are shaking sticks at music.

Mr. Rapee, to do him justice, seldom uses a baton, which he is apt to drop. He gyrates his arms and sometimes seems about to take up fencing. Now I wouldn't mind in the least if a conductor stood on his head and juggled batons if by doing so he could make magnificent music. But Mr. Rapee seemed blithely unaware of the fact that music has the bones of structure, the living flesh of tone, the vitality of rhythm, the eloquence of articulation. Under his treatment the big scores lay inert and dreary, an inchoate mass of garbled sound.

In Weber's overture to "Oberon" the introduction was taken at so slow a pace it came to a bleating stop, and the singing nobility of the expanding line never materialized. Brahms' Second Symphony was, shall we say, unfortunate? The prelude and love death from "Tristan and Isolde" emerged as a kind of Wagnerian featherbed of languishing tone. The Shostakovich parody, "The Bolt," went better, being a blunt burlesque with some amusing and some unforgivably coy tootlings in winds and brass. Prokofieff does that sort of thing infinitely better.

I heard no more of the concert, having too high a regard for the Chicago Symphony orchestra to enjoy its discomfiture. It did some beautiful playing, when it could. And between numbers there were highly misleading program notes, and some give and take between Mr. Rapee and Pierre Andre, the announcer, which suggested the boys ought to learn a buck and wing to make it a brother act.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MAC KAY

Overtime.

There is a stillness to my days;
I do not question why;
Yet go about each humdrum task
And wonder if 'tis I—

Who feels this numbness in my breast—
This calm instead of storm,
Where once was turbulence within,
So eager, young, and warm.

There is a stillness to my days;
So be it! It is best!
For hearts can labor overtime
And even hearts must rest!

May I thank every one who read the suggestions and acted on them? It has been a big help to all of us.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Aug. 16.—Paramount thinks it has another find in Pat Phelan, young Long Beach boy who was discovered in a little theater. It has signed him to a long term contract, and he goes immediately into one of the top spots of "Miss Susie Slagle," which starts Sept. 5, with Sonny Tufts, Veronica Lake, and Joan Caulfield. . . . Paramount has also signed Ruth St. Denis to play the dowager duchess of Malmunster in "Kitty." She'll be Reginald Owen's mother. This will be Ruth's first dramatic role on the screen. She's been working at Douglas the last two years. . . . Probably the last autograph Leslie Howard ever gave has arrived from Lisbon, Portugal. It's in a copy of Somerset Maugham's "Of Human Bondage," which was sent to Paul Henreid by Ella Hardiston, an attache of the American embassy in Lisbon. When she read that Henreid was playing Howard's role in the remake, she thought he'd prize this volume Leslie autographed for her. She was right. He does.

Here and There in Hollywood Town.

Sonny Tufts moves in this week-end to the house he's just bought from Billy Wilder in Hidden valley. Sonny has already made a deal with Charlie Morrison, of the Mocambo, to sell him all his fruit and vegetables. . . . Susanna Foster has moved from her penthouse back to civilization—and a telephone. . . . J. Carrol Naish is leaving for Mexico and a visit with Arturo de Cordova. . . . Lela Rogers is testing Ted Straeter and his orchestra for picture possibilities. . . . Constance Moore goes into "High Above the Stars" in the role Susan Hayward was to have done. Ruth Toby, aged 15, has been signed to play Jane Powell's chum in the same picture. . . . And Arthur Treacher advances a step in this one—he's a singing butler! . . . The Andrews Sisters, who were signed for one song in "Hollywood Canteen," have just finished their fourth production number for it. . . . Ann Sothern's going to Sacramento to spend a week with her husband, Lt. Bob Sterling. He's in the hospital for flight fatigue. . . . Bill Johnson, who created the role of Sgt. Rocky Fulton in "Something for the Boys" on Broadway, met Michael O'Shea, who did the part for the movie, for the first time on the set of "It's a Pleasure." Michael has the lead and Bill plays second lead opposite Sonja Henie.

Good Old Days—A Touch of Nostalgia.

Stopped in on "The Great John L." set to have a look at Peacock alley in New York's Plaza hotel back in the mauve decade. With crystal chandeliers, velvet hangings, and tapestries, and hundreds of beautiful costumes, it's all very plushy. Too bad it won't be shown in color. Greg McClure, who plays Sullivan, was relaxing over an ice cream cone behind the cameras, while in front of them Linda Darnell, as his first wife, tried to persuade Barbara Britton to marry him after she [Linda] divorces him. Said Greg, "Do you wonder John L. was mixed up sometimes, with two such beautiful gals in love with him?" Greg's so happy over this role, but it sure keeps him busy, what with spending his Sundays working out for those fight scenes.

Practical Help; That's What Counts.

Abbott and Costello will start the ball rolling for their "Young America Vacation Fund" drive by donating proceeds from the première of "A WAVE, a WAC, and a Marine" in Atlantic City, and after they return to Hollywood Aug. 24, will continue the drive here. More than 300 boys' clubs of America will help put over this drive, and funds raised will send underprivileged children to summer camps. . . . Laraine Day, who was in uniform so long for the "Dr. Kildare" pictures at Metro, got her first glamor role in "Bride by Mistake" at R. K. O. Now she's got to get back into a uniform for Metro again for "The Woman's Army" with Lana Turner. But the studio has promised her a dress-up picture right after that.

More Signs of the Times.

The house shortage has hit the "Wonder Man" cast with a bang. Steve Cochran has been living in hotels ever since he arrived, but has to move every five days, in accordance with OPA regulations. Danny Kaye, who's been living in Chester Morris' Beverly Hills house, just got word that Chester wants it back. Vera-Ellen, after a spell of hotel hopping, got a friend's apartment, but now the friend's coming back and she has to get out. They're all trying to talk Sam Goldwyn into putting up a tent colony on the back lot, so they'll have a place to anchor, at least while shooting. . . . Al Pearce has just bought a 1,000 acre fruit and vegetable ranch within a half mile of the house where he was born, near San Jose. . . . Paramount has sent Gail Russell up to Big Bear for a two weeks' rest. . . . At the West Side Tennis club, Sunday, Paul Lukas and Errol Flynn team up against Lowell Gilmore and Bill Self for the championship in the Motion Picture Tennis tournament. . . . Maria Savian, who's testing for the role of the "Jungle Woman," just received a live and tame [so they say] wolf from the boys at Fort Hamilton with this note attached: "This will help to keep the Hollywood wolves away."

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1944: By Ely Culbertson.]

When the responder has already bid his hand to the limit and perhaps a little beyond, he naturally should become conservative if the question of accepting a slam invitation arises. Even this obvious fact, however, is subject to qualification. Consider this case:

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

NORTH
♥ J 9 7 3
♦ A 8 2
♣ Q 6 2

WEST
♠ 7 2
♥ 8 2
♦ K J 5 4
♣ K 9 8 7 3

EAST
♠ K 9 3
♥ 6 4
♦ 10 9 7 3
♣ J 10 5 4

SOUTH
♥ A K Q 10 5
♦ Q 6
♣ A

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Pass	2 no trump	Pass
4 hearts	Pass	5 hearts	Pass
6 hearts	Pass	Pass	Pass

North was fully aware that his two no trump response was stretched, but when South jumped to four hearts over that bid, North nevertheless had the vision and nerve to make a slam try. Most players, if they had chosen the two no trump response, would promptly pass to four hearts, feeling that any further efforts on their part would be decidedly out of line. This particular North reasoned as follows:

It was true that he did not have the honor-trick requirements of the playing trick values for the two no trump, but he did have two aces instead of the king-queen, king-jack, or even queen-jack combinations he might have held. Moreover, he had good support for both of South's suits, instead of strength largely in diamonds and clubs, where it might be worthless. Finally, his worst holding, in clubs, was good enough to suggest that the opponents could not or would not take two immediate tricks in the suit.

If West had opened a diamond, declarer would have had to finesse successfully to his queen, but on the actual club lead it was easy for South to draw trumps, establish the spades, and throw off two diamonds from dummy on the fourth and fifth spade.

'Hitler Gang' Gets Graphic Film Portrayal

"THE HITLER GANG."

A Paramount picture, directed by John Farrow, featuring Robert Watson, Alexander Pope, Martin Kosleck, Victor Varconi, Luis Van Rooten, and Poldy Dur, and presented at the Garrick.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

Ninety-three minutes with "The Hitler Gang"—or would you rather spend the time in the violent ward of an insane asylum? It amounts to the same thing.

"A strait jacket for Herr Goering!"—for Goering, the drug addict, is at it again and in frenzy has attacked a nurse who cares for him in the mental hospital where he has been sent . . .

"The patient [Corp. Hitler] is an hysteria case with symptoms of paranoia . . ." So speaks the doctor who treats the little man in a German hospital in 1918. . . .

Then there is the Machievellian Goebbels, and the brutal Himmler—and, in the background, always so close to Hitler, fixing his tie, adjusting a coat lapel, hanging fondly on his words—eaten with jealousy—Rudolph Hess, who reveals thru a look what is in his mind when Hitler shows interest in the young niece, Geli Rabaul, who has come to live in his house and who was supposedly shot to death by Der Fuehrer. . . .

The horrible episodes, crawling with subtly forceful implications of incest and attendant perversions, are flung against the bloody backdrop which is the history of the Nazi regime and are declared to have authentic foundation.

Action starts in the aforementioned hospital and follows Hitler from his discharge to the time of his elevation thru the foulest of means to the position of fuehrer of Germany. The story of incredible infamy—personal and political—is quite familiar to most of us and has been accorded brilliant presentation.

Robert Watson IS Hitler. A remarkable characterization. . . . Alexander Pope is a fearsome Goering. Martin Kosleck an unctuous, deadly Goebbels, and Victor Varconi a handsome, sickening Hess. Little Poldy Dur breaks your heart in her brief scenes as the trapped Geli.

"The Hitler Gang" is the nauseous chronicle of men who, instead of "swinging on a star, would rather be a pig."

MOR
IN THE LUNCH BOX!
It's different

When the clock says "time to eat," he'll run for his lunch box if you've put MOR in it. For sandwiches made of Wilson's MOR have a come-hither way with the appetite. Keep this good-tasting meat handy to serve cold . . . or bake, fry or broil it. All tender, mouth-watering pork meat, seasoned the Wilson way.

Sally Presents Appeals from Service Wives

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

We feel sure our south side readers can provide an answer to Mrs. A.'s recent appeal.

"Dear Miss Brown:

"My husband has been in service for a year, and, as we had severe financial losses two years ago, I have had a difficult time. My baby girl, 17 months old, needs a high chair. She is now old enough to feed herself and enjoys doing it, but without a chair it is very difficult. The bed, which we purchased for her some time ago, has wooden slats where springs should be. Some of them have broken and are warped. It is a nice crib, and the mattress is still serviceable, but I wonder if any of your readers could provide steel springs for her bed. It is a six year size. If you could secure either of these items for me, I would be deeply appreciative."

Mrs. J., also on the south side, has a similar request. She writes:

"My husband has been in service over a year and is now overseas. I am living in a three room apartment with our year and a half old daughter. I have as much as I can do to stretch my allowance check to cover household expenses and bills, and because I have no one to care for the baby, I am unable to work to provide for other needs. I have no buggy, and the baby tires so quickly walking to the stores. I would be very grateful if some reader could provide a stroller."

WMC Official Asks Women to Keep Up War Work Tempo

Speed and production mean everything in the war's final stages and America's women must not allow it to be said that they "let down" at this crucial time, Miss Margaret Hickey, national chairman of the war man power commission's women's advisory committee, warned yesterday at the opening session of the committee's two day meeting in the Stevens hotel.

She said the nation's "magnificent war production" is due to the "hidden army" of working women and urged that women keep on with their work, particularly this fall, when they will be needed to fill up the gaps left by the return of students to their classes.

There never has been a time when home front work was so important," Miss Hickey declared. "The battle of war production is one which will not be won until the last gun is fired."

She voiced disapproval of a possible return to "pre-war barriers to the employment of women" after the war and said that she hopes employment and opportunity will be so increased that women will not be "thrown onto an employment scrap heap" when service men return to their jobs.

Quaint Designs

Old fashioned embroidery motifs for wall pictures, dresser sets, or towels utilize odd lengths of floss in the sewing basket. Hot iron transfer, No. 567, contains nine motifs measuring from 1 by 1⅛ to 3½ by 4 inches and detailed instructions.

Thru the Looking Glass

Summertime is definitely the time for utmost fastidiousness about clothes and self. At least one or two baths a day and generous use of deodorants are the beginnings of personal cleanliness. Add to this fresh lingerie every day and dresses that are clean and well pressed and you've a good start in fitting into the accepted picture of complete and sweet femininity. The pretty colognes and refreshing dusting powders are nice trimmings to add to this base, but they represent wasted money and effort unless the background of daintiness is perfect.

Hot weather presents a clothes problem, particularly for the working girl, and while we have every reason to sympathize with her, we still can't see how so many of our working sisters can be negligent and careless in the matter. It isn't easy to keep crisp and fresh looking every minute of the day and there isn't much incentive to suds clothes over the too short and precious week-ends, but in the interest of good grooming and your neighbor's sensitive nose, clothes should be kept well aired and fresh as possible.

The dark sheers that are hot weather pets with so many women are rather a mixed blessing. They do cut down on cleaning and laundry to some degree, but there is little excuse for letting such a dress become so saturated with perspiration that it's a blight at close range. The dress that doesn't show obvious signs of soil still needs to be aired thoroly after each wearing and cleaned or tubbed frequently. The dark slips worn with these dresses should be treated to soap and water after each wearing in wilting weather. Your best friends may hesitate to tell you, but if you get too careless, you might lose a few of them. LOUISE DOOLEY.

A little booklet titled "Elderberry Edibles," published by the National WCTU Publishing House, has come to my desk. In it are a number of interesting recipes for using elderberries and elder flowers, in teas and other beverages, in catchup, pie, and jelly.

Elder flower vinegar should be wonderful for salads. To make it you fill a jar of vinegar with as many elder flowers as it will hold, cover tightly, and let stand in a warm or sunny place for a week or longer, then strain.

Altho Concord grapes haven't come to market yet, many women are asking us for the easy grape jam recipe which appeared in THE TRIBUNE last fall. "Best grape jam I ever tasted" is the common opinion. The jam is good. It has a fresh grape flavor hard to duplicate. Here is the recipe so many readers have requested. The grapes for it will be along soon.

Easy Grape Jam.

Mix 4 cups washed, stemmed grapes with 3 cups sugar. Bring to a boil, boil for 20 minutes and put the mixture thru a colander or food mill. Pour into clean glasses and seal with paraffin while hot.

I used to make the jam with equal measures of grapes and sugar, but found last year that the jam is just as thick and good with less sugar—and we can't afford to use more sugar than actually is necessary in these ration-ruled times.

A million bushels of peaches from Indiana and Illinois are expected to appear in midwest markets during the next few weeks. Every homemaker who has storage room for peaches should can enough for her family's winter time use, for commercially canned fruits aren't going to be plentiful. The best canning method is the boiling water bath. Scald the peaches, cold dip and peel them, then cook in boiling thin or medium sirup for 6 to 7 minutes. Pack into sterilized jars, fill jars to within ½ inch of the top with boiling sirup, seal, and process in boiling water bath for 20 minutes. Peaches may be canned whole or in halves. Some canners leave a pit in each jar of peach halves for a flavor accent.

Open kettle canning of peaches is no longer recommended. Peach pickles may be done in the open kettle of course, because of the vinegar which helps in their preservation.

Many markets have supplies of fresh dill now that cucumbers are ready for pickling. Let's not forget that dill is good in cooking, too. Steep a spray of dill in hot vinegar to make a flavored vinegar which is delicious in salad dressings. Cook a sprig or two with potatoes now and then, or with new peas or carrots.

TURN IN WASTE FATS FOR POINTS AND PENNIES!

40th Orphans' Picnic Is Big Day for 5,000

The tradition of good weather for the annual Orphans Automobile Day association outing was upheld yesterday for the 40th year and for the special pleasure of nearly 5,000 children and elderly people who were brought from 45 homes in Chicago and the suburbs for a day in Riverview park picnic grove.

The weather was threatening for a while and there was an occasional sprinkle, but it didn't actually rain during any of the glorious, crackerjack filled hours. It was another picnic, another great day for the orphans and oldsters.

It was another great day, too, for the "38 men with a hobby," as members of the automobile association call themselves. That hobby is providing this one banner day each year for children and elderly men and women. They like to make the day a festival, and they did it yesterday with 1,100 gallons of orangeade, 500 dozen chocolate coated ice cream bars, 5,000 unit lots of box lunches, crackerjack, and packages of candy. For gayety they added paper hats, candy striped horns, novelty pins, toy pistols, and colored leis. And for extra measure they presented a 33 act show of radio and night club stars who contributed their performances.

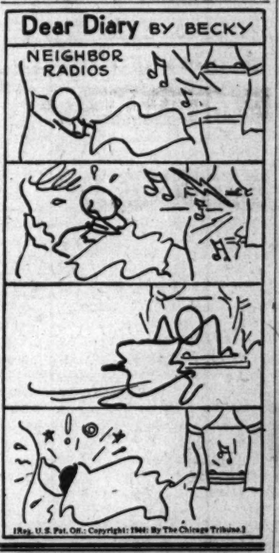

Not quite all the crackerjack and candy was consumed. What was left was sent to children who couldn't attend the outing, Hobart J. Thurber of the commissary committee said. Seven streetcars were pressed into service this year along with 460 automobiles and drivers, according to John P. Keating, transportation chairman.

The 5 Year Old Child Presents New Behavior

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1944: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

To many parents the point when their small son or daughter reaches the milestone of 5, for 5 years of age is a milestone, presents a problem.

But he doesn't become a problem so much because of what he is or has become, as because of the fact that we don't accommodate ourselves to the change that is taking place in him. For most of us are still expecting these 5 year olds to be "nice and quiet," and to retain some of the closeness and docility of their earlier years. Instead of continuing like this, our cue should be to notice the changes that are taking place in this 4½ or 5 year old of ours, and treat him accordingly.

One of the outstanding things about a 5 year old is that he's bursting with energy and enthusiasm. Also bursting with a new sense of power, for these children can now do many things that they couldn't do physically even a short time ago.

One of the most important things for us to do then, in coping with these changes in our 5 year old is to learn to handle this tremendous activity that he has. How shall we do it?

The first logical answer to that is: We must provide our 5 year old with the things that he needs for active play, such as velocipedes, roller skates, and skooters for outdoors, as well as toys for indoor play. But this is not enough. He needs variety of occupation because he has many needs. In fact, right now we should provide him with materials for creative work in the manual skills or the arts.

I believe all children should have a few simple but good tools. With these should go nails, pieces of lumber, preferably of soft wood, and wooden boxes, if any more of those precious receptacles are available. Among the art supplies there should be clay and a bread board to model on, and a smock or soft oilcloth apron to wear. Big crayons and large sheets of paper, as well as soft pencils, should be added. Paints, preferably poster colors at first, thick camel's hair brushes, and large sheets of drawing paper are in order. Many children enjoy a blackboard. Both white and colored chalk might be supplied.

Books owned rather than borrowed, if possible, are a great satisfaction to the 5 year old.

This is a time when a child's love of music often is allowed to fall into the discard. So little songs, marches, and rhythms for phonograph or piano are another source of delight.

WILSON'S WEEKLY Bulletin
By George Rector
Food and Nutrition Consultant to Wilson & Co.

SUMMER LUNCHES SHOULD BE NUTRITIONALLY ADEQUATE

It's such a temptation on hot days to be satisfied with a pick-up lunch which is very likely to be low in valuable proteins. It is this lack of protein which may be the cause for that feeling of tiredness in the middle of the afternoon that so many people experience. So be wise and serve a lunch which supplies sufficient protein.

For a Tasty Nutritious Lunch—Bacon Tomato Cheese Sandwiches

12 slices Certified Bacon
¼ lb. Certified American Cheese, grated (1 cup)
2 cups medium white sauce
3 tomatoes, sliced
6 slices toast

Broil or pan fry bacon. Add grated cheese to hot white sauce and stir until cheese is thoroughly melted. Arrange toast on serving plate, and on each slice place two slices of tomato, cover with cheese sauce and lay bacon strips across top. Garnish with tomato wedges and watercress or as desired. Serves 6.

Clip Recipe Here

WHICH WOULD YOU CHOOSE?

Luncheon A (775 calories)
Tomato Bacon Cheese Sandwich
Cabbage Watercress Salad
Watermelon Milk

Luncheon B (815 calories)
Tomato Lettuce Sandwich
Pickles Potato Chips
Chocolate Sundae
Coffee, cream and sugar

If you're wise you'll select Luncheon A. Not because it gives you fewer calories, although that may be an advantage to some, but because it is so far superior in protein as well as in minerals and vitamins.

Prevent That Mid-afternoon Slump

Now it isn't the size of the lunch or the number of calories that you eat that prevents you from having that mid-afternoon slump. According to scientists who have figured it all out in the laboratory, it's a lunch that is high in protein that does the trick

How do you get protein in your diet? Meat, cheese, eggs, milk and fish are the best sources because they contain large amounts of proteins and also because they are proteins of the highest quality.

Since we do our work after breakfast and after lunch, it is these two meals that should get at least their full share, if not the lion's share, of the protein for the day. A thick meat sandwich, a generous size egg salad or a cheeseburger each accompanied by a generous serving of milk will give you a goodly supply of protein for lunch.

• • •

HAVE YOU NOTICED?

That letting the children have time to be thoroughly awake before eating increases the breakfast appetite?

That adding cubes of Wilson's MOR glorifies potato salad?

That diced MOR and leftover cooked vegetables make delicious meat pie when combined with B-V gravy?

Sincerely,
George Rector

BEARS GET RONZANI; ALL-STARS SCRIMMAGE

VETERAN WILL BE VALUABLE IN PROS' OFFENSE

He'll Report Today at Training Camp.

BY EDWARD PRELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Collegeville, Ind., Aug. 16.—The Chicago Bears today brought back another of their old timers, Gene Ronzani, much in the manner of their 1943 ten strike, when Bronko Nagurski came hustling from his Minnesota farm in his old team's hour of need.

Gene Ronzani.

The summons for Ronzani, one-time Bear quarter back who played for Marquette university, and more recently was coach of the pro club's farm eleven at Newark, N. J., was taken to mean that the National Football league champions have abandoned hope of Ensign Sid Luckman playing against the College All-Stars on the night of Aug. 30 in Dyche stadium at Northwestern.

Ronzani will join the squad at the training camp here tomorrow to become a fourth member of the quarter back department. The three others are Johnny Long, who was impressive in yesterday's scrimmage when he led the Blacks to a 19 to 0 intrasquad triumph over the Whites; Bill Glenn, who was the Whites' quarter back, and Al Grygo, recruit from the University of South Carolina. Grygo has a leg injury which kept him out of yesterday's scrimmage.

Long Holds No. 1 Rating.

The 1943 experiment with Nagurski was a success. The Bears are hoping that the Ronzani maneuver will be equally fruitful. Gene is reported to be in excellent shape in anticipation of such a call. He is familiar with the Bears' T formation system in which the quarter back is the key man, handling the ball on almost every play.

Present indications are that Long will start at quarter back for the Bears. Glenn is coming along nicely, but Grygo perhaps will need too much tutelage to be used at that position against the collegians. In the background, ready to help, if necessary, will be Ronzani.

The last major cut was made today when waivers were asked on five players, all new men. They are Hillard Long, end; Lou Rosanova, guard, and three half backs, Ed Gawel, Louis Sink, and Jim Trebbin. This cut the squad to 38, including Jim Benton, who will report 10 days before the All-Star contest.

New Men Show Ability.

The one important picture obtained from yesterday's first splash of action by the 1944 Bears is that the team will be somewhat different from last year's aggregation, but not inept by any means.

The fans will miss Luckman, a familiar figure on the great teams of recent seasons, but they will like Long, a compactly built, intensely serious young man of 5 feet 11 inches and 185 pounds. Long, 29, is an Irish-Italian. He played at Colgate university, then with the Newark Bears under Ronzani. He was a member of the 1938 College All-Star squad.

Followers of the team also will like Henry Robert Margarita, Jim Fordham, and perhaps some of the other backs. Of the new linemen, George Zorich of Northwestern has attracted the most attention. George hardly can wait to get back on his home field for a try at the Collegians. He is spoiling for action—and will get it. He may not start, but he'll split time with big George Musso at right guard.

Gary Tries to Get Fancy.

Several of the players came out of yesterday's scrimmage with bumps and bruises. One of these was Gary Famiglietti, who blamed a sore leg on a sudden desire to get nifty and forego his ram-like style of running. Ray McLean was moving in on Gary who had the ball.

"I could have barged into Ray and maybe powered thru," said Gary with a wry smile, "but I thought I would give him the dipsy-do. And then Ray threw that block into me. Up in the air—and down—I came."

Today the players took it easy on the field, but were told in class room lectures of the mistakes which had popped up in the scrimmage.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

THE confusion within navy ranks over interpretation of navy directives has seeped into the lazy press. . . . Certain sports writers who haven't the time to dig up the information for themselves accept handouts or opinions from navy public relations officers who themselves haven't taken time to digest navy directives. . . . The sports writers are even disagreeing among themselves as to why Adm. Arthur S. Carpender, commandant of the 9th naval district, Monday disqualified a few players whose commanding officers had approved their leaves at the time of the game between the All-Stars and Chicago Bears to be played at Dyche stadium the night of Aug. 30. . . . One of the tired gentlemen advanced the reason that the All-Stars were ruled out because the navy directive of July 29, 1943, prohibited individual navy athletes from participating in a game against professionals. . . . Obviously the man had not read the directive. . . . He accepted the word of a public relations officer who attempted to give us the same argument until we referred him to the directive in question. . . . The directive says nothing about the participation of individuals in contests against professionals. . . . But how can you expect busy sports writers to read these things for themselves? . . . If the scrivener who wrote that the navy men were barred because they were to play against professionals meant what he said, he would be accusing the commandant of the 9th naval district of permitting navy personnel to play on an All-Star team against the world's professional basketball champions and denying them the right to play against the world's professional football champions. . . . The basketball instance occurred at Chicago Stadium last fall. . . . Too, he would be accusing the commandant of allowing navy personnel to engage in golf tournaments involving professionals right in the commandant's district. . . . The golf violations include the names of navy men who are nationally famous in their sport. . . . They even involve the commanding officer of Great Lakes Naval Training center who six weeks ago competed in the Victory Open at Edgewater. . . . One of his partners off the tee was Sammy Byrd, professional from Redford, Mich. . . . Capt. Emmet is one of sport's staunchest supporters and the only reason for mentioning his participation is to show the absurdity of the whole situation. . . . Certainly the afternoon author would not level a charge involving such discrimination against football at the commandant of the 9th naval district. . . . It was purely accidental, of course.

One of the grouch columnists, who is depressed no end that war time sport has carried on despite his attacks, points out Article 3 of July 29, 1943, directive as the basis for the ruling that has puzzled men inside and outside the navy. . . . The article reads: "Individuals who have been prominent in sport shall not be permitted to engage in games or contests outside the limits of the station except as a member of a team playing in a game which complies with this letter." . . . The columnist says the regulation is clear. . . . How then does he explain the participation of navy individuals in the basketball tournament, in golf tournaments, or in Golden Gloves? . . . But why direct inquiries to a sports writer who was congratulating the Big Ten for turning down THE TRIBUNE'S request to use undergraduates weeks after the conference had approved the proposal. . . . Some fellows naturally are a little slow in catching on. . . .

In Tuesday's TRIBUNE this department in its announcement of the disbarment of navy players from the All-Star squad stated: "Adm. Carpender based his decision on a directive issued by the late Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox on July 29, 1943, about a week before last year's All-Star squad was assembled. The directive included a provision that no individual or team would be permitted to participate in any contest or game which required absence from the station for 48 hours or more, exclusive of air transportation. That ruling cut 15 players, all key men, from the 1943 All-Star squad." . . . We neglected to add that the timing of the directive was purely accidental, of course. . . . Our statement also included this: "On Feb. 21, 1944, Mr. Knox, who at the time was publisher of the Chicago Daily News, relaxed the directive sufficiently to permit naval personnel to engage in the Daily News relay carnival in Chicago Stadium in March." . . . We neglected to add that the timing again was purely accidental, of course. . . . The relay meeting was held under A. A. U. sanction and as late as Aug. 1, 1944, the A. A. U. still was trying to collect money that was its due.

Lest there be the slightest suspicion that this department has any grievance with the Herald-American basketball tournament, in which navy personnel was allowed to play against the world's professional champions, we hasten to add that it is one of the great sports events of the year and we have helped to build interest in it. . . . We shall continue to do so. . . . The Daily News relay carnival is in the same category. . . . It is one of the finest indoor track meets held in the United States and we have played our part in exploiting it. . . . We would have gone into either or both promotions were it not for the fact that at that time of the year we have a better one—Golden Gloves. . . .

One representative of the lazy press suggests that our recent article about the disqualification of a few All-Star players was born of disappointment. . . . Suppose you were charged with the responsibility of presenting an All-Star football game and suddenly found yourself with 71 of the greatest players in the land at your disposal. . . . Would you be disappointed because six or seven of them were lost to the squad? . . . Would you be broken hearted because there were fewer than 2,000 unsold seats two weeks in advance of the contest? . . . Would you be crushed because it was apparent that the game would break the series record for charity donations? . . . The answer is obvious.

You would be disappointed, however, to observe the confusion and stupidity attending the enforcement of an order that in the opinion of one navy man after another who has called this department was absurd. . . . You would be disappointed, too, if you could spend an hour with some of the men who had been treated so unfairly without a chance to explain the circumstances. . . . You would be heartened, however, by the support you receive from the rank and file of navy men everywhere. . . . You would be pleased to hear from men in the battle zones that the greatest thrill of their lives was their participation in the All-Star football game. . . . You would be happy in the thought that envious newspaper men who have raved and ranted about this promotion from its inception apparently have few readers, because the event gets bigger and better with the years. . . . You would be consoled to know that the All-Star game will still be in existence when the names of the few brass hats who tried to wreck it have been forgotten.

Ten Years Ago Today—Sarah Palfrey conquered Freda James, English challenger, in the quarter-finals of the National Women's singles tennis tournament at Forest Hills. . . . Ab Jenkins broke two world speed records on the salt flats of Utah. . . . Teddy Lyons yielded four hits as the White Sox defeated the Athletics, 4 to 3.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 16.—Johnny Niggeling, 40 years old or thereabouts, so they say, struck out eleven White Sox batsmen and yielded only four hits in his eight innings of endeavor tonight, but the Sox were sly enough to make three of the four hits and only one of their strikeouts in the fourth inning for a total of three runs.

Niggeling, behind 3 to 0, thanks to Eddie Lopat's fine pitching for the Sox, gave way for a pinch batter [who fanned] in the eighth and this so relieved the Chicagoans in the ninth that they scored four more runs by making five hits off Wilfred Lefebvre. The latter, incidentally, struck another White Sox to run the Chicago strikeout total to 12 for the evening. The final score was Chicago, 7; Washington, 2, Lopat missing a shutout when the Senators scored twice in the ninth.

Sixth Night Victory.

It was the 21st night game for the White Sox and their sixth victory. Four of the night successes have been at the expense of the Senators. The Sox, who went back into fifth place after a few hours in sixth, have won 11 out of 16 with the Senators, tho tonight's accomplishment was only their third in eight tries here.

Going back to Niggeling's performance, unusual for a loser—it was notable that he struck out every member of the Chicago cast except Mike Tresh. He got Le Roy Schalk, Guy Curtright, and Thurman Tucker twice each. Ralph Hodgin was struck out once by Niggeling and once by Lefebvre. Hodgin, however, had a single and a double for the evening to run his hitting streak thru 14 consecutive games.

Three Runs in Fourth.

Curtright walked at the start of the fourth inning and went to third on Hodgin's double. After Hal Trosky fanned and Tucker was given an intentional pass, loading the bases, Tresh, the only man to avert a strikeout, doubled to left to score Curtright and Hodgin. Lopat singled off Torres' glove to send Tucker across the plate. John Sullivan retrieved the ball in short center, and when Tresh tried to follow Tucker home he was out at the plate.

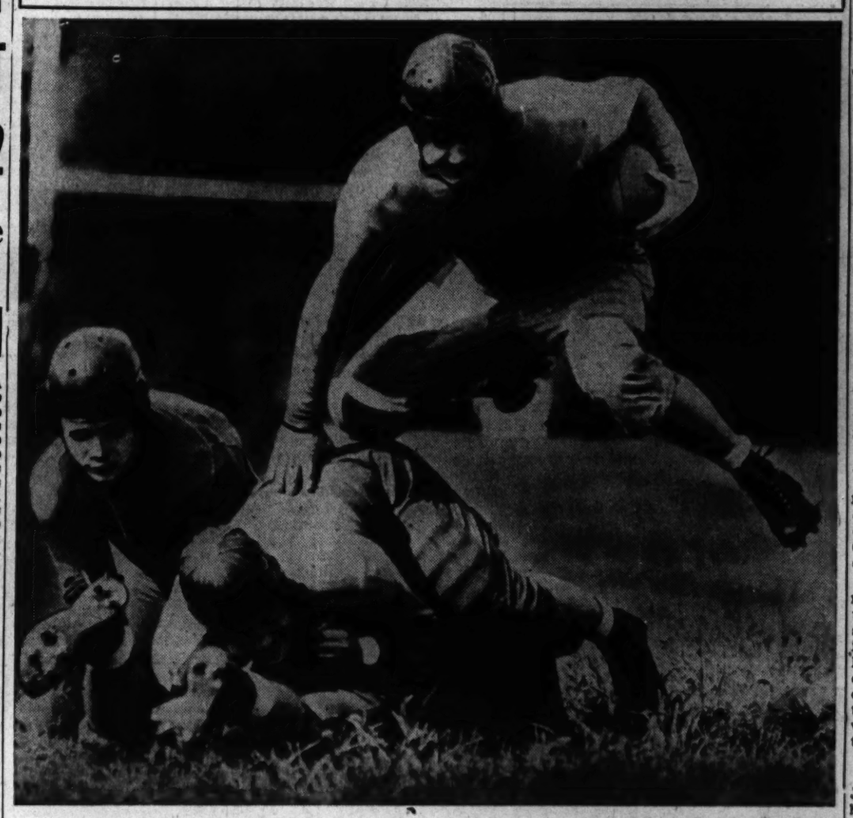

Tucker, Tresh, and Skeeter Webb each greeted Lefebvre with singles at the start of the ninth, the first named scoring on the latter's drive to left. After Lopat fouled out, Wally Moses singled and Tresh scored; Moses moving to second on the throw to third. Lefebvre threw out Schalk, but Curtright singled to center, and when Stan Spence let the ball roll thru him for an error, Webb and Moses both crossed the plate. Hodgin struck out to end the Sox's offensive chores for the evening.

The Senators counted their two runs in the home half of the ninth on Spence's single, a pass to Joe Kuhel, Torres' single and Rick Ferrell's double.

McKAY SCORES 1ST TOUCHDOWN FOR COLLEGIANS

Trippi, Dobbs Also Are Outstanding.

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[ALL-STAR ROSTER ON NEXT PAGE.]

Roy McKay, hard driving full back from the University of Texas, yesterday had the honor of scoring the first touchdown in the College All-Stars' practice for the game with the Chicago Bears in Dyche stadium on Aug. 30. McKay's three yard plunge climaxed a 34 yard drive in the first period and gave a blue clad team of stars a touchdown by which they defeated their green shirted mates, 6 to 0, in the opening intra-squad contest of the campaign.

The rotation of teams then matched another Blue eleven against the Reds in a scoreless tie, but this same Blue squad, meeting the original victors, fought to a 6 to 6 deadlock. Yesterday's abbreviated games, on the fifth day of practice, were comparable to the early progress of the 1943 All-Stars who went on to whip the Washington Redskins, 27 to 7.

McKay Scores Early.

Charley Trippi of Georgia and Jim Dewar of Indiana were the half backs on McKay's winning eleven and John Cannady, Hoosier youngster, was at quarter back. The Blues gained possession on the first play of the game when the Greens fumbled. Trippi immediately passed to Bob Ravensberg of Indiana, his left end, for 23 yards. Trippi hit the line for 2 yards and then passed to Dewar for 6. McKay's scoring plunge followed. There was no try for the extra point. Lineups:

Touchdown—McKay.

Just before the end of this game the Blues drove 61 yards, the principal contribution being a 46 yard pass from Trippi to McKay, but the assault failed when third and fourth down passes were incomplete.

Dobbs' Passes Click.

Altho the second Blue team and the Reds did not score, there was more action than one expects in such an early practice. In particular, the Blues' backfield, which included Glenn Dobbs, Tulsa's brilliant half back, advanced steadily at times, but never got the final necessary yards. Dobbs completed two passes in succession to Paul Sizemore, Furman end, for 12 and 11 yards and later hit the same man for 14 yards. An offside penalty checked one assault and the Red line successfully defended against a second drive. Lineups:

In the third game, which matched the second Blue team and the winners of the first game, Dobbs set up his team's touchdown when he intercepted a pass and was downed on the opponents' 12 yard line. Dobbs slashed off tackle for 7 yards and then threw to Sizemore in the end zone for the touchdown.

Clatt, Willis, Fekete Report.

The Green eleven rallied immediately with Trippi turning in a splendid all-around performance. Trippi carried or passed on three out of every four plays and climaxed the scoring drive of 65 yards when he threw accurately to Ravensberg for 18 yards. Ravensberg made the catch in the end zone as he was tackled.

Before scrimmage, all teams participated in quick kicking and punting under pressure. Corwin Clatt, Notre Dame full back who reported yesterday, also had a brief workout in subsequent scrimmage. Bill Willis, Ohio State tackle, another newcomer, was in suit but did not scrimmage. Gene Fekete, also of Ohio State, who led the Buckeyes' attack in 1942 when they won the Western conference title, arrived late in the afternoon.

CUBS WALLOP BRAVES, 11-3, IN 16 HIT ATTACK

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

By way of disproving a growing suspicion that they had forgotten what little they ever knew about the batting arts, the Cubs turned out hits on a quantity productions basis yesterday. They revealed a full line of goods ranging from Bill Nicholson's No. 27 homer, down to an assortment of singles, the display practically paralyzing Boston's Braves in the opener of a four game series. The score was a topheavy, 11 to 3, the Braves' meager total being due to the presence of Japhet Red Lynn, the railroading right-hander.

Apparently aiming to please for a change, the Cubs put the 4,301 guests at ease at the very outset. They tuned in on Nate Andrews in the first for four runs and this was sufficient to convince the fellow that it wouldn't be advisable for him to make an appearance in the second inning. In his place came Woody Rich, ex-Red Sox, and the Cubs were so delighted about the change that they plastered him for six runs in the third, four blossoming from Nicholson's home run.

Lynn Toys with Braves.

Lynn, who new owns three victories, two of them Boston contributions, kept the situation just about as he wanted it from start to finish. Singles by Rich and Max Macon with a pass to Frank Drews sandwiched in let the Braves experience the thrill of a run in the third but that's all they got except a few more base hits until the ninth

M'Spaden and Nelson Win in P.G.A. Meet

Spokane, Wash., Aug. 16 (AP).—Favorites, led by the tournament hotshots, Harold McSpaden, Philadelphia, and Byron Nelson, Toledo, O., crashed thru to one-sided victories today in 36-hole first round matches of the 1944 National P. G. A. golf tournament.

McSpaden flashed the best golf of the round in overwhelming Bruce Coltart, Absecon, N. J., 7 and 5, and the latter had nothing to be ashamed of as he also came in under standard figures for the Manito course.

McSpaden 5 Under Par.

The Philadelphian tossed a five under par 67 at Coltart to lead 4 up at the 18th. Coltart took a 71. McSpaden continued his brilliant play with a third nine 33 against his rival's 35, where he stood 6 up.

Nelson, the No. 1 pre-tournament choice and medalist with a 36-hole qualifying total of 138, took the measure of Mike De Massey, San Jose, Cal., 5 and 4, and he finished three under par for the day. On the first 18 he carded his third successive 69 for the tournament and held a 5-up lead at half-way point. He was 4 up at the 27th.

Craig Wood, of Mamaroneck, N. Y., came in with a 5 and 4 triumph over Jimmy Dangelo, Muskogee, Okla., but a former national open champion, Tony Manero, Greenwich, Conn., had a tougher struggle.

Manero won from Clayton Aleridge, youthful Huntington Beach, Cal., player, 1 up on the 38th hole. Manero led 1 up at the 18th, but was 1 down at the 27th. He went back into the lead, but Aleridge evened it again at the 34th. Manero's par 4 broke the deadlock on the second extra hole.

Dudley, Goggin Win.

Other topnotchers who gained first round victories included Ed Dudley, Colorado Springs, Colo., with a 7 and 6 victory over Steve Savel, Schenectady, N. Y.; Sam Byrd, Redford, Mich., who defeated W. A. Stackhouse, Sequin, Tex., 4 and 3; Toney Penna, Dayton, O., who eliminated Morrie Gravatt, Williamsport, Pa., 3 and 2; Bob Hamilton, Evansville, Ind., who conquered Gene Kunes, Philadelphia, Pa., 6 and 5; Jimmy Hines, Amsterdam, N. Y., with a 7 and 6 decision over Thurman Edwards, Winston-Salem, N. C., and Willie Goggin, White Plains, N. Y. Goggin rolled up the biggest score in beating Purvis Ferree, Winston-Salem, N. C., 8 and 7.

The following pairings will be in effect for tomorrow's second round: upper bracket—Nelson vs. Fry; Goggin vs. Manero; Byrd vs. Congdon; Dudley vs. Hines; lower bracket—McSpaden vs. Annon; Hamilton vs. Basslet; Bell vs. Wood; Penna vs. Schneiter.

ERRARD TAKES PRAIRIE STATE; BEST EFFORT 2D

BY MAURICE SHEVLIN.

Errard, John Marsch's fancy-little bay son of Challenger II., caught Don Ameche's Sir Bim and his many followers off guard yesterday and made a runaway race of the 10th running of the $13,350 Prairie State stakes.

In the lead from start to finish, Errard, guided by Otto Grohs, swept past the judges three lengths in front of C. C. Tanner's Best Effort, Sir Bim's running mate, in the fast time of 1:12 4-5 for six furlongs on a muddy strip. Leo J. Cailloette's Joe's Choice, a 16 to 1 shot, took the show, five lengths in back of Best Effort and four lengths ahead of Henry Tikulski's Icangetit.

Ameche Sees Sir Bim Run 5th.

Don Ameche, star of screen and radio, was in the stands as Sir Bim, the 4 to 5 favorite seeking his third consecutive victory and his first stake triumph, took fifth place in the field of 10 juveniles.

Errard, which had won three of his previous six races while finishing second twice, went to the post at odds of 4 to 1 and returned $10.80, $3.80, and $2.80 across the board. The Tanner-Ameche entry returned $2.40 and $2.20 and Joe's Choice paid $3.80 to show.

Grohs took Errard into the lead soon after breaking out of the starting gate, but Sir Bim, with Conn McCreary up, seemed to be running well in second place down the back stretch, with Joe's Choice a length in back.

As the field went into the stretch turn, Errard began to pull away and was leading Sir Bim by three lengths, with Joe's Choice just a length and a half back. Rounding the turn for home Errard extended his advantage to five lengths as Sir Bim fell back and Best Effort, with Charley Corbett in the driver's seat, moved into second.

$73.20 Daily Double.

Coming down the stretch Grohs had Errard well in hand and, while Best Effort cut a couple of lengths off his advantage, Errard won going away.

The victory was worth $9,600 to the winner, with $2,000 going to Best Effort, $1,000 to Joe's Choice, and $500 to Icangetit.

Sylvester Haynes rode the winners in both ends of the daily double, which paid $73.20. J. P. Kampmeyer's Kamp's Reward was his vehicle in the opener at $37, and Mrs. E. W. Kalensky's Hop Picker scored in the second at $4.80 for a $2 win ticket.

Alsab, winner of $350,015 in three campaigns during which he won 25 times in 51 starts, made his farewell appearance between the fifth and sixth races. He is being retired to the Kentucky farm of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sabath.

MEDWICK, KERR FINED $100 FOR LOOSE FIELDING

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 16 (AP).—Manager Mel Ott of the New York Giants today fined Joe Medwick, left fielder, and Johnny Kerr, short stop, $100 each as a result of incidents in last night's game at Cincinnati.

Medwick was fined for holding the ball long enough for a runner to score on what should have been an easy out at the plate. Kerr failed to cover second.

Cubs Trounce Braves, 11-3, in 16 Hit Attack

when Lynn figured he could afford to be gentle. At that point the enemy tapped him for four hits, one a double by Pinch-man Chuck Workman, and might have counted three times instead of two if Andy Pafko hadn't demonstrated his arm power by shooting out a guy at the plate.

The Cubs' first inning was so juicy that five batters in a row survived with an out in between. Stan Hack led with a double and Don Johnson doubled him home. Phil Cavarretta singled and Nicholson was passed, after which Dom Dallessandro singled to score a pair. Len Merullo's long fly gave Nicholson ample time to trot to the plate with the fourth run.

Hit Jackpot in Third.

Singles by Pafko and Merullo started the jackpot in the strenuous third. Billy Holm bunted them along and Lynn got himself into the hitting end of the debate by singling both over the counter. After Hack had flied out, Johnson beat out a bunt and Cavarretta walked, loading the bases. Then Nicholson banged No. 27 over the right field wall, scoring everybody and arousing the Braves to protest to Umpire Lou Jorda. They claimed it was foul but Jorda was hard of hearing. The Cubs' only run after this grew from a pass to Pafko and double by Merullo in the eighth.

ADDRESS A B 122, TRIBUNE

ONE ARMED STAR SEES FEATS AS MERELY ROUTINE

With an astoundingly simple, "I just learned to do without it," Ellis Jones, All-Star guard from the University of Tulsa, yesterday dismissed as unimportant to his participation in athletics the fact that his right arm was amputated just below the shoulder when he was 11.

The amputation was necessary when blood poisoning set in after Jones had injured the arm in a fall from a tree. Now, 23, he has been a first string guard at Tulsa for two years, played two seasons of junior college football and four years at Abilene, Tex., High school where he was a teammate of John Kimbrough, later an outstanding full back at Texas A. & M.

Jones sees nothing particularly brilliant about the manner in which he conquered what to many have proved an insurmountable handicap.

Strong Man on Strong Team.

Lest it be thought that Jones really is just a mediocre football player, a glance at Tulsa's record for the last two years is in order. In each of those years the Hurricanes went thru their regular schedule unbeaten and each time were invited to play in the Sugar Bowl game. In 1943 they lost in New Orleans to Tennessee, 14 to 7, and on Jan. 1 of this year were beaten by Georgia Tech, 20 to 18. Each of these Tulsa teams was regarded as among the country's best. Jones started all but two of the games in those two seasons, sufficient testimonial to his ability.

Talking about himself is not one of the athlete's characteristics and it takes Coach Henry Frnka of Tulsa, one of the All-Star assistants, to reveal his full ability.

"Jones is one of the finest men to coach I ever have known," said Frnka. "He has unusual speed and is a mighty dependable blocker. As a result, we usually pulled him out of the line to form a part of the interference. On defense, where he might be expected to have tackling trouble, he bowls opponents over with the same power that he shows in his blocking.

He's All-Around Athlete.

"Ellis is not a flashy player who makes a great play one minute and then misses one the next. Instead, he is what every coach wants—a dependable, steady ball player who can be counted upon to be in on every play that comes his way.

"Don't get the idea that football is his only sport. He also is a brilliant softball pitcher. This spring he won 21 straight games as his team took the Tulsa Industrial league title. At the start of the season opponents tried to bunt him to death, but he soon stopped that by showing he could field bunts as capably as any two armed pitcher. Yes, and he's an excellent swimmer, too."

MILLER TO TAKE ELDER'S PLACE ON COMMISSION

Pete Miller has been appointed to succeed Lt. Jack Elder of the navy as secretary of the Illinois Athletic commission, Sheldon Clark, commission chairman, said yesterday. Miller, who also replaced Lt. Elder as athletic director of the Catholic Youth organization last March, nearly a year after the latter had entered the service, will take over his new duties at the next meeting of the commission on Sept. 11, the chairman said.

Pete Miller.

For several years Miller has been associated on a volunteer basis with the C. Y. O. as coach of the organization's ice skating and cycling teams. The skating teams, under his leadership, have not been defeated in the last three years, championships won including THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S Silver Skates Derbies each year since 1941. Miller also is serving his second term as president of the Amateur Skating union.

Schumacher to Leave N. U. Sports Staff

Ade Schumacher, assistant athletic director at Northwestern university, has resigned to accept a position with United Drug, Inc., it was announced yesterday by K. L. Wilson, athletic director. Schumacher has been a member of the athletic staff since his graduation from the engineering school in 1927. As an undergraduate he played half back on the football teams of 1924, '25 and '26.

He joined the department as director of intramural athletics, a position which he has retained together with his other duties. He established the university's first intramural program which has served as a pattern for similar departments in universities thruout the country.

"Northwestern will sorely miss the services of Ade Schumacher," Director Wilson said yesterday. "He has been a counselor and friend to hundreds of Northwestern men for many years. He departs with the best wishes of his many friends for success in his new career."

Schumacher's new position will take him to Los Angeles. He will leave Sept. 15 with his wife and two sons for the coast.

DERRINGER SAYS WIFE A PITCHER TOO; DIVORCED

Pitcher Paul Derringer of the Chicago Cubs was the target of a cocktail and dinner plate hurled at him by his wife, Eloise, he testified yesterday before Superior Judge Joseph Sabath in obtaining a divorce from her.

She tossed the cocktail in his face last May 21 in their home when he remarked he could fix a better drink, he said. The dinner plate struck him after a discussion about how he liked his steak. His testimony was substantiated by Harold Vandenburg, also a Cub pitcher.

Under terms of an out of court agreement, Derringer and his former wife will divide custody of their daughter, Leda, 4, on a six months basis. Derringer, 39, lives at 518 Roscoe st.

VAST CHICAGO WAR JOB POSES MAJOR HURDLE

Bars to Production for Civilians Told.

Predicting war production schedules will not drop appreciably before the end of 1944, John Nuveen Jr., regional war production board director, said the Chicago region, with its critical labor shortages, is in a "tough" period as far as meeting war output requirements is concerned.

John Nuveen Jr.

Before the Chicago Association of Commerce war problems school in the Palmer House, Nuveen reiterated that the easing of controls by WPB would help little in increasing civilian goods production in this region.

Many Critical Labor Areas.

Factors involved in limiting such production were listed as:

1. This region has the second largest amount of war contracts and facilities in the country.

2. It has twice as many No. 1 critical labor areas as any other section; that is, areas in which the labor shortage is acute.

3. It has almost twice as many No. 1 and 2 labor areas as any other region. A No. 2 area is one in which a shortage is anticipated within six months.

4. It has no No. 4 labor areas; that is, areas in which there is a surplus of labor.

Nuveen said the reconversion problem boiled down to preparing for civilian goods production without interfering with war output, which is of first importance.

Any broad trend toward civilian production in areas of less severe labor shortages would aggravate the problem of maintaining war output in areas of critical labor shortages, he said. He explained this by saying that many of the areas where the labor situation was tight have been forced to call for workers from less critical areas. Many of these workers have left their families behind and if civilian production were expanded in their home areas they would likely return to jobs there, he said.

Increased Shortage Forecast.

Nuveen emphasized the continued need of workers in the Chicago region and said the United States employment service had openings for 40,000 workers, 37,000 of them essential. He forecast a shortage of between 70,000 and 75,000 workers in the region by Dec. 31.

William H. Spencer, regional director of the war man power commission, told members of the Publicity Club of Chicago at a luncheon meeting in the Morrison hotel that recruitment of male labor from well supplied areas for those with labor shortages is WMC's most difficult problem.

He said the commission intensified its recruitment program July 1 when it established employment ceilings and invoked priority referral requirements. But 100,000 workers still are needed thruout the country to fill critical jobs in the food, transportation, tire, ship repair, and foundry and forging industries, he said.

WMC's most active recruitment program concerns the du Pont Pacific northwest project, Spencer said. He termed it the "most important single phase of the war program."

ALUMINUM USE IN RAIL COAL CAR DEMONSTRATED

The substitution of aluminum for steel in the rebuilding of a coal transporting hopper car has saved the Burlington road approximately four tons, or 18 per cent of the weight of conventional equipment, the railroad announced yesterday. The car will be exhibited at the Union station today from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m.

The car, which has a rated capacity of 55 tons and a load limit of 66 tons, originally weighed 44,700 pounds empty. After recent rebuilding, with aluminum substituted in plates and other parts, it weighed only 36,800 pounds, a decrease of 7,900 pounds. More weight was saved thru use of hollow axles.

Altho a saving of four tons in the weight of a car may seem small, it means that four additional tons of revenue freight can be transported at the same expenditure of tractive power, officials said. Whether the saving will prove sufficient to compensate for the higher cost of aluminum will depend on the post-war price of the light metal, it was said. The aluminum was provided by the Aluminum Company of America.

F. D. R. URGES COAL CONTROL BILL ADOPTION

Washington, D. C., Aug. 16 (AP).—Rep. Flannagan [D., W. Va.] released a letter from President Roosevelt today urging early passage of legislation to regulate the bituminous coal industry again.

The President expressed belief that better results would be obtained under a single head in one of the executive departments, rather than an independent commission.

Civilian Goods Output Plans Held Justified

Washington, D. C., Aug. 16 [Special].—Steps taken by Chairman Nelson of the war production board for the resumption of production of much-needed civilian goods will not hamper output for war, the senate committee investigating the war program decided today. This conclusion was reached despite a showing at a closed inquiry lasting nearly four hours of shortages of war material in some categories and a need for shifts of man power and concentrations of certain materials to overcome them.

Witnesses before the committee were Nelson and Maj. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, director of material for the army service forces. Altho he admitted "specialized shortages" exist, Nelson told the committee "there is no shortage at the battle fronts."

More Relaxations Predicted.

After the hearing committee members let it be known that more relaxations of prohibitions against production of civilian goods will be ordered "as soon as possible." They said information presented gave no evidence to indicate that Nelson's orders anticipating a return to civilian output were not justified.

They emphasized shortages in material are in specialized categories, such as trucks, tires, tanks, and other items, the production of which is largely confined to certain industrial areas, and that surpluses exist in other war manufactures. In some areas, particularly those in which aircraft production has been cut back sharply, labor surpluses are developing. In these areas resumption of production for civilian use could start without interfering with the war program, they said.

Broad Program Held "Good."

Acting Chairman Hatch [D., N. M.] said the over-all production program was found to be "exceedingly good," but that in moving toward civilian production two things must be avoided.

The first was excessive optimism over production. The second was "any thought that the production program was breaking down because shortages in some items do exist." These would be extreme views, "neither of which is correct," he said.

GRAINS HIGHER AS RAINS FAIL TO END DROUTH

Scattered showers over the corn belt states led to general selling of oats and rye futures in the early trading yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade. Prices receded ½ to 1 cent a bushel before the official reports said the drouth was not broken. Later buying of rye by commission houses which frequently act for northwestern elevator interests and short covering advanced prices 1¾ to 2¾ cents from the bottom to a new high on the current movement.

Closing trades on rye were up ½ to 1⅝ cents, September leading, and about 5½ cents above the recent low. Oats gained ⅝ to 1¼ cents, December leading. Wheat, affected late by strength in other grains, closed ¼ to ⅞ cent higher. Barley was 1½ to 1⅝ cents higher.

Heavy buying of rye was accompanied by reports of additional sales of cash grain to distillers and large shipments from Chicago. In the last three days local elevators have loaded out 270,000 bushels and brokers look for a reduction of about 500,000 bushels in stocks during this week. The upturn was helped by buying induced by renewed agitation of congressmen for parity prices for farmers on leading agricultural commodities.

GROWERS URGED TO HOLD COTTON FROM MARKETS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 16 (AP).—In efforts to force cotton prices higher, Sen. Bankhead [D., Ala.] urged producers today to hold the crop off the market until parity had been reached. Telegrams to governors, commissioners, and farm organization presidents asking their aid, were dispatched after a call by Bankhead and cotton manufacturers on War Mobilization Director Byrnes.

"Byrnes assured the full cooperation of his office in carrying out the directive in the Bankhead-Brown cotton amendment that cotton and other farm prices be raised to parity," Bankhead said.

[At New York City the cotton market rallied 95 cents to $1.25 a bale yesterday when news was received of Sen. Bankhead's statement concerning full parity prices to farmers for raw cotton.]

STOCK MARKET BOUNDS IN LATE BUYING SURGE

Steels Lead Broad Industrial Rally.

New York, Aug. 16 (AP).—Investors overcame their concern over war industry reconversion difficulties today and steels led an advance of a broad group of industrial stocks in a final hour buying wave.

Top flight rails, utilities, and specialties also attracted support in the rally, and gains ranged from major fractions to more than a point for many prominent issues.

The broader upturn followed speculative flurries that had given a lift to a number of motor and air line shares. The earlier part of the trading session was marked by reluctance to buy usual favorites as the rapid allied advance thru France increased concern over what an early Nazi defeat might mean to industry.

Late Activity Lifts Volume.

Dealings, intermittently slow, were swelled by the active finish to 860,490 shares, against 784,050 yesterday.

United States Steel was up 1¼, Bethlehem 1, and Youngstown 1¼. Chrysler and Reo each rose more than a point, as did Western Union.

American Telephone, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, American Air Lines, and Allied Chemical all gained major fractions. Also rising were General Motors, Willys-Overland, Hupp Motors, and United States Rubber, United Air Lines, Pan American Airways, Braniff, Standard Oil [New Jersey], Texas company, and American Radiator.

Of 850 issues dealt in, 496 advanced, 212 were unchanged, and only 142 declined.

BONDS GAIN MODERATELY.

New York, Aug. 16 (AP).—Broadened buying interest in some of the medium priced rails and scattered gains in other groups pushed the bond market moderately higher today.

A late rally in stocks was followed in lesser degree by bonds, giving the main corporate list its best gains in the final hour.

CHICAGO STOCKS HIGHER.

Prices were higher on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday in turnover of 39,000 shares. Volume leaders were Chicago corporation, down ⅛, Standard Dredging, up ⅛, and Cities Service, up ¼. New highs for the year were set by Binks Manufacturing, 8, up ½; Chicago Flexible Shaft, 37½, up ¾; Line Material company, 13¼, up ¼; Trane company, 15, up ⅝, and Transcontinental and Western Air, 24⅜, up 3⅛.

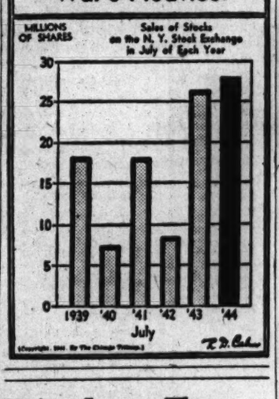

CHING PREDICTS CRITICAL LABOR ERA AFTER WAR

A critical period in post-war industrial labor relations was predicted yesterday by Cyrus Ching, vice president of the United States Rubber company, at the 22d annual institute of commercial and trade executives at Northwestern university.

"I regard the post-war labor relations as extremely critical," he said. "Most of us in industry have been kidding ourselves that our labor relations are good; we have believed so because we have met the representatives of labor and come to agreement with good will and fellowship. But let us not be fooled. As our industrial organizations have grown they have lost contact with the majority of employes. After the war employers must provide every worker with opportunity to give suggestions and express his opinions.

"At present there is no such thing as collective bargaining, because employers are refusing to make concessions to labor until matters have been referred to a government agency. This failure of labor and industry to agree without going to the government is not aiding their relations."

Disclose Easy Cutback Plans for Amertorp

Gradual curtailment of torpedo production at the Amertorp corporation plant in Forest Park which will result in the release of about 3,000 workers by Jan. 1 was announced yesterday by 9th naval district headquarters. The production cut will start Oct. 1, the navy said.

Three other plants will be affected by the cut, the Amertorp plant in St. Louis and the naval torpedo stations at Alexandria, Va., and Newport, R. I. The adjustment will hold each of the plants at an adequate operating level and thus maintain torpedo production capacity in several units as insurance against future need the navy said.

Attributed to Victories.

The curtailment is the result of "outstanding successes of our task forces in the South Pacific, coupled with the effectiveness of our submarine and aviation operations in reducing and restricting Japanese shipping," the announcement said.

"The corporation has stated that for the time being, if it hires no new employes, it estimates that the present average number of employes voluntarily leaving each week will take care of the major portion of the reduction in total employes occasioned by the lower production schedule.

"Each of these plants is located in a group 1 labor area with the exception of the Amertorp plant at St. Louis. As a result the war man power commission stated that employes released could be placed without difficulty in many instances in their local area or near-by war plants.

Cutback Plan Reviewed.

The navy said the production adjustment was reviewed and allocated by WPB's production executive committee staff, which is made up of representatives of the army, navy, maritime commission, Smaller War Plants corporation, and other government agencies. The group was organized to approve and advise on location of cutbacks after a government procurement agency has determined a program must be reduced.

Amertorp, a subsidiary of American Can company, operates the Forest Park plant for the government. None of the Amertorp officials was available last night for comment on the curtailment.

FLEXIBLE SHAFT VOTES DIVIDEND ON SPLIT STOCK

Directors of Chicago Flexible Shaft company yesterday declared a dividend of 35 cents a share, the first payment since the capital stock was split on a three for one basis in July. The company paid $1 on the old stock June 30.

Kimberly-Clark corporation voted an extra dividend of 12½ cents a common share with the regular quarterly disbursement of 37½ cents. It was the second extra dividend this year.

Pet Milk company declared regular quarterly dividends of 25 cents a share on common and $1.06¼ on first and second preferred. The second preferred was issued to acquire Van Camp Milk company as of April 1, 1944.

PHILCO BOOSTS OUTPUT 10 PCT.; PROFIT HIGHER

Crane Company Net Earnings Rise.

Philco corporation in the second quarter of this year increased its production 10 per cent over the first quarter to meet urgent army and navy requirements for radar and radio equipment, John Ballantyne, president, informed stockholders yesterday.

Indications are that the accelerated rate of output will be maintained until Germany is defeated and the over-all war program reduced, Ballantyne said. Output of artillery fuses is increasing rapidly in response to army ordnance requests, he said.

Gain in Quarter, Six Months.

Net income for the second quarter and for the first six months of 1944 both showed increases over a year earlier. Earnings in the quarter were $961,384, or 70 cents a share, against $946,326, or 69 cents a share in the second quarter of 1943. Net income for the six months was $1,907,710, or $1.39 a share, compared with $1,526,282 or $1.11 a share.

The Crane company, Chicago plumbing manufacturer, and McGraw Electric company, Elgin, Ill., both reported increased earnings in the 12 months ended June 30.

J. L. Holloway, vice president of Crane, reported net profit was $5,725,836, or $2.03 a share, against $4,403,747, or $1.46 a share, in the preceding 12 months.

McGraw Backlog Is Large.

McGraw Electric does not seek new types of war business, said Max McGraw, president, but continues to bid on work for the navy of the same kind it has been doing. He said the company has a backlog of war contracts sufficient to maintain its present production rate six to eight months.

Net income for the 12 months was $1,000,922, equal to $2.11 a share, compared with revised figure of $931,076, or $1.97 a share, for the preceding 12 months. Net sales rose to $10,491,803 from $8,359,257.

United States Treasury Halts Export of Gold to Argentina

Washington, D. C., Aug. 16 (AP).—The United States today applied a single warning turn of the economic screws to recalcitrant Argentina, halting the homeward flow from this country of gold owned by the South American nation.

It was the first positive action since Secretary of State Hull several weeks ago described Argentina as a "deserter" from the allied cause.

Argentina has been withdrawing gold from the United States for several months, shipments aggregating 20 to 30 million dollars. The treasury's foreign funds control division recently refused to permit a shipment from New Orleans of about 2 million dollars, and it was understood that no further shipments would be permitted pending clarification of the diplomatic situation.

Future Course Not Indicated.

The state and treasury departments declined to comment. It was not clear whether the halting of gold shipments was a forerunner to more drastic economic action.

The possibility of a general "freeze" of Argentina's assets has been under consideration for months. The order actually has been drawn, but never issued.

The stop on gold shipments was not regarded as a particularly drastic curb. In effect, Argentina acquired the status of a "neutral," and lost a preferred status.

Neutral countries are not permitted to withdraw gold, but this policy is not applied to allied or associated nations. As a result, Latin American nations firmly aligned with the allies may withdraw gold from the United States.

No estimate was available of the value of Argentina's gold or other assets in the United States.

Hull's description of Argentina as a "deserter" followed the recall for consultations of Ambassador Norman Armour. Great Britain also recalled her ambassador. The other American nations later reaffirmed a policy of nonrecognition of the present military government in Argentina.

Argentine Position

BUENOS AIRES, Aug 16 (AP).—The Presidential office issued a statement tonight that the government "in no case will expropriate either foreign-owned or Argentine enterprises which are rooted in the country, except thru negotiation or legal means." The finance minister said the United States' decision to halt shipment of Argentine gold holdings was not particularly significant at present because "the free use of our gold and foreign exchange is not affected."

CITY TRACTION PLAN RUNS INTO SNAG IN COURT

Prove Price Fair, Igoe Demands.

BY WILLIAM SHINNICK.

Mayor Kelly's project to have the city buy the properties of the surface and elevated lines and then combine them with the Chicago Motor Coach company in a unified municipally owned traction system ran into difficulties yesterday in federal District court.

Judge Igoe made it plain that he would not consider the plan until there had been a showing that the city's proposed offer of 84½ million dollars for the properties—75 million for the surface lines and $9,650,000 for the L—represented values correctly.

Begins Asking Questions.

Informed by attorneys for several surface lines bondholders' committees that practical agreement with the city existed on price, and that the committees were satisfied with a proposed allocation of the money to different grades of securities, the judge began asking questions.

The committee might agree, he said, but had the committees asked the actual owners whether they would be satisfied? The attorneys admitted that they had not communicated the proposal to their principals. Judge Igoe doubted that all the real owners would accept.

He asked how the city proposed to acquire title to the surface lines and their subsidiary companies. Joseph Grossman, assistant corporation counsel, said he supposed it would be done thru a court sale.

"With City as Only Bidder?"

"With the city as the only bidder?" demanded the judge. "Nobody else can get a franchise. Under that program the question is whether the price is fair."

Judge Igoe also heard pleas for and against ending the 17 year equity receivership and putting the surface lines into bankruptcy under the Chandler act, the status occupied by the L company. In bankruptcy the bondholder committees would be eliminated and the court would ap-

PORTABLE TOOLS AT FRONT.

I should like some information on Black & Decker Manufacturing company's war time business.—H. N.

Answer: The company's sales of portable electric and other motor driven tools have increased each year during the war, from 5.3 million dollars for the fiscal year ended Sept. 30, 1939, to 19.8 millions for 1943. The demand came both from industries and from the armies of the United States and its allies.

The tools are adaptable to the army's mobile repair shops, and they are reported in service for repairing trucks, tractors, tanks, airplanes, and other equipment behind the fighting lines. The company's products include tools and accessories for grinding, polishing, planing, and drilling, and fractional horsepower motors.

Higher income taxes and substantial allowances for contingency reserve caused a decline in net income from the war time peak of $3.78 a share in the 1941 fiscal year to $1.72 in 1942 and $1.68 in 1943. For 1940 net income per share was $2.82; for 1939, $1.60, and for 1938, 76 cents. Interim earnings for the six months ended last March were $1.86 a share.

Capitalization consists of 389,263 no par shares, with no funded debt. Net working capital as of March 31, 1944, was $5,195,645.

Along with the usual quarterly dividend of 40 cents a share, 40 cents extra has been declared, payable next Sept. 22. Dividends at varying rates have been paid each year since 1937. They were omitted for a six year interval during the depression of the 1930s.

HOG PRICES HOLD STEADY; BETTER CATTLE ADVANCE

Steady prices were paid for all hogs offered at the Chicago stock yards yesterday. Most hogs weighing 240 pounds or less sold at $14.75 a hundred pounds, and the bulk of butchers and sows over 240 pounds at $14.00, the two OPA ceiling prices.

Brisk competition among eastern order buyers for the dwindling supply of prime cattle sent the steer top 35 cents higher. A price of $18.35 was paid for 1,399 pound averages, highest since November, 1937, and within 5 cents of the highest August sale since 1919.

The higher priced cattle advanced mostly 25 to 35 cents. Others were mostly steady, including beef cows, canners, cutters, calves, and bulls. Most steers sold at $14.50 to $17.90.

The small supply of sheep and lambs sold at steady prices. The best available were natives which sold at $14.35.

CITY'S TRACTION PLAN RUNS INTO SNAGS IN COURT

Must Prove Price Fair, Igoe Insists.

point a trustee to arrange a sale of surface lines' assets.

When the city and the committee attorneys protested that bankruptcy proceedings would delay the municipal ownership plan from several months to two years, the judge remarked acidly that after 17 years a little more delay should not be important.

Indicates He Favors Bankruptcy.

He said, everything said in court tended to show that the receivership should be ended and bankruptcy begun.

"As things are now," he added, "the court has no control over the committees."

Under the city proposal the senior surface lines bondholders would receive 95 cents on the dollar for their 72 million holdings. The second grade of securities, 16 million of Series A bonds, would receive about 50 per cent of principal, and other securities smaller percentages. [In addition to the 75 millions the investors would retain cash and other assets that would make possible an estimated distribution of 86 million.]

Law Requires Full Payment.

Judge Igoe said that under the law each ranking security would have to be paid in full before anything could be turned over to securities of lower rank. He questioned the power of the committees to waive any part of the rights of the senior owners.

Today Judge Igoe will consider whether interest on the first mortgage bonds, overdue since Aug. 1, shall be paid. He was expected to withhold action until Sept. 18, when he will make known his decision on the bankruptcy matter.

The court action had an unfavorable effect on the market for surface lines securities. The first mortgage bonds, which had been selling around 70, were off about 2 points, and other securities in proportion.

EGG CONTRACTS SWING WIDELY, CLOSE LOWER

Egg futures prices moved in a wide range on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday, dropping to new seasonal lows after opening ½ cent a dozen above Tuesday's close, then regaining part of the loss in a late rally.

The early rise came on a war food administration announcement that it no longer had types of eggs to be used by breakers or driers and would not move shell or frozen eggs into the market in large volume or below ceiling prices, together with a comparatively heavy July out of storage movement. News that more money would have to be appropriated to carry out support programs brought on selling pressure later.

October contracts advanced to 37.30 cents a dozen after opening at 37.25 cents, then slid to the low of 36.25 cents. They rallied to close at 36.40 cents. December followed the same pattern and closed at 36.45 cents. November was inactive. Sales were 85 October and 156 December contracts.

REFINANCE PLAN APPROVAL ASKED BY OHIO EDISON

The Ohio Edison company yesterday asked securities and exchange commission approval of a program to retire $52,446,000 of 4 per cent bonds and 198,952 shares of $6 and $5 preferred stock. To provide funds for the retirement, the utility would issue $30,962,000 of 30 year bonds and 180,000 shares of new preferred stock, borrow 10 millions dollars from banks on 2¼ per cent installment notes, and use 17 million dollars of its cash.

Edward G. Budd Manufacturing company, Philadelphia, asked approval of an issue of 60,000 shares of $5 cumulative prior preferred stock. Proceeds from the sale would be used to redeem 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock at $110 a share plus accumulated dividends from Nov. 1, 1930, to the redemption date, Oct. 15. An additional 35,868 shares were registered to be offered in exchange for 7 per cent preferred at the rate of two $5 preferred shares for each 7 per cent share.

Power output in the country as a whole increased to 4,415,368,000 kilowatt hours from 4,287,827,000 a year ago, the Edison Electric institute reported.

HUGE SALES JOB LEFT BY U. S. TO WPA CASTOFFS

Halleck Protests Use in Handling Surplus.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 16.—WPA castoffs, architects, and filling station operators are among those chosen by the New Deal to handle the huge merchandising job of selling the government's already mounting stock of surplus war goods, Rep. Halleck [R., Ind.] disclosed in the house today.

Speaking during debate on the surplus goods disposal bill, Halleck said this employment of inexperienced workers is clear evidence that congress must amend the bill to require advice from competent business men in handling the 100 billion dollar sales task.

Halleck laid before the house the past records of the 171 top sales executives of the treasury procurement division, now the chief surplus sales agency under executive order.

Only 11 Are Experienced.

"The results of my analysis," he said, "were somewhat surprising. Only 11 of the 171 had had the slightest merchandising experience.

"The largest single group of 69 men were former WPA employes, or graduates of the Harry Hopkins school of free handouts. Fifty-nine others had been government purchasing agents, but were without sales experience. Thirteen were casualties of the national youth administration executive force who were forced off that pay roll by Aubrey Williams.

"Six came from the war man power commission. Three were from the department of agriculture, two being expert foresters, and three others were former stockroom clerks. Two were from the department of interior, two were registered architects, two were machinists, and one was a former filing station operator.

"There were the key men employed by procurement and charged with the sales of billions of dollars' worth of goods, according to an official report on March 27, 1944."

Some Salesmen Added.

Halleck said he understood that since March 27, a "limited" number of experienced salesmen have been added to the force, but, he added, the staff should be reorganized to include only men of board sales experience.

He proposed that the pending bill include a section requiring every agency handling surplus sales to consult with established business advisory committees representing all lines of merchandise. He further urged amendments to give small companies an equal chance with large ones to buy government goods and to require the sale of surpluses only thru established merchandising channels.

"I do not want," Halleck told the house, "to see this 100 billion dollars worth of goods sold in a slipshod manner to a few speculators or given away wholesale to individuals."

Rep. Church [R., Ill.] also urged that "parlor theorists" and "reformists" be outlawed from surplus sales posts. The house will consider amendments to the measure tomorrow.

$20 Benefits Favored.

A proposal for $20 weekly unemployment benefits gained support today on a report that War Mobilization Director Byrnes proposed that amount to the house ways and means committee. There were indications that house backers of the senate defeated Kilgore bill providing unemployment pay up to $35 for displaced war workers, would settle for that figure.

Testifying in executive session, Byrnes indorsed the principles of the "states' rights" unemployment pay bill passed last week by the senate, with the suggestion that the federal government set up minimum standards. The senate bill does not undertake to boost state payments, which now vary, but guarantees the solvency of state funds and makes eligible for benefits some 3½ million government war workers. Before accepting it, the senate turned thumbs down on the bill of Sen. Kilgore [D., W. Va.] to set uniform rates with the federal government augmenting state funds.

SEEK CUNEO FARM AID IN THEFT.

Chicago police were aiding yesterday in a search for Anthony D'Antonio, 18, who was alleged to have stolen a station wagon, two expensive saddles, and a shotgun from the John F. Cuneo Jr., farm, near Libertyville, where he had been employed since Aug. 2.

DAY by DAY on the FARM by GAIL COMPTON

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Sheep grazing the woods stood on their hind legs and browsed a straight line off the trees to get something green to eat.

Aug. 16, 1944.

A TOUR of the farm quickly discloses the heavy toll already exacted by the drouth. Almost all of the summer color has vanished. The farm is blanketed in dark browns and yellows, despite a short shower Tuesday night.

The pastures are brown and dried, and what little grass is left is making slight growth. In a few low spots, there still is a little green forage, but the stock is hard put to get a fill by grazing. Supplemental feedings of silage are in order for the dairy cattle and the breeding herds.

Legume Seedings Suffer.

Leaves of the trees are badly wilted—and in many cases are turning brown and falling. The scene resembles those common in October and November. Where the trees have been watered about the farm homes, they are holding up fairly well. The wet spring caused most of the trees to put out an unsually heavy foliage, but they have not been able to support it during the dry spell.

The legume seedings in the oat fields are suffering considerably. They got a good start this spring and made an excellent growth. Now, however, they are going backward rapidly and only quick relief thru heavy rains will assure good hay fields next year. The legume seeding in the wheat field is almost a total loss, altho it looked good this spring.

"Browse Line" on Trees.

In one woodlot, the sheep have reared onto their hind legs to graze the leaves and branches of the trees and shrubs in an effort to get green feed. The result is a "browse line" across the bottom of the trees that is as straight as a string.

The hay cuttings have been light. One of the best fields of alfalfa is slipping rapidly. Close inspection discloses the plants are yellowing and dying. The plants generally are only six inches tall—some of them only four inches.

Farmers should turn their stock into hay fields now to compensate for lack of pasture. Several hours a day on an alfalfa field will go far toward conserving winter feed. Watch dairy cows turned onto alfalfa to prevent bloating. Farmers must use every available acre to keep their stock fed.

The GARDEN by Ben Markland

GARDENERS in coöperative plots who have no watering facilities are turning to furrow irrigation as a means of offsetting the long druoth. Overhead watering with rotary sprinklers is the preferred method, but it cannot be used in many vacant lot gardens.

However, gardeners can dig four to five inch furrows between the rows, then fill the furrows with water from the nearest outlet. Water should be put into the furrows until it forms small puddles, then the furrows should be refilled with dry soil to form a mulch and slow the capillary action. Additional covering of straw or rotted compost also helps the ground retain this moisture.

The furrows should be no closer than six inches to the rows and above the rows, if the garden slopes. Making deep furrows too close to vegetables may damage roots. In the case of single plants [eggplants, peppers, etc.], circular furrows can be made around the stems.

U. S. GETS $780,000 TAX ON PIN AND SLOT MACHINES

Carter H. Harrison, collector of internal revenue, announced yesterday that he had collected $780,000 in the fiscal year ended July 1, 1944, on slot machines and pinball games in 17 northern Illinois counties. On slot machines the federal tax is $100 a year, and on pinball games the tax is $10 a year if no prizes are awarded; $100 if there are prizes. Little of the revenue came from Cook county, Harrison's staff reported. A large share of it was said to have been sent in from Lake county.

INVASION MAP OF THE SOUTHERN COASTAL AREA OF FRANCE

● This is a new military map of the main coastal area of southern France, showing the Rhone river from near Montelimar to its mouth, the great Mediterranean port of Marseille, Toulon, site of the big French naval base; and important cities such as Perpignan, Narbonne, Beziers, Montpellier, Nimes, Alais, Arles, Avignon, and others. Railways, highways, airfields, seaplane anchorages, dirigible bases, and main coastal defenses are indicated, as well as natural physical features such as rivers, land elevations, and coast contours. The map is presented as a help to readers in following the progress of the war. It is compiled from official maps and other sources.
